Stan Katz Info

Posted by halfdollar - 2004/08/17 23:10

He's supposed to be the new Psychiatrist on the New Season of Starting Over, is what mydogkat said.

I was just watching CJ (celebrity Justice) and they said his name, thought it sounded familiar. He was on the witness stand today in LA in the Michael Jackson molestation case. He is the psychiatrist who worked with the boy who accused Michael of the 'act'. They showed him fighting reporters & such.

Do we really want a 'celebrity' doc? do we have a choice?

That's all, last news of the night...now gotta' go watch THE Show...2:06 am. :P

I wonder if they will keep him since NBC really doesn't like conflicts outside of the show. Any reason why they decided that they needed him in the first place. It should have been a woman. in my opinion.

I agree with mom and hugs mentioned it somewhere, I like the idea of a woman doctor. They can understand the mental and physical components of a woman themselves.

Where have I seen this doc before? He seems to be the consultant for a morning news program too, GMA on ABC, or the CBS doctor guy? I have seen him before. Hope he can be a help to the new ladies. Can't wait to see them in September!

Now lets give him a chance....

I like the male doc that talked to Erika

also the male doc that helped Hailey and Lynell

Don't forget we still have 2 female Life Coaches....so if it is something that they would rather deal with with a female they can speak with them....right? :)

I am sorry I couldn't finish my post at the time. What I wanted to say is that one of the women has an issue that Dr. Katz has addressed before. He will be very beneficial to all the women in many ways. The LC could have used some advice with issues that concerned Lori. I believe he will be extremely advantageous.

My response to your question halfdollar is NONNNNNNNNNNNNNNoooo :mad: :mad:
I know you think we should give him a chance2CENTS but why
:x When we started to watch this show it was about women and women issues handle in one house living together with two women coaches..
So a male doctor helped once maybe twice all season :blink: :blink: :unsure:
This is not like other shows where male and female problems are solved..
This was marketed as a "Female Drawing Show" Not males helping but all female cast!!!
For me I know it will not be the same nor will I be watching it as much, I have had too many MALE Dr. tell me "Oh is that right, and can you explain the pain or why?"
Hello do you know what it is like to have pain in your back because your breasts are to heavy???????????? :P or how is a male going to understand the fears of a women attacked or worse :mad: Not going to happen in a million years girls come on :mad: :blink: :unsure: :unsure: :(
Leave the show the way it was sold to us
WOMEN HELPING WOMEN TO START OVER :) :) :)
NO not upset just a touch pissed that every show has to involve men :mad:
We can and do have thousands and thousands of wonderful female psychologist :blink: Could the network not find ONE that would help the show out :mad:

Sorry girls but this is so upsetting to me :( :(
Hurt too many times by weaker sex with big heads and small brains :x :mad:

Hugs, I do agree with the fact that they could have found a female. But they must have some reason for this. Hopefully it will be explained.

I'm sticking my neck out here and if y'all chop it...so be it! :P

I only brought up seeing the doc, Katz, on TV cuz' I saw him. I don't believe this is the Forum to be discussing what he is doing on the MJ case. That is not why I brought it up! :ohmy:

I was thinking that if he is in such a HIGH PROFILE case such as that, maybe he won't have TIME to deal with our Houseguests! Furthermore, his position in the MJ case may somehow bring out attention to the Starting Over

---

House/Show which may or may not be favorable. I guess TIME will tell.

But definitely I DID NOT INTEND for ANY of the MJ case to be discussed HERE! Thanks again Y'all. :ohmy: :blink:
:unsure: :(

I really think the Post from mydogkat about testimony & such should be deleted from Dr. Stan Katz Post...it is definitely NOT what I intended. I am offended by it and am Sorry to anyone else who may be. Thank You. :unsure:

I'm married to a psychology and he deals with males and females. I think that the viewers are more women than men and we're used to seeing the L.C. as women and dealing with women and the issues that they have. Why does the show think that they need a male L.C. I guess we will have to wait and see what happen.

:) my 2CENTS...I believe the Show does need someone with more...'education', more 'experience', just more equipped to handle the deeper issues. When the 'deep' issues are obvious to us viewers, you know there's a prob. Like Susan, dealing w/her issues, sorta', but not really. I bet she would have liked a more educated professional & she may have opened up. And Josie, she couldn't see 'the forest for the trees'. She definitely needed someone to get 'inside' to be able to open her mind to see things differently and think of what's best for CHLOE & her well-being.

The Life Coaches can hel someone get to the milk but another kind of professional can let her see why she SHOULD drink it!

But, keep in mind, a psychologist & psychiatrist are different doctors, different education. Mydogkat what is Katz supposed to be?

Chat later...BB tonite! :ohmy: :blink: :P :P :laugh:

OK here is my two cents worth....

Having been thru something along the lines as Josie. I can say for me I didn't want to deal a man for no man's money. I think Rana and Rhonda did a great job. When it was beyond them they supplied the women with what is best. I like the show because it is women helping women not a man helping women.

I think that he should be in the background and not a regular use person on the show, I got into starting over because Rhonda was on was Montel Williams show. I was really impressed.

I will watch what I can with an open mind.

momof2:

it's okay to have your opinion and do accordingly.

This Dude, Katz, is supposed to be a "Consulting Psychologist" for The Show. Not a psychiatrist as I stated at the beginning. And to be a "consulting..." it sounds like they will go to him when things are 'too tough' for the LC's, ya' know. There ARE issues too deep for the LC's to deal with, don't you think? Like just using Katz for a reference type doc, ask him what he thinks.

He's going to be too busy w/MJ to be bothered with SO!

Peace Out Bandita! B)

Hi Girls

To everyone who has stated that the ladies in the house sometimes need at times a more educated, and better able specialist to handle deeper issues!!!

I agree 1000000000 %

What I just do not agree with is!!!!!!!

Why in all of LA or even USA could the producers not find a female doctor?

I at no time, or hope I did not come across as not wanting, or thinking, these women do not need a qualified, certified, psychologist & or psychiatrist!

I started watching this show because I thought the idea of an all-female show was so much better to help all women watching. To see how it truly feels to be living and growing with many of these daily problems.

JMO, not written in stone, written from the heart.

This is the press release:

"Stan J. Katz, Ph.D. - Dr. Stan J. Katz is set to go where no man has ever gone before - into the cast support system of a television series that has traditionally been dominated by women. With more than 25 years of clinical experience, Dr. Katz is a nationally recognized clinical and forensic psychologist with graduate degrees from Boston University and UCLA who has co-authored several self-help books about relationships and abuse. Dr. Katz will offer his clinical expertise on the issues facing the cast of STARTING OVER while providing an occasional dose of the male point of view as situations warrant. "

I am going to research what exactly a clinical and forensic psychologist is and does. I will get back to you on that later.

This thread is sure busy with Katz, for most of us not liking him in the first place. I'll give him a chance.

As far as I know, a psychologist can give advise and counsel, but doesn't prescribe medications, you need a psychiatrist for that.

What all did you find mydogkat?

hsmom, that is a perfect description.

I found a few web sites that explain exactly what the job entails:

I found a female that would fit the description of a clinical and forensic psychologist:

<http://www.drleporowski.com/>

Or:

<http://www.drgoodness.com/>

I wonder how much the producers researched other possibilities?

I think having a psychologist is a great idea. He can probably help out before the coaches cross the line between therapy and coaching. I think if he's good at what he does it doesn't matter if he is male or female. Since he is a consultant he probably won't be involved in the day to day issues of things. I really don't see this upsetting the all the female thing in the house.
