
Single mom

Posted by yolanda - 2005/07/22 09:31

I am a young single mom and i wanted to give hats off to you cause You are making the efforts to become the best mother you can to your daughter and not a lot of mom could do that. I wish i had the courage to come on the show to confess am not the worlds greatest mom but i will give my best to give my daughter what she needs. :laugh: :lol:

=====

Re:Single mom

Posted by Halfdollar - 2005/07/22 09:50

yolanda - I am glad you found a SOGraduate that you could relate to in being a single mom yourself. I thought Josie got alot of unnecessary ragging from the other message board -- I do believe that Chloe did and still does get what she needs.

I think some single moms struggle with having so many challenges and no support. It can mean a world of difference to have a mother or dad or sisters or brothers around who can help you out a bit. Just someone taking you to a doctor's appt. for your child can mean alot. Some of us just don't have that.

Have you ever thought about emailing Josie at her addy? It is listed on TheLChain, as we cannot list email addresses here. If you let her know how you can relate to her it may make you feel better --- she may even write back.

I wish you & your child the best yolanda.....

=====