Hi everyone

I am Heather and I am the moderator for the Introductions to this site.

I am a single mom of 2 little girls one of whom has medical issues. I go to school full time I am studying to get my nursing degree. I run a support group for parents of hydrocephalus children. I run a website to help out parents also. I live in Arizona.

Please also visit the chit chat section to fill in the Local section fo where you are from.

New from Texas

Posted by bboop41 - 2005/11/16 00:30

Hi! Guys!

B)

I am from a small town near Waco, Texas. I LOVE THIS SHOW! I recently started working night shift (I have worked days for many years). So, I am a newby to Starting Over. I have two daughters and a hubby. I am also a student at Tarleton State University getting my Bachelor's in Business Administration (then my Master's). I have gotten so much out of this show through watching the life coaches and learning from them. I'm even learning from the houseguests! I just found your site the other day! Have a great day!!

Well, welcome bboop41! I'm glad you found the site too! Stick around a while and you'll find we are good group! I love your enthusiasm about the show! I feel the same way. Take all the lessons you can get where you can get them right? If you have any troubles or questions, please be sure to private message one of the admins or moderators. They're all very helpful. I look forward to reading your posts and maybe we'll meet in chat one day. Please stop in there, but bear this in mind. When someone leaves chat, their name remains for five minutes, so you gotta kind of hang around a bit sometimes. Enjoy your SOT surfin' time!

:woohoo: Hello! I am new, nice to read your bio, I've been on another site for SO and enjoy that, but thought I might get more interested in visiting another! i had a good frien in FL, now out of touch whose son was born with Spina Bifida, and who also became a nurse! The last I heard he was eighteen and doing well! Best of Luck to you and yours! Chat.
