
FIRST Impression of Kacie & Simon

Posted by Halfdollar - 2005/09/19 17:23

When I first saw this Couple I thought they would make a great pair! But whether we love one another, in a relationship as a man & woman, we still have to be able to handle the known differences.

I heard that Kacie did once go along with the way Simon would like her to live, and dress! She did it, yet has changed that view, KNOWING she does NOT want Simon to take away the "self" of "herself!"

It seems just as Simon said outside where when he was with the other men, that they have grown apart and her ways have changed. So GLAD they are in the Starting Over House to deal with this before their love for each other does fade away!

From hearing Simon talk, it sounds like they do "know" Love and are Capable of getting back to it!

GOOD LUCK!

They are a beautiful couple and I have a really good feeling about them. You can tell they adore each other. It's in his eyes! She looks like she's been hurt somehow. I'm interested in how this works out.

I think they are a very cute couple. And I just adore Kacie and my heart goes out to her. She seems to really love Simon and he seems to really love her. I am interested to see how they develop through out the show.

I like them. I think he has a long ways to go in understanding her but they both are committed to eachother which is great.

i agree with you moms.

they have along way to go, I think Kacie has alot of unresolved issues to deal with.simeon, needs to open up more. I think he keeps alot inside. but I'm rooting for this couple, it would be just awful if they didn't make it, when you can see how much they care for one another.

I think Simon is going to be a tough nut to crack and I think Kacie has a bit of a drama queen side to her. We'll have to wait and see if they really even want to work on the marriage...I'm not so sure yet.

I am sticking behind this couple. Simon is a bit harsh, but I agree with him sometimes. Kacie sounds like a child to me, and she needs to mature. I wish the best for them.

You bring up an interesting point. I wonder in a sense if Kacie married a father-figure. He doesn't seem all that mature himself, but this could be a factor in their choice of mates. It does sound like they both have alot of growing to do before they can meet in the middle, but I hope they can.

Imo, Simon and Kacie have more chance of making it than any other couple there. They really do love one another. Yes, Simon has problems with communicating. But he has come a long way in that department. He has improved more than any other man there.
