
Amys pregnant

Posted by asparagus - 2005/12/24 04:15

Today's Omaha World Herald announced that Sen. Harkin and his wife, Ruth, will be grandparents--that daughter Amy and her husband Steve are expecting. Cool!

I'd sent the article, but I don't know how to do that here.

I'm pretty sure that Amy was from season 1...

Congrats to her! I wonder if her hair is still bright red?

She was from season 1 (Rana was her coach)....I believe, the last I saw her (on TV) she was still that shocking bright red/pink with the hair. I remember the one expert asking her "how tied to the hair are you....it seems like your just asking for attention".....Her travel business is called Big Red so I assume she is still red. I think it is great that she and Steve are pregnant. I really liked him and their story when they were on the show.

That is such good news.

<http://www.redstravel.net> is Amy's web site. There is nothing on her web site yet about it but I would love to read the article about it, asparagus.

Awwww...how sweet! Congratulation's to Amy and Steve! :)
I liked them as a couple too, it appeared they were in it for the long haul. Thanks for posting that asparagus, and for the link dbmcmommy.

hmmm....wonder what color hair their baby will have??!!
Congrats to Red and Steve, they are a sweet couple.

Thanks for the link db, I just checked it out. We are planning a few days in Vegas around March, so this tip was very helpful and appreciated. :)

Here is the Article

Harkin, wife to be grandparents

DES MOINES - Sen. Tom Harkin and his wife, Ruth, are going to be grandparents for the first time, aides said.

The couple's older daughter, Amy, is expecting a baby in late March or early April.

Amy, 29, lives in California with her husband, Steve Goodrich.

Tom Harkin, 66, a Democrat, can consult with his Republican colleague, Sen. Charles Grassley, on the grandfather front. Grassley, 72, has nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

- AP

It was posted on Christmas Eve.....

I thought that this was old news. I heard of Amy being pregnant quite a while ago. I don't remember where I read it tho.

:) I think it is wonderful that Amy and Steve are having a baby. I have missed her helping with SO this season. I like to see the old housemates visit once in awhile.

New grandpa alert: If you are around Sen. Tom Harkin, be prepared for a photo onslaught. Harkin and his wife, Ruth, are new grandparents with the birth of McQuaid Goodrich, son of his daughter Amy Harkin and her husband, Steve Goodrich.

Mom, Dad and baby are at home in California. "I haven't been this excited since Amy and Jenny were born — I think I'm going to like being a grandpa," Harkin revealed. And if you're wondering, the baby is named after a favorite Harkin relative.

That is wonderful news. I know the original post was made months ago but does the original poster remember if a due date was given?
