
Zap 2 it previews April 3-7 new girl

Posted by SOFANEAST - 2006/03/17 13:29

Week of April 3-7 after Cassie leaves. Bethany will be the next houseguest.

April 3

Jodi discovers her weight has not changed since she entered the house; Lisa N. graduates from the house.

April 4

The new housemate arrives and discusses losing her daughter in a car accident; Christie is discouraged from getting any more plastic surgery done; Bethany shares photo albums of her daughter.

April 5

Lisa learns she will be taking swimming lessons; Iyanla leads a group discussion about aging; Bethany tells Rhonda she feels guilty for moving on; Kim gets drunk.

April 6

Christie meets with a plastic surgeon; Jodi works on a love letter to herself; Rhonda holds a group discussion about self-acceptance; Jodi must write down all her broken commitments.

April 7

Rhonda tells Kim she worries about her drinking; the Board of Review calls upon Christie and Jodi; Iyanla tells Lisa she is ready to graduate; the women throw out all the alcohol in the house.

I think they should throw out all the alcohol. Actually I don't think it should have been available in the SOH anyway. The women are there to face their issues NOT run from them or numb them with alcohol. It looks like Bethany will be a new girl. I am glad about that. I had heard it would be old housemates returning and there would not be any more new girls. I am looking forward to some new people. Thank you SOFANEAST for the spoiler!!:cheer:

WOW I can't believe I missed the part about Lisa graduating. UNBELIEVABLE!!!!!! I will be sure to miss THAT episode. I don't understand how they can justify letting her graduate. :evil:

Lisa1 graduating?:ohmy: They should cancel the show, then.

Why is Bethany Rhonda's client? Did Kelly graduate also? I am confused.:unsure:

Since Lisa N. was Rhonda's client and that space has only been temporary then Bethany would replace the full-time slot of Lisa N. I think I got that right.....but you're right.....it has been confusing with all the comings and goings!!

FINALLY.....get rid of the "numbing agents" (booze, that is) in the house!!! I mean really, this is NOT real life yet.....it SHOULD be a safe place for women confronting and healing!!!!

They are letting Old Lisa graduate because they think it will look like the life coaches knew what they were doing. But viewers know that they should have kicked Lisa out of the SO House a long time ago. Lisa couldn't (and WOULDN'T)hack the real process in the house and failed almost every single assignment, so they let her leave and gave her "work" to do on the outside, to justify "graduating" her later. I can't wait to hear what feats of personal growth she allegedly achieved on the outside, that none of us ever saw her do inside the house. What a phoney graduation this will be.

Actually, it is an episode I would love to see...to see exactly how they explain her progress...and what they do for her.... Since Rhonda said if she was succesful, her graduation would be like no other.... It could have really been tongue in cheek!

I mean who knows who is going to get the last laugh in! SO or Lisa?

Somehow I think something Jill mentioned sometime ago about Lisa, her and TJ out together and Lisa being in a bad mood that it could have meshed with this return visit for the guaduation. Because it was after TJ had left and sounded like Jill was out of the house...

I was just rereading the previews and it looks like that last day that Iyanla pronounces the other Lisa ready to graduate! So another new housemate is probably coming in on the heels of Cassie's replacement.

I assume that the new HG must be a new Bethany? If it's Bethany from SO 2 then I missed something.

Yes... I am positive you are right...that it is a new Bethany!

Btw, My oldest daughter's name is Bethany! It was an unusual name at the time.... (early /mid 80's) at least in my area... but I've heard it was popular in other areas for years... Now we know several! Still different than the typical top 10's....

KPW1956, I'm with you I've read the spoiler over and over and I believe it is Lisa 2 that Iyanla says is ready to graduate not Lisa 1.

The first day Monday) listed specifically says 'Lisa N'.... which is Lisa #1..... and Rhonda's 'client' 'graduates'.

Friday it said Iyanla pronounces Lisa ready to graduate. (or words to that effect.) Since Lisa 2 is Iyanla's client... I think her last name initial was A and think this is who Friday's 'clip' is about.

But it definitely can get confusing with the duplicate names... Now I keep seeing previews calling Christie, Christine and Christina... Sometimes all 3 between the different sources... I think even the shows blurb writers are confused. Maybe her real name is Christina... and they wanted to distinguish her apart from the other Christina.... I guess I'd want to distance myself from her too!

I think its pretty sad that all of "us" know that Lisa shouldnt and doesnt deserve to graduate. Why in the world they let her stay after not doing the work the very first time is beyone me. Why bother have rules if the life coaches arent going to abide by them!? I wonder how many other people besides me figure as soon as Lisa walked out the door she was either on the phone or emailing "internet guy"!?!? But no, lets just waste the views time and graduate her anyway. As far as I'm concerned Lisa did a big dis-service to the house and house mates by her actions and her ever so pathetic crocodile tears! I cant believe a woman in her 40's actually cries w/no tears and can turn in on and off like hot and cold water. OOOOOOH she makes me so mad!!!:angry: :angry: :angry:

I wonder why Rhonda is telling Kim she worries about her drinking (which we hardly every see) but when Allison was drinking like a fish (which they showed in every single episode) Rhonda didn't deal with that situation????

RE: Lisa graduating....I emailed comments to Starting Over telling them that if they graudate Lisa#1 then I am through with their fake program. She was the most obvious failure in the house and now they have the gall to graduate her???? Now I will see the program only for pure entertainment value if I even bother with it at all. I guess I will have to stick out the season just to see what other messes these life coaches can make. Rhonda as a life coach has really disappointed her clients....(Allison to me was so not ready to graduate either...too many issues that could not even be resolved in the house). Graduating both Allison and Lisa is like putting a bandaid on a an open oozing sore that obviously needs cleaning and stitches. Anyhoo.....Just my opinion.....

Rhonda really couldn't comment on Allison. She was Iyanla's client.

Lisa 1's graduation will certainly be a spectacle, but one I can't wait to see! After that show airs, I predict this message board will overload with thousands of excited messages. I don't believe for a minute that those Lisa critics will simply turn it off. No way, it's like a train wreck----an horrific sight, but you have to look.

Do you think it's solely the decision of the LC's to decide who goes, who stays, who graduates. I think the show's producers probably have most of the decision making. The LCs and Dr. Stan are too smart to do something so crazy as allow Lisa to graduate. I don't buy the argument, it's done to make he LCs appear to have known what they were doing. How does that make sense? Would allowing Lisa to leave and never come back make the LC look bad. No. But having Lisa return and graduate, that makes the LC look silly. Any other options? Maybe, it's just for humor and to get all the fans fired up. What else could it be?

My Bad. Then Iyanla failed her client just as Rhonda failed Lisa#1. I still come to the same conclusion that this show is not what it was in Season 1 and Season 2.

Well everything else Lisa did was fake. I guess she's gonna get a fake graduation to go with. I'm gonna try to think of it as accessorizing. :silly:

Oh this is so true. I was rooting for her to be kicked out for a long time. I have watched SO since the first season but more and more I think stick a fork in it cause it's done. Jodi and Kelly are there for no reason, move them on out. Christie is too depressed to work. Lisa #2 has been given very little help, her story was interesting. Kim needed a group that had a little compassion. Melinda was out to lunch, full of cliches and yet she's the one they felt sorry for. I love SO but not this way. Count the number of women on the first and second seasons and compare it to this year.

GAAAKKKKK! No. :blush: :blush: :blush: :blink: "Pageant Interview Suit" is definitely not my thing.

Did somebody say AP was leaving? Wonder who the replacement will be? I'm torn between Gwen Stefani (that would be fun) or the What Not To Wear ladies (who should get triple-time and a half for this gig). No - got it. The Queer Eye guys. They're in LA, right? This is perfect for them. I would love it!

I am so with you on Jodi and Kelly, I don't care too much for either of them and Lisa is a bore to me but she is a nice person. I really love Kim and feel for her, I think the housemates treat her poorly and lets see...Oh Christie I also agree with you she is really depressed and further more is just like her mother that she is so quick to judge and I love Cassie she has came along way. The first Lisa in my opinion should have been kicked ouy along long time ago.

Maybe they'll "design" a "half" trophy, a half-day at the spa reward, and half of a "tribute" (just Jill.)

Lisa only half a person. But SO cannot have a full-out failure.

But probably since they aren't being "re-newed" they don't really care anymore. (It's the only explanation that makes sense. This really looks bad for Iyanla, Dr. Stan and all the past "graduates" who really did do the work to make "changes.")

Will people ever really trust them with their own personal "Starting Over" campaign, not bloody likely!!!

Re:Zap 2 it previews April 3-7 new girl

Posted by valtina - 2006/03/29 10:20

But SO cannot have a full-out failure.

That's what I think too. It's more about the life coaches and Dr. Stan not acknowledging their own failures - failure to help Lisa, failure to recognize that she was manipulating them long before they did, failure to kick her out so as not to compromise the process for other women in the house. They blew it with Lisa and rather than acknowledge their own errors with her, it seems like they are going to pretend that any of her accomplishments after she left the house were part of the "master plan" and then graduate her. I don't expect much of anything to stick with her long term, so they did her no favors.
