I don't think anyone on this site has read anywhere as to why Rana didn't want to move to LA~~~but heard that's the reason she isn't on show this coming season. That's OK, they have Iyanla, who has written books & been on Oprah being a "Life Coach", I guess and the Dude Psych is there for the girls, also. Some of us think it should have been a woman Psych.

At least it will be back on~~~~shortly! B) :ohmy: :P :unsure:

Hey HD

Thanks for the info on that women I knew i had seen her somewhere. The life coach I use is Martha Beck and she is wonderful. She has a disabled child and has helped so much.

That's Cool, mom. I'm glad you have someone that can relate to you. It must be so terribly trying for you at times...you seem to be quite strong & accepting of all you have to deal with.

I read somewhere that Life Coaches are the "In" thing, & cheaper. I don'tg want to say much more out here on the board, PM you.

My Inbox on Yahoo gets to filled w/these mess that I like to ck around & see what I missed~~~those red markers aren't so accurate. Where were you b4 this? B)

I just realized something. Okay, I don't know anything about being blind.....I do need glasses to read. But, if a person is blind.....why would they need glasses. The girl in the picture of next season cast, with the white cane, is wearing glasses. Does this mean anything to anyone???

mydogkat:

People can be diagnosed "Legally Blind". She could see gray and black, like just figures to tell something is there or in her wa. I noticed. too, that she had a cane for blind people. We will have to wait to see what see can & cannot see. Nothing fishy there, I don't believe. Didn't she become blind after already beeing able to see and her stay is to help her deal with it?? :x :unsure:
