
Just don't get it

Posted by camey0777 - 2005/08/30 12:45

Is it me or does tess just not get it. I know she had to leave the house. thank goodness. she is one messed up woman. The other one that get to me is megg... Is it me or does she seem rehearsed, fake.. it seems like she has to work to get those tears out. Seems so juvenile. Her problems feel made up. Is it just me or do others get bothered by her what seems to be made up problem. Is she looking to be discovered to. to write a book, to bring attention to herslef. So of these women I tihnk went on this show to gain something more than starting over... Maybe it's just me.... Donna

Meg kinda got on my nerves also. Sometimes I'd feel bad for her others times, she really did seem fake. Her & Tess bothered me the most with wondering if something was really wrong with them? Maybe it was just me? But, they are why I don't watch the reruns.

Is Fox still showing the end of season 2 reruns? I'm jealous, there are no reruns showing here in Austin... and they werent reruns to me! Thank goodness the WB is going to pick up season 3 down here. I believe its the first time SO will air anywhere in Austin for that matter.

I did get to see a little bit of Tess in the reruns before I moved down here, it was hard to tell from those couple episodes alone, but i say kudos to rhonda for trying!

The only way I can watch SO here (Ohio) is on Fox channels they show it 3 times a day. Once at 9:00 am, then at 12:00 pm, then at 3:00 pm. So if I miss an episode I can always catch it.

Tess always had the dumbfounded look when it comes to everything. It just seems too darn obvious that she is fake. You don't even need to to write it on her face, just the look in her eyes says it all! Megg, I'm somewhat empathetic with her because my mom does have panic attacks. I do think as we might find out (just watching reruns for the first time) that she has some underlying issues attributing to that.

No Donna, you were not imagining it -- Megg bothered me, too!

I thought she was a 'plant' on the show from somewhere, anywhere! Just didn't seem right! ha!

There was even 'talk' that she may have been in a commercial or on another reality show.... but I don't think that was ever proven.

Welcome to SOT!
