I was wondering the same thing. I went to tvtime.com and found out that the producers felt she got too involved in the Josie situation. They decided to let her go because of it. I don't know if I like the new lady or not. I guess I'll have to wait and see.

How can they said she got too involved with Josie. Because she cried when Josie left the first time. That just show me that she cared about Josie and that what maded her a good LC. I must said that the new LC seem to be a very nice lady as well. Maybe it's because we are used to seeing Rana.

The producers got rid of her because of that! They must be out of their minds, that has to me the laimest thing I ever heard.....oh my!!! If she became involved it was because he has a heart and she is only human....what was she thinking!!! (sarcastically speaking) I guess the the producers are perfect, it must be nice. Well as soon as I find out who the baby's father is, I will say good bye to Starting Over, being shot in LA in that mansion.....what ever, I liked it the first time when the show was called the Beverly Hill Billies.

Okay then!! Your sure :mad: you sound so upset over a TV show :(
Maybe Rona is no longer on the show is because she and her mother have a company that helps others in Chicago?

This show was not her only life.. She and her mom have being life coaches for a long while..

I am upset, Starting Over is the only TV I watchI look foward to it so with out this show I would never watch TV. Rana is a big part of the show, in my eyes she is, it is nice to see someone on there who is real and not just showing up for the cameras. I understand that people change and they move on and I wish her ntohing but the best, but you have to admitt she is awesome, Ronda is ok but Rana.....can't explain it, she is just Rana. It would be nice to see if maybe she will make surprise visits every now and then.

I can see why they would feel that way. I think they wanted a certain professionalism. If you remember in the beginning they had a very emotional hands off policy. It may also be Rana didn't want to come back. Who knows. I loved rana so much more than Rhonda but I think Rhonda is trying harder this time around.
