
Lynnell's update

Posted by hsmom - 2004/07/16 04:25

Lynnell sent out a mass email that said her website, lchain, will be open and ready by Friday. She said she saw Josie and Chloe, and they are doing fine! Chloe is 6 months old already! Rain wants to do motivational speaking, and she wants Hailey to design a logo. Hailey and Lynnell saw Susan last weekend.

She will sell a flipbook for 10$ that has shots from the house, family photos, and updates on her, Stage, Kevin, and Hailey."and much more". Don't know if that interests me, but I would like to see some of her crocheting.

Post edited by: hsmom, at: 2004/07/16 07:26

Re:Lynnell's update

Posted by Tara - 2004/07/16 04:59

I can't wait to see her new site. As of 8:00 am EST it not up...lol

Re:Lynnell's update

Posted by momof2gg24 - 2004/07/16 13:20

Well the site is up for lynell and hailey. It looks good the only I don't agree with is lynell listed kevins email. Hopefully everything goes ok. Haileys artwork is unbelievable.

Heather B)

Re:Lynnell's update

Posted by hsmom - 2004/07/16 13:55

You beat me to it! I was looking at the site when you posted! I agree, Kevin's email shouldn't be there. I hope people are kind and supportive if they choose to write him.

I like the artwork! I'm in no hurry, but she said her things go on sale beginning Monday.

Re:Lynnell's update

Posted by HUGS4U2 - 2004/07/16 20:25

Thanks for the news of Lynnell's site.

I did go and take a look it is great. Haileys art is great. Wish I could draw caricatures like she can. I would have a riot doing something like that.

I do paint and draw but only the abstract art.

I love to just let the brush/ paint, pencils and charcoal/chalk, do what they feel is right.

But I am no where near the level of Haileys drawings.

I would love to be able to buy one of the baby hat sets. I was so surprised by the other SO site when she was first showing them around to the stores.

Some were saying the scarf was a hazard????

Hello!!! how could it be a hazard, these sets are for infants. If a mother or who ever is putting the set on the baby then how could it be a hazard?

I would have loved to have a small enough scarf that covered the mouth and nose of my three children.

I was often worried about them breathing in the cold air when we went for walks, or just going out into the car. You can not find any winter scarves that are small/thin enough to cover just the small face.

I know I know! the choking thing. But when the wearer is so small they can not be moving around up and down to hook the scarf on anything.

Just me but if I get the chance I will buy a few sets and give them out to many of my friends and own children when they have more babies

Just my opinion
Hugs
:laugh:

Re:Lynnell's update

Posted by hsmom - 2004/08/20 16:38

Have you seen the site lately? She has pictures of all her crocheting for sale. So cute--the baby hat and scarf is going for $20. Is that pricey, for handmade? I don't know. I love the look of them.

Check out the new pictures. There is Susan in a tight t-shirt, and a recent one of Chloe. Lynell said in October Susan will spend time in California with her and Hailey.

Re:Lynnell's update

Posted by halfdollar - 2004/08/20 19:39

Lynnell & Hailey's Site:

Way Cool! B) :) :P

It seems like quite a few of the Houseguests are offered, maybe, to do a Website of one thing or another. I'm PROUD of Lynnell & Hailey for taking the opportunity that was offered to them, laid out for them. I pray Hailey takes the Blessing of Creativity that God gave her & uses it! Her jeans were Cool the way she & Lynnell hooked them up! :P :) I know a lot of her fans would be glad to own a pair of them, being made by Hailey and all. Unique & one of a kind.
:)

When I saw Lynnell's crocheting, I was in awe at how talented she really is, also. I hadn't seen the Ponchos around here until I saw them on her site! :ohmy: :) Of course, now I see them everywhere...we're a bit behind in the "Style" category in the Midwest! :ohmy: :P

OK, just pumping up their site & giving PROPS where PROPS are due! :laugh: :laugh:
