
What episode is showing in your area?

:rolleyes: I'm in Lancaster PA and right now they're just at the part where the ladies have arrived in Vegas, and Tess had been blabbing and confronting everyone the whole ride there. They got to the part where Rhonda was assuring the women this issue would be revisited. Oh my lord....was that woman the biggest challenge the house had....except maybe for DebORah. Oh my gosh....I really wonder how some people can be so oblivious to how other people are responding to them. Well the countdown is on for the new season to start...meanwhile as new msg. board member, I'd love to have some of the venting conversations I missed out on last year, when I was stuck reading the message boards on my cell phone internet feature. I could not reply or post, it drove me so crazy at time. I hope no one will get mad at me when I begin venting about houseguests with my warped sense of humor. I'm a very compassionate person, but occasionally even the best of us probably need to vent about someone who is bugging the heck out of us. Tess would definately qualify there...and as much as I like Meg, her crying always seemed sort of forced. I'm sure she was truly upset, but the facial expressions and sounds just didn't seem to jive with a true expression of emotion....so that bugged me a but too. So, I'm just trying to stimulate conversations I was not able to have before.....please don't bash me for venting ;) it's all in good fun. :blink: I just wonder how the reruns are showing in different parts of the country. For some odd reason, the episodes reruns showing jumped from just shortly before Sommer was kicked out to, Rachael's graduation day...they just skipped huge chunks. Did that happen in other places? I mean...why not jump in smaller increments, instead of huge chunks? Well, off to the clothes line for me....and back some time later this evening or tomorrow morning. Cheers to all. I'm still totally beside myself with glee, that I am finally able to post. Oh yeah....does anyone know where Doggiemom, and the other great spoiler gals are during the summer? That was my all time favorite section over at the SO site. Are there any other good sites where posters go for the summer, other than this one?

Later Ladies...Earthmomma

I flipped by the channel and saw Allison preparing for that date - first one in forever - Karen abruptly asked him at the door - "WHO ARE YOU???" then I think he said Tom!

How tacky and rude of her!

Then I remember that Allison talked bad/negatively about the Dude afterwards!!! Hey at least he went out with HER!

Very interesting....I thought it would be different it different places. Don't know why. Well I would have enjoyed seeing Sommer get the boot again too, but at least I got to see Tess get the boot again....(making a sobbing noise with each word that I speak) I'm wahaha so tiredwhahaha of nobodywawawa understanding herrwawaawaha. Then later in the confessional brushing her hair back while she stretches her mouth in every direction while she speaks "Well, (sign) it is what it is.". Okay there you have a sample of how bad I can be...I'm sorry I tried very hard to like her, but she was one scary, fake chick. whewwwie! Later ladies! - Earthmomma
