
I saw Rhonda on \"The O'Reilly Factor\"

Posted by SofanSan - 2004/07/02 18:26

For those of you that probably didn't believe that she was going to be on the show, well you were wrong cause she was there. But you really didn't miss much. She was only on for like five minutes. She talked about her tragic story of her dad killing her mom and then killing himself. Then she continued talking about her life and trying to kill herself and how she was able to overcome that and make something for herself. She really didn't talk about "Starting Over", (she had no time). She mention she is an author and has books to help people and that was it for Rhonda. Her interview was cut short cause of the time.

Well if you saw her great, but if you didn't like I said before, you didn't miss much. ;)

=====