Has anybody heard the rumor that Christine is going to be replacing Rana as a LC next season. I think this is really funny.

If Christine becomes a LC I will stop watching the show....for real this time! Christine and Andy were always my favorite but ever since Christine came back I notice a change in her, she not sweet anymore she seems cold. She seems too cold to be a LC! :ohmy:

Ding Dong, Christine is gone! :laugh: :laugh: :laugh: YAHOOO!

All right I'm sorry for that but she really has changed. What threw me was the way she talked to Hailey saying that she doesn't want to see her mother happy, how could she say that after like two days of being in that house. For her to come out and just accuse Hailey of that is poop!

I HOPE NOT!

I really like Rana why is she leaving? What are christine's qualifications anyway? I hope more then just being a past guest.

I bet the Christine thing is just a rumor. The thing about Rana leaving may also be a rumor too.

As for qualifications there really aren't many for being a life coach. Even if she got credentialed through ICF it's really not very complicated. All she really would have had to do is train under Rhonda's program.

I really like Rana why is she leaving?

I talked to a friend of mine who went to a casting call. She said that everyone she asked said that Rana was expected to return.

As for Christine, I used to love the woman but for a LC, she's become too judgmental. It's almost as if she's read a few pop psychology books and believes that's made her an expert. I'm sure her intentions are good but she lacks the sensitivity necessary to be an effective LC.

BTW, I'm new here. This is my first post!

I surely hope Rana comes back and Christine is NOT a LC. Christine's always been prone to "us vs. them" attitudes.... she'd rather take sides than understand a conflict, as I recall. No objectivity at all!

Christine as a LC?

That is kind of a funny rumor...and I don't mean funny-HaHa!
C came back to the SO house to support Cassie and if possible offer guidance to Lynell and Josie. Seems to me she did offer her support...but, without proper time to bond with this group, she quickly saw herself "in over her head". Then she left with Cassie.

I would be stunned if Rana wasn't back next season.

This has to be a joke about Christine. She couldn't be a LC no more than me. Thank God there are no men in the house it would be bad.....
