

---

Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Dogsomelet - 2005/05/18 07:36

---

Within the past 2 years I have seen Megg on House Hunters, listed on HGTV, and the new show Nanny 911 or Super Nanny. (I didn't realize they were two different shows) I was shocked after seeing her on House Hunters on the Nanny Show but floored seeing her show up on Starting Over. I am new to the show and it hit me like a ton of bricks when I tuned in. I believe if someone wants to do some digging they will see the same woman on all three shows.

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Payenanny - 2005/05/18 08:08

---

Hey Dogsomelet..Welcome to the site, .. that's really interesting info...I almost never miss the nanny shows and can't place Megg on any of them..did you see the episode?..Can you help me rememeber by giving me some details of the show...I am so interested...I have only seen the other show "house Hunters"a couple of times although I really like it.....I hope our roving reporters will come up with something....

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by honeyb - 2005/05/18 08:16

---

I think I have seen every spisode of Supernanny and Nanny 911, and I can't place Megg anywhere in my memories, but that happens a lot lately, was she a nanny or did she NEED a nanny? Don't recall seeing her on House Hunters either. Come on, give us some more info. or maybe we could call WROX News!!!!

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Halfdollar - 2005/05/18 08:22

---

DOGGONE IT!!!

I do not know as of yet any facts nor heard any other gossip but...

I get so irate when we find out these things to be TRUE! The fact that WE VIEWERS, can find out, recognize, know that these Women are from "somewhere else" other than the "everyday life" really gets me! I know if I had a Internationally Televised TV Show that I would CERTAINLY have employees doing the job of finding out "history" on each Woman who is a possible Houseguest on this show!!! And if it IS TRUE she has been on all these other TV shows, to let her go & give someone else a chance!

Amazing....

I am not saying "I told you so" about Megg but I have mentioned that she looks fake in the Group Sessions & her appearances on the show & I have never seen anyone's Panic Attacks appear as hers---not saying that it could not be so. JMHO what do the rest of you think about Miss Mixed-Up Megg???

(never liked her or her storyline, now she THINKS she likes women, too...gimme a break -- John Stossel's line!)

OK...

THANKS Dogsomelet!!!

(do u really fix an omelet for your dog???) :-)

Post edited by: Halfdollar, at: 2005/05/18 11:25

---

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by netty - 2005/05/18 08:26

---

Interesting indeed. I personally believe that every woman who has ever been on SO or any other reality show has some element somewhere that wants to be on tv. Even Sommer and Tess...all they did was openly admit their desire to use the exposure to advance their careers. I myself would love the opportunity of SO in my life if I could find a version without cameras. I can't stand myself on a home video. I don't think the desire for tv exposure should be used as a main judgement tool toward any of these women. Afterall, without those desires, there would be no SO and it has helped me a great deal to watch these women and be welcomed into their process.

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by dbmcmommy - 2005/05/18 11:29

---

I totally disagree that every single woman on starting Over has wanted to be on TV. My biggest example is Lori. She honestly needed help and they gave her the help she needed. Yes, she had to go on national TV to get that help but I have not seen her anywhere on TV to get more exposure.

Do you agree or am I way off base? Most of them maybe. Not all of them.

And I have not seen her on other shows. But I feel lucky to be able to watch as much TV as I do. I work too much!

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by harmony - 2005/05/18 12:01

---

I agree Dbmcmommy. My example is Jennifer from season 2, I truly think that her goal to be on the show, didn't have anything to do with wanting to be on TV. There were a lot of FANS encouraging her to try out for movies and TV shows, but ever since graduating, she has pretty much kept to herself.

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Dogsomelet - 2005/05/18 13:14

---

I can't recall the topic or problem that was on Super Nanny or Nanny911, when I saw it was her, it kinda turned me off after seeing her on House Hunters. It made me realize that it is a racket and not genuine so I kinda blew it off. But I do remember the House Hunters episode. (That was the first time I had seen her on TV) The family wanted a home closer to the husband's job and ended up with a home where they could have horses. I am bad with names but not faces and that is her!! I have tried to post on the SO forum boards but either they are not taking anymore members or I am doing something wrong, because I am getting the same reply over and over that my name has been used and I am unable to register. I have nothing to gain from posting this about her. I would like for someone to be able to do some sort of search on the different shows, hopefully with pictures and help me out with proof that Megg is using the house and air time for the wrong reasons!

No..I am not an Omelet cooker for my dogs. We have a Great Dane named Omelet. :lol:

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by flamingo - 2005/05/18 13:31

---

Don't you have to actually have children to be on "Supernanny" or "Nanny 911"? Did I miss something - I don't remember Megg talking about having any kids. I'm an avid watcher of "House Hunters" and, although I don't catch every show, there was something about Megg that looked very familiar when she joined the SO house. Hmmmmmm.....

---

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by honeyb - 2005/05/18 13:34

---

Sounds like you are having problems, dogsomelet!! about your not being able to post, you posted this topic, didn't you? When I was reading under Megg in the forum, under Houseguests, there was your post, big as life itself, right there!!!!

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by netty - 2005/05/18 13:56

---

You've misunderstood my post gals. I never said that every past guest was looking for a career in tv. What I said was that some element of them desired that facet. Before that gets taken wrong, there's nothing wrong with that either. When desperate for help, I still couldn't bring myself to doing it in front a camera...tv, family video, whatever. Which then would mean they just may be stronger than me, no? In fact, I defended that they have the opportunity to use the exposure should they choose to in promoting their careers. So long as they are there to receive help and are open to the process, who cares if they want a career in tv? I never cared that Tess wants to be a tv host....my concern was that was the only reason she was there.

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Halfdollar - 2005/05/18 14:50

---

GEEZ...

Remind me to stick to posting INFO only!

I get home & automatically check the INBOX! and I see 24! WHOA! I see The Sistas been TALKING!

Take it E-Z !!!

HD

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Dogsomelet - 2005/05/18 15:55

---

Yes, you do have to have kids to be on Nanny. She had kids and a husband, too! I am unable to post on the SO boards, came here to see if perhaps anyone else had seen her on Nanny or House Hunters. Folks have been saying her face looks familiar. There is no doubt that it was her!

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by netty - 2005/05/18 18:10

---

Gee...I hope my response didn't seem awful somehow! Meant only to point out that I wasn't trying to seem judgemental at all. Forgive me if I didn't say it well. Been having tough day and those are the days I shouldn't speak at all :laugh:

---

and try not to...ask my family today! :laugh:

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Dogsomelet - 2005/05/18 19:33

---

Paynenanny, you mentioned roving reporters in hopes that someone might check this out? After not being able to sign onto the Starting Over message board, I came here trying to find someone, able to post on that board, who would post the question on the board to see if someone else remembers seeing her on the Nanny show or House Hunters. Perhaps folks would have a light bulb moment. There are posts already on the board asking if her face looks familiar to anyone.

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by SoFan1 - 2005/05/18 19:51

---

HalfDollar (our raving reporter) Do you have any info on this.

I myself think its mistaken identity but lets put it in your capable hands!!!

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by Dogsomelet - 2005/05/18 20:09

---

SoFan, don't be too sure about mistaken idenity..I am awful with names but never forget a face. Megg is a plain Jane but there is something about her facial expressions and hair cut that made me remember her. Halfdollar, are you able to find past shows from House Hunters? (with pictures of the new home owners would be great)

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by harmony - 2005/05/20 18:21

---

Thanks Netty for clarifying your intention of you post. I understand now and I agree with your statement. It is a big decision to choose to take your issues and share them with TV viewers! I, myself, would have a hard time choosing to air things like that...so I now understand what you were trying to say. Thanks again!

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by kiwигirl - 2005/06/09 10:11

---

Hi - I'm new to this board so forgive me if I'm making mistakes. It's my first post. The Nanny 911 couple that appeared on both that show and House Hunters was the Sterneman Family and can be seen on the fox website (see couple 8). Sorry, but it's not Megg.

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by honeyb - 2005/06/09 10:33

---

:laugh: That may have been your first post: but, boy, was it a good one!! I didn't think Megg looked familiar, and I have seen and tivo'ed every episode of Nanny 911 and Supernanny, in hopes of helping my daughter with her children. Nope, Megg was not on them!! Subject rested!! ;) I bet not!!

---

=====

Re:Megg has been on other shows!

Posted by kiwigirl - 2005/06/09 10:41

---

:unsure: Oh dear, now I'm scared there's going to be a riot. It just pains me to hear Megg Berry being mistaken for a media hound and her intentions questioned needlessly. The picture's worth a thousand words on the Fox website. I hope it rests peacefully from here. :rolleyes: :laugh: please?

=====