I found the "Dare to Change" link on Rhondas website. It was on Jan 9th and it sounds like it went well.

Well, I heard that the last day of taping in the house was on the 23rd... So I guess they'll be having some more time in the house. I thought the race was going to tie into the finale..

I still heard something about alot of the women being invited back at the end of the season. Now I'm not sure if it was regarding the race itself or an actual season / series finale. Or if the rumor was true.

I guess at that point...For all intent and purposes... it is the end of the season even though a couple weeks of taping and wrapping up storylines exist.

To my knowledge, the race hasn't shown up on any of the previews yet and those are onlythrough mid May. I thought the show would finish up before the end of May like it did last year. They sure have alot of catch up to do to wrap things up... Especially with Anotonia and Niambi.

Jen ... can you provide a link? I'd love to see it!

Thanks! :silly:

I found the link...

I do recall something similar being on this website.. for those in the L.A. area. Of course most of us aren't though!
