Recap Writers

Netty, I noticed that not many people have been able to post recaps, which I totally understand because it is so time consuming. I would be willing to do some very abbreviated, short ones (after I watch the show) especially for the benefit of those without SO during the Olympics. It wouldn't be long and involved, but hopefully I could keep people up to date. I don't want to replace any writers who are already planning on doing recaps, so please let me know if/when you would like me to post. Thanks.

Thanks Eileen...the schedule seems to have gone haywire and we may have to start from scratch! You are welcome to submit whatever you like until I have a handle on the whole thing again! ;)

I would like to do a recap for tomorrow, but I am burnt out! Writing the recaps accurately takes hours, between writing and rewinding and writing and rewinding again. Hopefully someone else can do Friday's show?

LOL

Eileen I just wrote that in another thread...you'd burn out. It's ok...Friday is mine anyway honey! I got ya covered. Relax those fingers!
