One of the women are returning?

Ok I am lost, today on the show they said that one of the women who didn't finish her business is coming back to finish. Then they showed Kim(season2), Deborah, Tess, and Sommer. But I thought Kim graduated. But I wonder who is coming back, has anyone heard anything about this?

Read the spoiler thread "the week we have all been waiting for". It's the previews of April 24-27th...

There was rumor earlier in the season (at least a couple months ago) that someone from SO2 would be back..

I don't know why they would have SO2's Kim in that preview unless it related to the conflict she had with Sommer..

Sommer is the one who comes back... I'm glad that she is having an opportunity to redeem herself and that SO 2 has an opportunity to redeem itself as well.

Explanation about why she was forced to leave were a little short in my opinion. We all were left to wonder about the so called break in... and I recall the show implied that everything would get explained later... But it never did, to my knowledge.

The last show of the season is suppose to show several of the past houseguests. Some of the current cast are going to be running a marathon. At the end of the race they are greeted by a group of past ladies. I have a feeling it is the last SO ever. Sad!

I have a feeling you're right... I heard something to that affect too.

On another note, I heard that Sommer is in the house for the last 5 weeks of the season. She isn't even coming onto the show till late April. I think they will have to start picking up the pace if the show wraps up around the usual time..

Even though (from the spoilers) we're not supposed to hear from Sommer until later, didn't that blip today make you feel that she's (or rather, a previous HG) the next HG? I CAN'T stand when they do that! Maybe they think they'll attract more viewers... What are your thoughts (Or anyone else's for that matter)? Please let me know!

Well...I'm "of two minds"....do enjoy seeing past HGs... would rather see a "newbie".....but it really does feel as though they're only "killing time."
Having said that...I liked Sommer and would like to find out what...really...happened.:laugh:

OMG-- Sommer's a size 6? With all the food in the house, is Sommer going to ask Rhonda's help, and make the hms clean out the cupboards and fridge, and leave the empties outside?:evil: :woohoo:

Yes, but I thought unfairly...and nothing was ever elaborated on about why and what she did. Alot was eluded to and then there was the mysterious break in...that seemed fabricated...

Maybe SO wants to make amends to her in a public way. She seemed to be doing well. Thanks for the link back to the site. I'd forgotten that was there... Usually those who've left under not so nice conditions haven't even been a part of the Where are they Now... That site is owned by the show (or so it was my thought) and you would have thought they wouldn't want her a part of their site if they really believe she was there for the wrong reasons. It's clear they at least leave it up to the hg's if they want to be included. So many choose not to be included even after successful stints on the show. Rachel and Candy come to mind! (from so2)

I read Sommer's bio. It seems as if she is doing quite well. Sounds as if she is happy and doing the things she enjoys. So why does she need to come back to SOH?

She seems to be quite popular on the boards but I don't get it. She and Tess are my two least favorite hg. In my opinion Sommer was always stubborn and arrogant. I hope she's changed. Her bio sounds like she still blames SO for kicking her out. Here we go again. Wonder if she still remains friends with the film crew?

I agree with everything you posted. I don't understand the need for her to come back as a regular houseguest since she stated on her website that she was doing GREAT and was wrongfully asked to leave.

Well maybe it's like the Lisa I situation. SO wants to drag everyone they can down the graduation isle, no matter how they protest and don't deserve it.

I do hope Sommer isn't another fiasco. I am curious about the wight issue though. You know when she was in the SOH before, the nutritionist kept telling Sommer, NO junk food for gastic bypass patients. Sommer ignored it and kept munching down and even was gaining weight. But she ignored it. She didn't seem to care at all about her health. So now she's really small. I wonder what she's doing different. I guess we shall see.

I wish somebody would get Kelly out of the kitchen with her bacon fetish. That women loves some bacon. Let's hope it's low fat or turkey or soy bean bacon or something like that.

I really liked Sommer, the reason they asked her to leave was because she was friendly with the camera crew and got a warning or two. But being the break in was brought up it has made me wonder too. I forgot about that and now I would like to know whatever happened. Yesterday's thing for todays show showed she would be coming on today's show and she was not on todays show. Well i guess we'll have to wait maybe tomorrow.

I was wondering a while ago if I should post this...but since it's the spoiler section anyway.....

If you go look at the next couple week previews you can see who is coming and when.

Sommer comes the last week of April.. The thread for that weeks preview is titled "The week we have all been waiting for". There are 2 other hg's to come in before her yet...

The show's preview dramatic teaser doesn't say when.... That will keep people who don't like spoiler's watching!

I don't know why people don't like spoilers. I LOVE them!:P

Yeah, Antonia and Niambi (sp?) enter the house before Sommer. I think Sommer and Cassie (AGAIN!!!!!!:angry: ) will take Kim and Christie's places.

I didn't see Christie graduating... I think it's Kelly... Kelly graduates before Kim... but I don't think Christie is probably too far behind. It's obvious they are starting to get Christie in 'career' mode.

Yes, you're right Kelly is the one graduating not Christie. Do you think Jodi, Niambi, Antonia, Sommer and Christie will graduate next month? Wow, talking about rushing things!

I don't think Christie has what it takes to be model. First day of shooting she was already frustrated/aggravated with the photographer. She contemplated going that path but after yesterday (and that big hairdoo :laugh: ) she probably changed her mind.

Kelly is graduating!? Without ever getting to the root of her obvious anger problem - what Dr. Stan called lashing out at everyone ? Without ever going beyond the single comment by the therapist that allegedly caused Kelly's entire touching issue? Sheesh, that's quick! She must turn all the way into Mother Theresa or something in the next few episodes.

I can't recall exactly what happened either, but I just remember that when the "break-in" incident occurred, I was already so annoyed with Sommer that I thought, I have had it. I remember that when she and her cohort were questioned by the LC, they were such bad liars that it was pathetic. I don't know if they were lying or not but it looked like they were.

I do remember thinking that as much as I thought Sommer should go, I also thought that the camera person involved should be fired. It takes two to have a conversation. If the film crew were told to zip it up with her, that's what they should have done.

Don't know if they rehash that history upon her return, but I'm sure some of the hard core posters can summarize what exactly happened. Someone may have it on tape.

I do have it on tape. Sommer and Renee were talking at the table. They WERE NOT talking about the break in. They thought they would be in trouble for talking to some guys down the hill. The producers created the drama of the break in. The break in never actually occurred, pure publicity act. Sommer did talk to the crew more than she should of and did ask the crew about some of the behind the scenes tasks. I am grateful to the producers for giving Sommer a second chance.

Go Sommer!!!

How do you know the entire thing was a publicity stunt? I'm not saying someone broke into the house but that one or more persons were in a room or area during the night they were not supposed to be. Whose voices were coming from that room in the middle of the night?

Whatever the violation was, the LCs seemed to take it quite seriously; more seriously that alcohol in the house even. Oh well, maybe we'll get the real scoop later.

In my mind there were a lot of discrepancies of what happened that night.

Someone claimed the burglar alarm went off...and a staff person woke everyone up and herded them all into a production office presumably for their own safety... It was then that they were quizzed about who saw what while in there... Nothing ever really came of that breakin...but I think there were suspicions. You'd have thought that with that many people in the house and cameras all over the place that they'd be able to track down what really happened.

This apparently was on the same night that Renee and Sommer had been partying out in the yard and yelling down to another so called party. (another good reason to get the booze out of the house!) (the house was on a hillside..)

I could never connect the dots to so many different takes on the situation. You would have thought if the production person took all the women in there, they could have held each accountable... Rather stupid to put them in that office as opposed to getting them outside or locking them in a bathroom until danger had passed... Those bedrooms had good sized closets..

I thought I recall a laptop being taken. But then it could have been the work of a couple unethical SO staff people..

I think it might have been that the show made some assumptions and concluded that Sommer was there with the wrong motives. I was definitely relating to a lot of her self consciousness in her own skin... I do think some extra drama was created ...

They played it up for weeks about the breakin...(we knew because of the spoilers..) but then during the Christmas break you were told you'd find out what happened... and nothing much came out of it... Then those on the old board were told that when the SO2 season ended, the truth would be revealed. Only that never happened either. There was just a lot of innuendo... and Sommer's implied misconduct.

Go Sommer!!!

The break in really occurred, according to information Rhonda gave a poster on the original SOMB. Supposedly, there were two break ins. And, during one, two laptops were taken. But, Rhonda also told the poster that the break in would be explained on a future episode. Right before Season II wrapped up, I thought. But, maybe during Sommer's second stay?

There were also rumors floating that when they were in the production office that personal files were compromised .. notes the LC's take etc. and that the LC's were very upset about it.
