I sure hope they do not have his face on in the new house :mad: :mad:
He just gave me the willies :x and when he brought in those guys and they were all drinking and driving :mad: :mad: that put him in my looser book for all time....
I nevercould figure out why the show director would #1 even allow him on the property being drunk! #2 allow them to leave and drive away in that state :ohmy:
I my opion that did not show much leadership for a young lady in the house to be safe and find her way :(

So my vote no prayer is NO NOT THERE IN THE SUN :)

i wonder if that has something to do with them moving the show from chicago to la?
Any thoughts on that
I remember thinking why on earth would they allow someone drunk to leave their property :mad: :mad: :mad:
The production company could have been sued if they ahd hit someone and that person got hurt :blink:

To All:
About that jerks behavior & the fact he brought those dudes in the house in the first place! I did write these concerns on the SO Board, did not seem to matter to others or they did not read the post as written.

There were a few things that happened that I was infuriated about---on the part of the SHOW---that I felt they should not have either "showed" (like editted it) or should not have allowed! One being Friends/Family of HouseGuests being allowed UP IN THE BEDROOMS! I feel this is a private area for ANYONE, least of all these girls that have o already live 'openly.' You know what I mean? Having PJ's dad traipse around...jerks drunk friends, even to be around the baby like that!!!!

I think his should be Posted elsewhere but don't know where! There will always be things throughout life that we all may not agree with BUT...I feel this being a TV Show that is to BETTER the Women, show them a RIGHT PATH to choose then at least the ONES showing them should not be allowing "JUNK" to happen...y'all know what I mean, don't you???? :ohmy: :blink: :unsure: :ohmy: B)

:mad: How about when Jamal came from outside in the jacuzzi...wearing a towel wrapped around himself, whether HE HAD SHORTS ON OR NOT, it appeared that he DID NOT, & standing there talking to Susan, timid Susan about her 'collage/paper of her life'!!!! I thought that was disgusting to show that and even on the repeats they showed it again. Is this a way Producers have of 'keeping up w/the Joneses???'

Furthermore (!!! :))when they showed him laying in a bed, as if he were sleeping with Erika for the night!! I realize we are shwing things that happen everyday but although I don't think Jamal slept with Erika why give that impression???

You know the saying your Mama's have always said, "When under my roof you will do it my way!" :ohmy: :laugh:

Halfdollar,

I understand that you are ticked but that was last season and hopefully they are wiser now than before. :laugh:

We can only hope. :unsure:

I know when i watched the first time around that my impression wasn't that at all.

I remember seeing jamal with a bathing suit on in the jacuzzi.

I have a feeling that jamal is not disrespectful of the rules. He seemed like a caring young man unlike jonathan who didn't care what the rules are.

As for the bedroom issue. I know lori would ask before she brought family up. I think rules are different because the bedrooms were not off limits to the cameras. We saw alot of discussions go on in the bedrooms. One of the best yelling matches happened between nyanza andchristine(1) in the bedrooms. I think you learn alot about someone when you get to peek into their lives and that is what we did.

We got to peek.

That is true curly B) my kids would say to me alllllll the time

"WHAT ARE YA A COP" :mad: :mad:

My come back to them would always be

"There is no cop in the world who could just know what you are going to do!

Before ME!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Only a mother knows whats going on in your sweet little head :P "

:P :P They would get so mad at me :laugh: :laugh:

Years latter when they got too be in their twenty's they would laugh and talk about all the times I would sneak up on them somewhere just to make sure they were safe or not getting into trouble in the neighbourhood B)

Then behind my back they and their friends would call me every name in the book!

Now my children and even some of their friends have told me "They may have acted mad, but in a strange way they always felt safe just knowing I could pop up at anytime anywhere.

No one could have come between me and my cubs :mad: :mad:

Now it is between me and my cubs!! and their cubs :laugh: :laugh:
