Didn't Hailey look good when she came to visit Josie?! :laugh:
She looks like she lost ALOT of weight. :ohmy:

Yes, funny! :unsure: First try to get over seeing Lynnell all geeked up...rushing around, talking non-stop! :ohmy: (IMO, she is trying to stay young hanging with Hailey & younger women!) I see Hiley shoot in the door, "flippety-flip, will of a whip" (Sound of Music) and she looked thinner but geezz, what the heck???? :unsure: I got negavtive vibes from the whole visit...what the heck was Josie trying to prove to them...that she runs the house??? :unsure: WILD! :ohmy:

Yes, funny how we see things differently! :laugh:

I noticed Hailey's brown hairbut I had seen it already when she was hosting the Special Summer Series.That's why I hadn't commented on it.But she was definately alot thinner looking at her visit.

I too had a negative feeling when the first group came "barging" into the others home. :blink: :x

It had the same feel as the first Season when Cassie and Christine had their neighbors in for a visit.And wasn't it Hailey that complained about it??

They need to find a way to include all the women...one way or another.

Common courtesy.Also,Josie has been getting on my nerves alittle lately anyhow. ;)

i wonder when josie did the lip piercing too.

Because tehy went to that tattoo palor and jen got her nose pierced. Who knows. I sawi guess hailey and lynell being rude although lynell did introduce herself to everyone.

Did anyone perceive Lynnell to be giddy & trying to "stay young" sorta'?? :unsure: Like she wants to be with the "in-crowd"??? :ohmy: She is a trip & always has been...no wonder she didn't want to stay with the creep :ohmy: she was with...after hanging in ChiTown with the "young ladies"...

like John Stossel says, "give me a break!" :ohmy: :laugh: :unsure: :P

Yes, 2, common courtesy, I so agree. It looked so late, and they were drinking and carrying on, loudly, into the wee hours of the night. Just how it looked to me.

The first thing they should have done was to call if they were going to be late. Maybe they did, but we didn't see it.

Hi hi

In re-watching the show today I noticed the girls did come after supper but it could not have being that late, the other girls were playing cards in the house.

It may have being later int the evening but really :P
DO ANY OF THEM HAVE TOO GET UP FOR WORK IN THE MORNING :mad: NO

Maybe they were jealous that Josie had friends come for a visit!!!!!! and they did not :unsure:

Just a thought :laugh:

maybe the SOG's went down stairs to play cards to be out of the way when Josies friends came. Then when they finally showed up Josie never went and looked for them. Josie was watching for them and the others were not because they were not that excited to meet them. Just my take on the situation.

Filming was taking place during the summer. It stays ligjht until 8 p.m., It was dark when they came in and when they were at the pool. It was late. They were late for dinner, and took over the house. The new ladies didn't know them and must not have felt like they needed to meet them.

I agre they were late. Really late and that was rude of them to do that.
Lynell should have known better.

Remember how Lynnell, Hailey and Josie felt when the old houseguests came back, Christine and Cassie. It was almost just the same, the current houseguests felt like they had been invaded. You would think that they would remember how it felt....Lynnell, Hailey and Josie.
