I agree. At first when I saw her before the re-runs here, I thought she was a cry baby and a phony, but today when I saw Josie and her bond together and Josie make a big step by touching someone and comforting her, I thought that was so touching to watch.

I think Cassie helped Josie the most as a possible out come as to what could have happened to her if she hadn't kept Chloe....

I too wasn't sure about Cassie when I first met her :unsure: :huh:

Goes to show you,you need to give people a chance...get to know them....we all have a story...why we act like we do....what our intentions are.

I ended up really liking Cassie and thought she was one of the most genuine house guests and had a sweet spirit.

She over came alot.
