
SO reruns AGAIN???

Posted by suzgrl - 2006/02/21 07:57

:angry:

What is going on with Fox and their nasty habit of bumping current house resident programming with old graduate reruns???. It is making me nuts! Jill is just about to satisfy her graduation requirements (by going on a date, getting a job, etc), and now we're back to Christy trying to get her pictures off the internet and Lisa getting her spine? What is up with these idiots and their programming decisions? Also, I don't see why Iyanla deciding to leave the show should cause it to go off the air. I have to say, I question how dedicated she is to providing this valuable service to women. There are surely other qualified life coaches to fill her shoes if she decides to leave, although I do like the insights she provides (when she is actually being a life coach and not a drama queen/actress).

=====

Re:SO reruns AGAIN???

Posted by Mystique - 2006/02/21 08:20

:.....: tiptoes in :.....: um.. I think the rerun was only for Monday due to it being a holiday.. the rest of the week has previews.

(anger.. scary) :ohmy:

=====

Re:SO reruns AGAIN???

Posted by suzgrl - 2006/02/21 08:24

You find anger scary?? Odd...

=====

Re:SO reruns AGAIN???

Posted by twinmomjen - 2006/02/21 10:00

I don't think it's up to Fox; it has to do with the distribution schedule of the series, which is controlled by the production company.

=====

Re:SO reruns AGAIN???

Posted by Mystique - 2006/02/21 10:01

Actually what I 'attempted' to do was answer a post that sounded e-mad to try and help with a question posed.... because it was only one day of reruns then back to regular scheduling, thought it might make you feel better. :)

P.S. no offense the last part was a joke (but sometimes anger is scary IMO) :ohmy:

P.S.S. you're welcome :P

:S

=====