
Megg's website

Posted by Martswife - 2005/12/26 14:34

Was looking at Megg's website which is updated. www.meggberry.com There she thanks www.womencomfortwomen.com. That site's Welcome says: "Welcome to Women Comfort Women! An Online Community Dedicated to the show Starting Over, Features include Daily Recaps, Scheduled Chat, Forums. This site offers support to everyday women issues, daily chat and forums."

Just curious if anyone knows anything about this site. I don't want to join it in order to find out if it's a site I want to be a member of. All I can tell is that it seems to support women who need it. Only 327 members. Would appreciate hearing what anyone else knows about the site. Thanks.

CarolB)

=====

Re:Megg's website

Posted by dsinmi - 2005/12/28 07:43

Hi Carol - Your websites are leading right back to this site when clicked on. Megg has been on the WCW site (chat room and posting); and now, Maureen (SO-1) is in communications to come into their chat room also. I subscribe to both; and, have found great friends and on-line buddies on both. Both Tara and Sweetpeach have done phenomenal jobs with their sites; I for one am truly appreciative of both their hardwork and efforts.

Donna:)

=====

Re:Megg's website

Posted by Mercredi - 2005/12/28 11:23

I've tried to register to that site without any success. :(

=====

Re:Megg's website

Posted by Mercredi - 2005/12/28 11:26

dsinmi wrote:

Hi Carol - Your websites are leading right back to this site when clicked on.

:laugh: :laugh: :laugh:

=====

Re:Megg's website

Posted by Martswife - 2005/12/28 13:48

dsinmi wrote:

Hi Carol - Your websites are leading right back to this site when clicked on. Megg has been on the WCW site (chat room and posting); and now, Maureen (SO-1) is in communications to come into their chat room also. I subscribe to both; and, have found great friends and on-line buddies on both. Both Tara and Sweetpeach have done phenomenal jobs with their sites; I for one am truly appreciative of both their hardwork and efforts.

Donna:)

Whoops! Obviously I did something wrong. I'll try to do better next time!

I appreciate your comments, Donna. Just wasn't sure if I wanted to be involved with another site. I might try it.

Carol

=====

Re:Megg\'s website

Posted by Tara - 2005/12/28 14:00

I wish I could help. I was blocked from the WCW site when it 1st opened.

Re:Megg\'s website

Posted by PeterJ - 2005/12/28 17:30

what worked for me, because I was curious being an IT person, was that I just typed the web address into my browser and it did open for me. I didn't register for the site but it did open. What I am saying is don't click on the link, type the address exactly as you see it into your browser and it should work.

Re:Megg\'s website

Posted by sad jane - 2005/12/28 18:25

i was able to sign up. why were you blocked tara?

Re:Megg\'s website

Posted by Tara - 2005/12/28 18:41

I can't even remember what their reasoning behind banning my account was. It seems as though somebody over there must have read this because my account isn't blocked any more.

By the way the reason the links are not working is because they need the "http://" in front of them to work.

Re:Megg\'s website

Posted by Jitterie - 2005/12/29 08:26

Martswife wrote:

Just curious if anyone knows anything about this site. I don't want to join it in order to find out if it's a site I want to be a member of. All I can tell is that it seems to support women who need it. Only 327 members. Would appreciate hearing what anyone else knows about the site. Thanks.

CarolB)

It's a wonderful site as well! Very much like this one, with fewer restrictions and nobody reads your private messages. Maybe because it's smaller, the members at WCW are a bit more of an open-arms sisterhood.

This site and the WCW site a great sources of information about the show and both are full of really great, supportive people!

In a world where there is so much meanness and hatred, it's great to have two "safe" websites where people can discuss SO and life issues.

Great job, SweetPeach and Tara!!!

Re:Megg\'s website

Posted by Martswife - 2005/12/29 12:37

Jitterie wrote:

It's a wonderful site as well! Very much like this one, with fewer restrictions and nobody reads your private messages. Maybe because it's smaller, the members at WCW are a bit more of an open-arms sisterhood.

This site and the WCW site a great sources of information about the show and both are full of really great, supportive people!

In a world where there is so much meanness and hatred, it's great to have two "safe" websites where people can discuss SO and life issues.

Great job, SweetPeach and Tara!!!

Thanks for your comments. I like being at "safe" websites as well.

=====