
What's up with Karen

Posted by irishmic - 2004/06/03 07:13

After she graduated, you never heard anything about her. What happened to her! ;)

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by momof2gg24 - 2004/06/21 19:12

Hi ,

I know she is supposed to have a website up but so far it isn't there. I think PJ said she sees her all the time now that they live in Chicago. Who knows but I also do wonder.

Heather B)

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by HUGS4U2 - 2004/06/21 20:47

Okay I know I am going to get boooooos from you but for the life of me I can not even remember Karen :(

The more I try and remember all the ladies and why they were there, the more confused I am

Help me out okay :unsure:

Thanks

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by hsmom - 2004/06/22 08:06

hi hugs,

Karen was the one who sewed clothes for the "adult" movies. Remember her thong party! She had all of the ladies design their own, with sequins, beads, whatever. PJ and Jennifer had fun! Karen wanted to move on from the adult industry. At one point she wanted to design headboards. She was fun and I liked her attitude.

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by HUGS4U2 - 2004/06/22 10:53

Hi

I can not believe I forgot her :blink: I feel so silly now.

I loved her when she was on. Right from the start I loved how she took no bull from anyone of the other ladies.

I do remember now how she stood up to Ronda and while she was made to feel she was in the wrong, she still overcame that and moved on with her goal.

With her I feel Ronda lost a lot of respect from fellow viewers.

I know I did not look or really listen to her after that. She even changed after that encounter in the one on one room.

Karen came in so hard and cold looking. You could tell she had had a rough life and understand why she was so strong willed.

She had to be in order to support her family. With no formal education and a young family to raise she did what she had to to maintain a roof over their heads and food each day.

I loved the dress she made for the meal with the Knights, Amy looked far better than most ladies there.

Thanks for the reminder B) I still can not believe I forgot her and needed a reminder to bring her back.

:laugh:

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by Clicker - 2004/07/08 22:20

I had such a different view than you in the one on one room with Rhonda. That scene really affected me. I even saved it on my TiVo and showed my husband. It was almost too uncomfortable to watch! I was going through something similar the same time with an employee of mine. She was acting so disrespectful and sarcastic. I thought Rhonda handled it magnificently! Karen changed, for the better, after that incident when she was called back in to discuss it.

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/03/31 23:00

:woohoo: I knew if I dug deep enough in the season 1 old pages I would find one for Karen so instead of starting a new thread, my gosh there are TONS of multiples, I took alot of time and found this one....:woohoo:

Anyway, anybody have any info on Karen? I just absolutely loved her dearly, I thought she was one of the truest starting over houseguests there have been and truly took advantage of what the house had to offer her and I hope that she is living her dreams. If anyone has any info on her I would love to hear it..she was/is my favorite houseguest and so far hasn't been topped. ;) Thanks!

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by startingoverfan - 2006/04/01 07:27

oh ok now i'm going to be the person that forgot karen. cause i don't remember her.

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by Parker - 2006/04/01 12:33

She was the southern lady who used to make costumes for strippers. She got a job working on movie sets before she graduated.

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by snowwhite7676 - 2006/04/19 08:48

there is something about karen from the house just go to www.google.com and type in karen from staring over show season 1:laugh:

=====

Re:What's up with Karen

Posted by Debby - 2006/04/19 11:07

Clicker wrote:

I had such a different view than you in the one on one room with Rhonda. That scene really affected me. I even saved it on my TiVo and showed my husband. It was almost too uncomfortable to watch! I was going through something similar the same time with an employee of mine. She was acting so disrespectful and sarcastic. I thought Rhonda handled it magnificently! Karen changed, for the better, after that incident when she was called back in to discuss it.

Okay, I wasn't watching SO then. What one on one are you describing regarding Rhonda??

