
Touching moment

Posted by mydogkat - 2005/09/19 14:02

I thought the moment on the top of the hill was very touching. Cheryl and Troy have so much of their hearts that they have guarded. There is so much to learn from all four of these couples. I am looking forward to seeing what will happen tomorrow.

I was crying at the end of the show.
I can't wait to watch their progress - I bet they will make the biggest breakthroughs

On top of the hill

it seems they were getting pretty deep already, although we know how editing can be and don't know for sure which exercise was first and that.

This couple MAY be in Love but they need ALOT of help just the same. I think there LOVE has alot to do with being CLOSE and being together for a Length of time that is not always going to make it "the Love of your Life" though!

It appeared up on the hill that Cheryl was keeping herself from kissing him although Iyanla kept telling her to ... when she hung her head down & cried. They prob don't kiss much.

I could relate to this Couple okay, next!

I can somewhat relate to this couple too. When they were talking about being too comfortable and living for their son. When you have kids you sometimes get so busy you forget to work on your marriage. I really hope to learn something from this couple that I can apply to my own life. I really felt for Troy. He really loves his wife and I can see alot of hurt in him. I hope they can make it work.

sometimes love is not enough.
I think there's big time dysfunction with them. It will be interesting to see if they make it.

I'm pulling for them!

I like this couple but, I kind of relate to all the couples. I am interested to see what is going to happen with this couple. They have both put their son first and almost as if forgot about each other? I hope they work out their differences. I guess we'll see.

they have been through a lot together.. and not nearly of it all good.. they have a lot to work through and to totally put behind themselves before they can begin to heal their marriage. I sure hope they can..

I like this couple also. I see Cheryl as being so hurt and angry. Troy seems to be really trying but Cheryl is very guarded and not ready to let those barriers down and trust (which can be very hard to do). You don't solve issues or get to a healthier place by circling them and holding on to all the anger, you just stay angry. I really hope they can work through their problems though.

I think the way Cheryl insults Troy is sad really. It's perhaps her way of making him feel beneath her. As for today with the pool exercise, I thought she was rather cold. She spoke little and even seemed to admonish him when he didn't take her direction as she expected him to. She said in voiceover that she considered the possibility of him falling in but noted that there would be no need for her to jump in. "He's a big boy; he had a life jacket on; he would've been fine". Ouch!

cheryl was made to feel not wanted by her family wanted a boy she verbally beats troy down to make him less than a man.

that's how I feel too...self importance to someone who doesn't truly find herself important

I agree with you Netty, She doesn't seem to have much respect for Troy I kinda feel sorry for him in a way? Hopefully they can get past this?

Why aren't the life coaches confronting Cheryl about the infidelity? I get the feeling that it wasn't a recent thing. They have been together for a long time. They were talking about Desert Storm. Wasn't that in the early 90's?

There must be something else going on with those two.

In my opinion that statement needs a slight correction.Troy seems to be most in love. Cheryl seems like a woman who has lost control and feels like she needs to save face. The whole fake crying thing is proof of that. She may have been crying out of hurt a little but I think most of her crying was because she's afraid Troy could tell her he's had enough and she won't be able to force him to take her back.
