
Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/02/05 09:06

I sure hope someone is pulling someone else's leg about this.

But I saw a post someone made that said a friend of Lisa's had posted somewhere else saying that she was sent home with the condition that she complete 3 things to be able to graduate. One was a dinner party, the other was find part time employment and they couldn't remember what the 3rd one was.

Said friend of Lisa alrighty mentioned she'd quit the job.. and supposedly on the second one...

Merely heresay.... I sure hope it is a joke... Maybe they feel like any little accomplishment is an accomplishment and you meet that person where they are. Maybe she really is so far beyond hope they don't want to publicly humiliate her anymore than she has already done to herself! Take her out of the glare of the cameras and see if she is ready to do the work or fall into her old ways... er, should I say 'same' ways?

I thought maybe someone was confusing the 3 goals that Lisa was supposed to have figured out a week or so ago with Rhonda. I sure hope that is the case.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by blowhorn - 2006/02/05 15:35

I am also hoping this is not true (although I wouldn't be suprised if it was). I also read somewhere that during the dinner party she has Rhonda and a camera crew burst in and throw her a suprise graduation. I think I will puke if this really does happen. Poor Rhonda. Poor Starting Over. I used to think highly of them both until the real purpose of the show disappeared.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by blowhorn - 2006/02/05 15:35

duplicate post edited by admin5

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/02/05 16:36

I saw that rumor too... and it totally sounds stupid! I doubt that happens! Maybe Lisa herself is generating some of these stupid rumors on the various forums.

If anything, I would think if Rhonda did show up with a crew...that it should be with a fake camera crew, plastic cameras, etc. and let Lisa think they were shooting for the show. Maybe checking Lisa out to see how much effort she put into hostessing the party. It would be interesting to see how Lisa acts without the cameras....

I remember her mom saying something in the phone conversation the other day that she really wanted to give Lisa some credit for sticking with it..and that Lisa must really want to change. Her mom told her that she thought Lisa would run 'screaming' from the house, and I think she said within a week! I thought that was comical. Mom knows Lisa better than any of us!

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by StephG - 2006/02/07 16:40

I think that is very stupid if they do that . I mean Lisa has made some progress alittle bit but she has been there so long and messed up so many times that it just makes it unfair to some of the houseguests in the past that have gotten kicked out with fewer or no chances .

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by GreenEyes - 2006/02/14 06:37

I've always felt that a person should get a second chance... It is very difficult for me to just say, "give up on Lisa."

Lisa was given more chances than anyone in the history of Starting Over, and it still hasn't helped her. I don't know what the answer for Lisa really is.

I do believe that once again, Lisa has taken advantage of the PEOPLE in her life. I also believe that she has blatantly disrespected the LifeCoaches... the HouseMates and the integrity of the Starting Over Program. She laughs at her antics.. and when caught, those fake tears are her only excuse.

I think that she just wanted the "celebrity status" But her claim to fame has shown the world that she is selfish and only thinks of herself. She does not deserve to graduate... she did nothing to deserve it. Give her a clown statue, if you must... for being the biggest joke on the show.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Parker - 2006/02/15 14:14

A clown statue:P , I completely agree.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/02 09:39

Not a rumor. She was to paint her room, throw the dinner party and get a job. She had the dinner party, and the crew returned to film it -- along with Rhonda. She painted her room fushia pink! Of course, she got a job, but is not working now. Worked a quick stint at the Intl. Boat Show in Miami. She's got a new 'nice' guy. Criminal Defense attorney!

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Moocah - 2006/03/02 10:06

Alleycrash: Are you friends with Lisa? Are you Lisa? Where did you gain this insight?

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/02 10:21

No, I'm not Lisa. She is a friend of about 6 years. What you see is what you get with her! She will show up again. I was not at her dinner party, but they 'downed the booze' to get over the cameras in their faces & Rhonda wasevil:evil:

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by flamingo - 2006/03/02 16:57

alleycrash wrote:

Not a rumor. She was to paint her room, throw the dinner party and get a job. She had the dinner party, and the crew returned to film it -- along with Rhonda. She painted her room fushia pink! Of course, she got a job, but is not working now. Worked a quick stint at the Intl. Boat Show in Miami. She's got a new 'nice' guy. Criminal Defense attorney! You know, I read this, shook my head, and then went back to the message board but I just had to return and talk about how ridiculous this is. "She was to paint her room"???!!! I don't really think that's the assignment she was given - I mean, what on earth would that prove? She was supposed to clean up her house (and her life). Having the dinner party and getting a job were her assignments as well. Somehow I just don't believe that Rhonda wouldn't check her out before flying herself and a film crew all the way to Florida for Loser Lisa unless she really had turned her life around. Rhonda evil? I just don't think that would describe her under any circumstances. Sorry, Alleycrash, but this story just doesn't sound real. If you really are a friend of Lisa, could you let us know why she never returned any of the phone calls from the housemates? Anyway, if I'm wrong I will apologize.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Parker - 2006/03/02 17:17

I will say it again. The producers are going to sugar coat it and find a way to make Lisa look good so she can have a graduation. They have invested too much time, resources and money for Lisa to fail. Painting her room is probably her contribution to decorating her house in her taste. She lives in Miami so she has to have some friends that she can invite to a party to talk nice about her. Any idiot can find a job and keep it for a month to fool someone.

I hope that she got some sense into her head and actually has done something good for her life. Unfortunately, she is probably on Mr. Internet's yacht getting a tan.))

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/02 17:25

I understand wondering why Rhonda would return to Fla. Trust me, she did to film the dinner party. Don't take this stuff so seriously...afterall, Lisa didn't! Even with all her time at the SO house, I'm not surprised in the least that she didn't return any phone calls of the housemates. THAT IS plain and simply....LISA! I have not asked her why, and don't intend to. Even tho Lisa is not the 'norm' of society, she is a lot of fun and interesting. Her life may not be real to most, but it is her life.

When I say Rhonda was evil, I mean that she was tough on Lisa and not so warm to her friends, but I don't think that will show on camera. Maybe I'm wrong. I guess in the end, what you see on reality TV is not necessarily reality. About a month or so after the dinner party, they flew her back to LA. We will see what happened?!?! No hard feelings here. Just thought I would share my tidbits for those Lisa followers.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by flamingo - 2006/03/02 17:48

Alleycrash - I certainly didn't mean to imply that your story wasn't true. It seemed more than a little weird that SO would go to all the trouble of going to see Lisa if she didn't fulfill her assignments (and we all know she has trouble with those). In a way I feel sorry for Lisa although pity is a feeling that most of us reject when it's aimed at us. She probably is a lot of fun, however, the point of being on SO is not to be the life of the party - it's to get your life going in the right direction. I think most of us are frustrated with Lisa because she simply didn't take the process seriously and she really needed to if she truly wants to change her life. So, maybe she really didn't want help and she had other motives that we can only guess at. Whatever happens to her I don't think any of us want her to be unhappy. If we really didn't care about her we wouldn't be writing all these posts, would we. I personally feel ripped off that she never cared about the people who watch the show. Anyway, as you said, Lisa is just Lisa and she'll live her life exactly the way she wants to.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by netty - 2006/03/02 22:30

Wasn't she supposed to take tennis lessons too?

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/03/02 22:36

Who knows...anymore. There are so many rumors and variation of rumors out there... Some of the supposed requirements sure seem rather lame... but maybe for Lisa... they are at least a step in the right direction. I could see maybe the 3 things that Lisa established as her goals... Cooking, tennis lessons and a part time job... (and the latter only after being prompted by Rhonda....
Just to see if she could fulfill her own goals... I have no clue how painting a room fits in with anything...

We know based on something Kelly said in the last couple days that she has been there at least 2 weeks already.. so we should be seeing some sort of tivo preview one of these days hopefully to tip us off as to when some sort of conclusion is reached.

I don't wish her ill will or anything... But I sincerely do not think she deserves to graduate.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Mystique - 2006/03/02 23:08

Well I agree with a couple of things said here.. the 3 tasks were lame and Lisa IS Lisa .. the same Lisa that walked in is the exact same Lisa that walked out.. thus showing there was no change. I agree with KPW, she doesn't deserve to graduate.. for soooooooooo many reasons.

Rhonda I know it's too late because it's all been said and done.. but flying out there to give her any more attention IMO is just a waste of your resources.. put that money into someone that earned it. Lisa you have a good life.. it will be what you make of it.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/03/03 01:31

Mystique wrote:

Lisa you have a good life.. it will be what you make of it.

And Mystique....you really hit it here!!

No, none of certainly wished her ill, but the frustration, irritation, disappointment, and then utter ridiculousness (borne from beating our heads against walls when she CHOSE not to really take the experience seriously and change her life) we've posted shows where we've gone with her in her journey vs. others who we had roller-coaster rides and differences of opinions with, but who WORKED!!!

If she's so happy with her life and continues to justify herself like she did toward the end of the show with the, "that's just who I am" speech.....then she needs to "own" that decision. SHE is the one who applied and wanted to get on the show to change her life and then chose not to on national t.v. We would rejoice with her if she truly honored her commitments....even babysteps. Yes, most of us hope that someday she does actually "get it" because WE know she's not living a happy and fulfilled life.

But we want to see women who WANT change and want to work so we can learn and grow with them. Hence the overwhelming negativity of any resources, t.v. time, etc. going back to someone who doesn't want it, respect it, etc.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Starting Over Talk Forum - Starting Over Talk

FireBoard Forum Component version: 1.0.4

Generated: 10 October, 2008, 20:04

Posted by Crone - 2006/03/03 08:27

Let me be clear--are you saying that we should not take the things that are said and done on SO seriously?

So you think that those in the cast--both HGs and coaches--are acting?

Wow, and I thought that they came to the SO house to change their real lives. Is their whole story made up? Just their reactions to the exercises and the other HGs? What they do after? What parts aren't serious or real?

It may be that some of the HGs can't take advantage of the opportunities for growth because they can't stop their hustle--of themselves--long enough to see how they are squandering the time that they have TO BE FUNNY or some other stupid motive to be cool.

SO, so sorry

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/03/03 08:55

Crone, I'm not sure about the gist of your statement. My thinking is that Lisa herself sabotaged herself... or was there for the wrong motives in the first place. In my mind she put forth very superficial effort... Not sure if you saw the beginning of the season and some of Lisa's antics...especially when given an assignment where she had to make some jewelry to sell. She was nasty to her housemates and several of them helped her anyway...

I don't fault SO on the fact that she slipped in to make a mockery of the process. They may really have believed she was sincere. Maybe she was.... But they edited it to the point that it was hard to find any sincerity emanating from Lisa in anything... At least we can be pretty confident that she sincerely DIDN't want to work! She even said as much on several occasions!

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Crone - 2006/03/03 09:02

No, no.. I was responding to the person who said, very condescendingly, that we should not take the show so seriously.

I do take it seriously and try to apply what I see to my own life. I certainly do not blame SO. That was a mistake that I saw after I posted it. The "SO" in the last line did not refer to the Starting Over House, but just an emphatic "so".

I'm sorry to confuse.

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/03/03 09:10

Sometimes it's hard to figure who someone is replying to if the posts are out of sequence. You can try using the quote button so that it might be more clear to the rest of us.

BTW, I agree with you! I think there are lessons to be learned from all the ladies.

Question for Alley...

Posted by OverStarting - 2006/03/04 02:29

Alley,

So, was the job just a one-time event, or did she quit after the first date?

Since you know Lisa, I'd love to hear your opinion on whether most of Lisa's tears in the S/O house were genuine. Thanks & I understand if you don't want to respond to that.

=====

Re:Question for Alley...

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/06 10:08

OverStarting wrote:

Alley,

So, was the job just a one-time event, or did she quit after the first date?

Since you know Lisa, I'd love to hear your opinion on whether most of Lisa's tears in the S/O house were genuine. Thanks & I understand if you don't want to respond to that.

Hello message people, Looks like I started a frenzy! I see on another board that people think I'm a man from New York. Where that came from I have no idea!

I was not invited to Lisa's dinner party, as I only see her once a year at an annual party that I throw. I've got a family which does not give me much time to play on South Beach. I would probably be first on the her list for a tupperware party! The boat show was a one time event/job. I think part of Lisa's tears were real...and part what she felt they wanted from her. Lisa has had a lot of unique and unusual experiences in her life, and I believe that part of her was hoping for more, and part hoping for a change. I don't believe that she ever planned to go to SO and not give it a try.

=====

Re:Question for Alley...

Posted by dbmcmommy - 2006/03/06 12:00

Alleycrash -- Thank you for your interesting posts. Whether it is true or not will more than likely come to light. I hope you don't feel offended if some members here are cynical as to if it is the truth or not. Either way I don't feel she should graduate but probably will. They did put a lot of time and energy into Lisa. It is hard to change your life after 40 years.

=====

Re:Question for Alley...

Posted by beatlefreak - 2006/03/06 13:32

I always thought the life-coaches missed the boat with Lisa. They gave her really stupid assignments. All that "selling" when she wasn't really interested in selling--at least not on the street or Tupperware. Why not an art gallery? Or something that would have met her needs more. They started off with those baby clothes and it was down hill from there.

In a way, I wouldn't blame her for not returning calls.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by moondreamer - 2006/03/14 15:57

alleycrash wrote:

No, I'm not Lisa. She is a friend of about 6 years. What you see is what you get with her! She will show up again. I was not at her dinner party, but they 'downed the booze' to get over the cameras in their faces & Rhonda wasevil:evil:

If you weren't there, how do you know what went on and how Rhonda was? If you have been friends with Lisa for 6 years, why weren't you invited to the party?

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by moondreamer - 2006/03/14 15:57

duplicate post edited by admin5

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Happyfan - 2006/03/14 22:45

Just to clear things up- the three tasks were 1) get a part time job 2) throw a dinner party 3) take tennis lessons. Unfortunately there wasn't a timeline on how long to keep the job!

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/15 05:43

If you weren't there, how do you know what went on and how Rhonda was? If you have been friends with Lisa for 6 years, why weren't you invited to the party?

My friend of 25+ years was at Lisa's dinner party. She introduced me to Lisa years back. Lisa and Tennis...now that is just plain laughable!:lol:

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by piper - 2006/03/15 12:26

netty wrote:

Wasn't she supposed to take tennis lessons too?

I had kept this episode on my DVR.

No, tennis lessons weren't part of her 'backbone building' exercises. They may have talked about it, but when it came down to the day of the RB, or the day after, before she left, she sat with Rhonda looking at her 'backbone'.

Now, of course, lisa may have chosen to 'misunderstand' AGAIN, and because she, at some time, talked about tennis lessons, has decided to go with this one. <GEEZE LOUISE> Can this woman do anything they ask?

1. She was to redo her condo, fix it up and clean it out. (I really don't think 'painting a room' qualifies, but as some have mentioned, they are trying to 'save face' with her.)

2. She was to throw a dinner party. (To show she learned something about cooking, I guess.)

3. She was to get a job. (A part time job, possibly, but only after Rhonda's coaxing.)

MaryBeth

From the friend of lisa's saying that she never got in touch with the other HGs, (even tho she finally called lisa yesterday, saying she didn't want to call until she had done something, my goodness, woman, (lisa), grow up!!!), it just reconfirms my picture of lisa. She's selfish, self-centered, self loving, and doesn't care a whit of what others want/feel/need from her, even her good friends!

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Starting Over Talk Forum - Starting Over Talk

FireBoard Forum Component version: 1.0.4

Generated: 10 October, 2008, 20:04

Posted by Nshvlijenn - 2006/03/15 13:07

It really sounds to me that "alleycrash" is Lisa!!! Honestly, I think she called Lisa2 when she got back from her rendezvous with Mr.I. It was posted that "she has a 'nice' man now-criminal defense attorney"??? THAT definately sounds like Lisa. Trying to impress with a label "criminal defense attorney". Whatever...I don't care-they will let her graduate. (Which I think is a JOKE) She deserves NOTHING. I am OVER Lisa and "her being her". Lets move on...we should NOT waste anymore of our time with her!!!!!!

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/15 14:04

This is getting more hysterical by the day! I am not Lisa, but a friend and fan. Its obvious she had an element of entertainment - these post are the proof!

Lisa lives in Miami, a market where the show is not even aired! So it is very easy to 'check out' when you don't even have to look at it! -- and thank goodness she doesn't have to re-live some of the ridiculous humiliation that Rhonda put her through! i.e. baby costume!?!?!)

FYI, her last name starts with N not M as I have seen on many posts - not that it really matters.

I'm outta here. Enjoy your boards, its been fun.
:)

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/03/15 14:04

duplicate, edited by admin4

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by looker - 2006/03/15 14:41

staying positive said:

"I PERSONALLY HAVE NO RIGHT TO PUBLICLY JUDGE ANOTHER SISTER:"
Really? Isn't that what YOU ARE doing in this post, about other posters?

"WOW..... IM SHOCKED HOW SOME PEOPLE GET SO ANGRY...AT SOMEONE THEY DONT EVEN KNOW.....AND FORGET THAT WE ONLY SEE A LITTLE PART OF THERE DAY.."
Judgement!

"I FEEL THE PREMIS OF THE SHOW SHOULD SET A STANDARD OF HAVING COMPASSION,AND GRACE WITH ONE ANOTHER...OUR SISTERS..NOT ACCUSING THINGS...SUCH AS LYING ABOUT BEING MOLESTED...OR ...SETTING UP
WEBSITES FOR SELF GAIN..OR DECIDING A PERSON IS WORTHLESS...WOW..."
This is only how YOU percieve how this should go!

"I THINK EVERYONE HAS A RIGHT TO THERE OWN BELIEFS...
Exactly! Then let us have our own right to speak how we see things.
Their is no right or wrong here. That is why it is called a "message board" to allow people to come on here and discuss their own feelings about the show, the hg's etc. Not everyone will EVER agree on the same things. This is America.....freedom of speech!

"DONT YOU THINK SHE MAY LOOK HERE...AND TO HEAR SO MANY ACCUSE

HER OF THINGS WITHOUT EVIDENCE...WOW"

Of course they do, but they also know going into a reality show, they are putting themselves out their to be judged by all. They signed on for this on there own. They know what they are getting themselves into. You don't want to be judged publicly...than don't go on a reality show!

Judgement goes both ways... for you to get upset (not to mention, SHOUT) at someone who doesn't agree with you, that is judgement. Pot calling kettle black. You should be able to respect EVERYONES opinions, and just agree to disagree. everyone has the right to their own opinion, as well as you. So let it go.

staying positive.....Is this you, Lisa?

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by sahm2b - 2006/04/01 22:35

Well it seems as though Alleycrash was right on the money...everything she said was true. I laughed my a$$ off when Rhonda was in the elevator at her condo. She turned and looked at the camera and said "Lisa better be home".....as if she would be totally pissed if she weren't...but Lisa definately did NOT know Rhonda was coming. It was funny watching Lisa wet herself when she answered the door to find Rhonda, and squirming when Rhonda went through her home, looking at all the mess. Typical excuses flowed form her mouth, "I was in a hurry", "no one sees this bathroom"..and so on.... She WAS getting ready for her dinner party, and was waiting on a couple more friends to arrive when Rhonda showed up. They did drink quite a bit, although I didn't see Rhonda being "evil" I saw Rhonda being Rhonda. She did paint her room fuscha, take tennis lessons, and told Rhonda she got a job. The next morning, they met with her parents. Her fathr claimed he tried to give Lisa money, but she refused it. (YEAH RIGHT DAD!) Rhonda asked them if they thought Lisa had changed and earned the right to graduate, both mommy and daddy chimed in at the same time with a big loud "YES"! Rhonda is now waiting for 3 references from friends that were NOT at the dinner party. Peachy...she's gonna graduate. UGH!:sick:

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KNC - 2006/04/06 13:51

I dont watch often, but didnt I see Rhonda show up at Lisa's with a camera crew last week.....for a dinner party?

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KNC - 2006/04/06 13:51

I dont watch often, but didnt I see Rhonda show up at Lisa's with a camera crew last week.....for a dinner party?

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by alleycrash - 2006/04/06 14:48

Sorry you missed it. She did go to Lisa's apt. and just happened to show up during her dinner party...of course it was all set up in advance.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by moondreamer - 2006/04/06 16:31

It's pathetic the way they try to convince us that things like Wrongda's visit was a surprise, especially with the lousy acting everyone does. I get offended because I feel they think of me and the rest of the viewers as being dumb as dirt.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Serena - 2006/04/06 20:46

moondreamer wrote:

It's pathetic the way they try to convince us that things like Wrongda's visit was a surprise, especially with the lousy acting everyone does. I get offended because I feel they think of me and the rest of the viewers as being dumb as dirt.

True dat!

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by LaurenB - 2006/04/06 21:21

This is reality TV, not reality! Cassie was and is a wrong side of the tracks Paris Hilton! This is not therapy it is entertainment. Sad, but true, it could have been so much more.

I believe this is exactly why Iyanla will not be continuing with this show.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Hooked - 2006/04/07 09:55

Last poster, LaurenB:

I think you mean Lisa, not Cassie! But yeah, I've made the Paris Hilton comparison. How do you begin to enlighten clueless narcissists?

Alleycrash-try not to look down your nose at people posting on these message boards. Most of us watch this reality show because it's not a typical reality show like "Survivor." (Sounds like you haven't really watched much) We watch it because we see it change people's lives in incredibly profound ways.

In fact, Lisa's sad story was the only "reality show" story on SO. That they let her graduate severely ruined the integrity of this program. Trust me, many of us are not entertained by Lisa. Personally, I look at Lisa and see myself as I was in junior high school. Including the baby-tee. At best, it's fascinating to watch a forty-year old meandering through life with so little to offer. Or, having all the potential and choosing to do nothing with it.

If you're wondering why people think you're Lisa, maybe it's because there's some subtle condescension in the words you choose.

As if Lisa wouldn't watch herself in all of her glory one way or another, even if SO doesn't air in Miami!

You also have implied that because we've invested minutes of our time posting on "our" message boards, that Lisa must be so utterly important to us. Really, I feel like posting because she was the most pathetic member of a program I've enjoyed since day one and am angry she wasted a space in that house of healing.

You seem to enjoy bringing info to "our" message board and causing a stir. Consider it "your" message board, and welcome. You're one of us. So get off the high horse.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Debby - 2006/04/07 13:23

I intend this to be my last post about Lisa. I hope to just put it behind me. But I have been wondering about something. Lisa said she went to college. Did she say she graduated from college? I think she did or inferred that she did. So, how did she manage to do all the things you must do in college in order to graduate, such as regularly attend class, focus on assignments and complete them, develop study habits, show up for exams and complete them, pay attention in class and not talk to others while teach is talking, etc.?

Does anyone actually know the name of the school? Was it in Miami? I'm just curious to know if she really graduated.

I find it even more odd that with a college degree she would end up working as a fitting room attendant.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/04/07 15:18

Debby, I've wondered the same thing.... But alot of people manage to skirt the system by cheating... or doing as little as possible.. Even that would have been more effort than she showed while at the SO house. I'm NOT saying that's how she got through college...but just a thought... I think someone said she studied international relations or something like that. I don't know how hard that major is.

There was someone who posted earlier in the season on this board or another that Lisa is still the same as she was in college... There used to be quite a black market for term papers. Many colleges now have software that can pick that stuff up and also plagiarism... Alot of colleges have an honor code as well. All those came about because of extensive cheating on college campuses.

Lisa seems to be bright enough... and when she puts her mind to it...probably could do quite well in a career.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Mystique - 2006/04/07 15:40

Debby, good question.. don't know if she finished or what courses she took but it's interesting that if she can finish a college course that she has it in her somewhere? lol I do not like her behavior in any way, but she isn't stupid.. kind of like she has the intelligence she doesn't choose to use and just has no common sense or sense of how she looks to the world. However, I wouldn't go as far as incinuating she probably cheated her way through college or anything like that. She isn't stupid she's shown she can use her brain when she wants to she just chooses not to a lot of times and act dumb because it's worked to get her what she wants.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by LadyBird - 2006/04/07 15:40

Perfectly said, and, I couldnt agree more about Lisa!! What a pathetic excuse for cheap t.v. entertainment. A "woman" (if you could call her that) named Lisa comes on the show, flunks, then laughs her way thru it,--when she isnt crying those damn crocodile tears--I do believe that she did ruin the integrity of the show as well as the other women that came to work and be serious about their lives. Why in the world she wasnt kicked out defies me. Why does SO even bother having rules if they themselves are NOT going to abide by them? I think they lost a lot of creditation when they pulled this with Lisa. Bad move on their part

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Mystique - 2006/04/07 15:44

LadyBird wrote:

Perfectly said, and, I couldnt agree more about Lisa!! What a pathetic excuse for cheap t.v. entertainment. A "woman" (if you could call her that) named Lisa comes on the show, flunks, then laughs her way thru it,--when she isnt crying those damn crocodile tears--I do believe that she did ruin the integrity of the show as well as the other women that came to work and be serious about their lives. Why in the world she wasnt kicked out defies me. Why does SO even bother having rules if they themselves are NOT going to abide by them? I think they lost a lot of creditation when they pulled this with Lisa. Bad move on their part

It's sad she sure did make a mockery of the show IMO as well. Chance after chance she squandered.. I couldn't believe they allowed her to graduate when she never earned it.. she never grew up she never changed at all in my eyes.. and she ended up getting rewarded for it.. wonder what message that sent to Lisa, oh boy.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by LadyBird - 2006/04/07 15:58

Looks like she is still getting "free rides", only this time it wasn't her parents or rich boyfriends, it was the SO coaches. How much more of a free ride can you get!:dry:

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Debby - 2006/04/10 11:43

I suppose the college degree story could be true. I'd just like to confirm it. I'm sure some of you professionals know all of the behind the scenes details. Any advice for me to locate her last name. I'm sure it exists on some website.

Don't post it here. I don't want to violate any rules.

Thanks.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Sistine - 2006/04/10 12:35

Debby wrote:

I Lisa said she went to college. Did she say she graduated from college? I think she did or inferred that she did. Does anyone actually know the name of the school? Was it in Miami? I'm just curious to know if she really graduated. I find it even more odd that with a college degree she would end up working as a fitting room attendant.

I remember her saying she graduated from Florida State.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Debby - 2006/04/10 12:51

Thanks Sistine.

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by momof2gg24 - 2006/04/10 13:18

I know of someone who had a master's degree in teaching and ended up working for Toys R Us as a cashier.. So it is possible because her degree she can't really apply to the real world.... I believe her degree is in Literature but I am not 100% on it

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/04/10 13:29

I thought I remember it being something like 'world cultures' or something like that. Maybe it was International Studies? I remember thinking that it could have been a real asset in the travel industry..

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by peace - 2006/04/10 13:31

I know a person who has a masters from Cambridge in English Lit and she works at an entry position at the Gap.

The reasons why are complex but I'll just say that she has low self esteem and this has prevented her from getting a position in her field and at the level she should be at given her age.

She's going to enter a PhD program soon, and after that I worry she'll go right back to the Gap.

Sometimes that is easier than believing in yourself, claiming your knowledge and power and becoming more than you are now. Sad. :(

=====

Re:Lisa N. rumor

Posted by Debby - 2006/04/10 13:57

Well, Lisa was accurate regarding her college education. She has an Associate Degree and a B.S., both in International Affairs. They were obtained in 1984 and 1987 respectively. And it is a matter of public record.

=====