

---

Another bad makeover

Posted by turtle - 2006/05/12 17:08

---

Andy coildn't have given Jodi a more unflattering "makeover" if she tried. She looked like a cross dresser, with all that makeup and straightened hair. And, the outfit sucked. The skirt was so tight, her ass hiked it up above her knees in back. The top, with its short sleeves, made Jodi's arms look flabbier than ever.

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by valtina - 2006/05/12 17:13

---

In the dead of night, when everyone was asleep and no one was watching, Andy Paige's eyebrows climbed down off of her head and, looking both ways before they crossed the street, made their way into the SO House and onto Jodi's face!

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by mazzy - 2006/05/12 21:27

---

You're a riot Alice. LOL

The top was stylish -- I would have liked it better with a great pair of tailored/dressy black capri pants, and really great shoes.

The eyebrows did look familiar. LOL

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by fabkroert - 2006/05/12 21:35

---

Jodi is as sweet as the ice cream I had earlier today, but the honest truth of the matter is....no amount of makeup, hair styling, outfits, and weight loss could ever make that woman physically attractive to the masses.

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/12 21:36

---

valtina wrote:

In the dead of night, when everyone was asleep and no one was watching, Andy Paige's eyebrows climbed down off of her head and, looking both ways before they crossed the street, made their way into the SO House and onto Jodi's face!

LOL! too funny! Those eyebrows did stick out noticeably. It looked like Andy tried to clone herself on Jodi's face!!! :S

Didn't care for the outfit either. She looked a bit softer but the makeover could have been a lot better. No more Andy clones please!!!

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by CoralRiver 5 - 2006/05/13 04:23

---

:laugh: @ the posts...lol. Too, too, funny.

Yanno, I think they really need to explore other stylists. I know she's Rhonda's friend and all, but there are times where she just doesn't cut it.

---

The way the women get excited, when they announce her, when she comes to do a makeover, as if she is the "end all, and be all," of style and fashion, is disturbing.

At times, not always, it seems as though she's become a legend in her own mind.

~CR5~

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/13 04:39

CoralRiver 5 wrote:

:laugh: @ the posts...lol. Too, too, funny.

Yanno, I think they really need to explore other stylists. I know she's Rhonda's friend and all, but there are times where she just doesn't cut it.

The way the women get excited, when they announce her, when she comes to do a makeover, as if she is the "end all, and be all," of style and fashion, is disturbing.

At times, not always, it seems as though she's become a legend in her own mind.

~CR5~

Jodi was more excited at the thought of the makeover than when it was actually done, she even stated she didn't care for the top lol

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by CoralRiver 5 - 2006/05/13 05:20

Jodi was more excited at the thought of the makeover than when it was actually done, she even stated she didn't care for the top lol

:laugh: !!!!

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by judy - 2006/05/13 07:32

There are ways to dress a larger woman to make her sexy and this was not one of them. That top with the little cap sleeves was horrible, and the skirt just did not fit right. Jodi is too petite. She should have had something that did not accenuate her waist like this piece of crap did.

The hair was just OK, nothing wow about it. But Andys makeup made Jodi look like a clown. All she needed were two red circles on her cheeks to complete that effect. Jodi has a very manly face and needed much softer makeup.

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by MEW - 2006/05/13 09:14

I thought total different!! I thought Jodi looked much better! She didn't look as "rough" as she did when she first arrived!

To bad they didn't help her mother out. That would have been nice for them both.

---

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by honeyspur - 2006/05/13 10:26

---

Me too - I thought she looked great.

---

Jodi\'s mom attending grad

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/13 16:02

---

MEW writes:

To bad they didn't help her mother out. That would have been nice for them both.

Speaking of mothers.. we discussed before about husbands/mothers/fathers not being at the graduation, so I wonder why Jodi's mom was allowed to attend where no one else's were? I had thought Jill's father might have shown up for her graduation, or TJ's husband for hers etc.

---

Re:Jodi\'s mom attending grad

Posted by mazzy - 2006/05/13 17:51

---

My guess is that SO was willing to pay travel expenses for Jodi's mom because her visit tied in with filling in the blank spaces of the time period that Jodi blocked out, and Jodi's need for her mom to hear and validate Jodi's problem with bulima. And since she was already there -- she was invited to graduation.

TJ's husband's visit was in the middle of TJ's stay in the SOH.

I think it would have been too tramatic for Jill and/or her father for her father to show up at graduation since their relationship was too new.

I guess they either have budget limitations or the guests may have time limitations.

---

Re:Jodi\'s mom attending grad

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/13 18:22

---

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

---

Re:Jodi\'s mom attending grad

Posted by BecBecs80 - 2006/05/13 18:52

---

Aww all you guys and the comments about Jodi's makeover are kinda harsh. But of course they're just opinions. I thought with her hair and clothes, she looked more like a woman. Her hair is too wild all the time and I too prefer jeans & a t-shirt but it was nice seeing her look a little more elegant.

---

Re:Jodi\'s mom attending grad

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/13 19:25

---

---

BecBeCs80 wrote:

Aww all you guys and the comments about Jodi's makeover are kinda harsh. But of course they're just opinions. I thought with her hair and clothes, she looked more like a woman. Her hair is too wild all the time and I too prefer jeans & a t-shirt but it was nice seeing her look a little more elegant.

It wasn't Jodi's fault ;) Andy just didn't do her justice IMO.

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by doxygirl - 2006/05/13 19:35

---

Jodi has large facial features and instead of makeup that emphasized either her eyes or her lips Andy emphasized everything at once. It was too much. Her hair was okay but because she has a wide face and her hair waved right there around her jawline and neck it actually made her neck and face look larger. The shirt was very young girl like to me and not a style that fit Jodi. Jodi seemed to know the shirt wasn't right her her in the store but maybe she gave in to what she thought was Andy's better judgment. I don't know about better.

It seemed like an outfit suited to Andy and not Jodi. Changing styles is great but it should still fit the person and I didn't think this fit Jodi. Andy doesn't show a lot of imagination or let the essence of the person she is making over shine through.

But this isn't meant to be against Jodi because she just put herself in Andy's hands.

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by valtina - 2006/05/13 20:49

---

It seemed like an outfit suited to Andy and not Jodi. Changing styles is great but it should still fit the person and I didn't think this fit Jodi. Andy doesn't show a lot of imagination or let the essence of the person she is making over shine through.

SO true!! It reminds me of the Brady Bunch movie in which Mr. Brady was an architect and everything he ever designed, from a gas station to a to a restaurant - they all looked exactly like his own house. He could not seem to move past that template. It was funny in the movie. But on woman after woman in the SO House - not so much.

Andy see what Andy likes - and then she applies that to everyone, even when they have completely different tastes and styles and shapes. A little training in fashion design could open her up to what works for CLIENTS, rather than repeating the same mistakes because Andy likes something on Andy.

It would have been great to do a mother-daughter makeover for Jodi and her mom as a bonding experience for them. But, since it was Andy ( AGAIN :S), I am actually glad that the mother was spared ....

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by mazzy - 2006/05/13 22:20

---

Mystique wrote:

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

Myst, say what...

I'm sorry I'm not understanding your post.

I still think it's budget limitations, or time restrictions. I remember when Towanda's husband came for a visit he said something about coming back for graduation, but he never did -- I thought he wanted to, but SO may not have been willing to pick up travel expenses.

---

Re: Jessica graduation -- did her cousins attend graduation? I remember seeing her father and his new wife, but I don't think they were at graduation.

What's the question again. LOL

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/13 22:43

mazzy wrote:

Mystique wrote:

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

Myst, say what...

I'm sorry I'm not understanding your post.

I still think it's budget limitations, or time restrictions. I remember when Towanda's husband came for a visit he said something about coming back for graduation, but he never did -- I thought he wanted to, but SO may not have been willing to pick up travel expenses.

Re: Jessica graduation -- did her cousins attend graduation? I remember seeing her father and his new wife, but I don't think they were at graduation.

What's the question again. LOL

LOL What I was saying was.. there have been family members of different hgs there at grad time but none until now were ever invited to the ceremony so I wondered .. why now with Jodi?

Speaking of budget.. *cough* I still find the gifts are not equal for each hg.. we were thinking it was budget when Kim got 3 days with her mom, then turn around and Jodi gets a week vacation with whomever she chooses? Not so fair. TJ was ripped too. Some just got way more as grad gifts than others and I believe they should all be of equal or close to equal value.

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by mazzy - 2006/05/13 23:39

Mystique wrote:

mazzy wrote:

Mystique wrote:

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

Myst, say what...

I'm sorry I'm not understanding your post.

I still think it's budget limitations, or time restrictions. I remember when Towanda's husband came for a visit he said something about coming back for graduation, but he never did -- I thought he wanted to, but SO may not have been willing to pick up travel expenses.

Re: Jessica graduation -- did her cousins attend graduation? I remember seeing her father and his new wife, but I don't think they were at graduation.

What's the question again. LOL

LOL What I was saying was.. there have been family members of different hgs there at grad time but none until now were ever invited to the ceremony so I wondered .. why now with Jodi?

---

Speaking of budget.. *cough* I still find the gifts are not equal for each hg.. we were thinking it was budget when Kim got 3 days with her mom, then turn around and Jodi gets a week vacation with whomever she chooses? Not so fair. TJ was ripped too. Some just got way more as grad gifts than others and I believe they should all be of equal or close to equal value.

LOL Why now with Jodi? I'm sorry... I don't know.

Kim got 3 days with her mom because SO received a special excursion rate that included liability insurance for NBC in case Kim did bodily harm to her mom.

Jodi gets a week to 10 days at a singles' vacation spot to meet the man of her dreams -- now let's face it Jodi may need more than the allotted 10 days.

TJ's gift was great -- she gets to spend 3 days at a spa with 3 friends. She never had friends before SO... so I think she valued this gift.

Myst, compared to other shows the gifts are really inexpensive, but I agree with you they should be of equal value for each HG.

Mazzy

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by valtina - 2006/05/13 23:46

---

Speaking of budget.. *cough* I still find the gifts are not equal for each hg.. we were thinking it was budget when Kim got 3 days with her mom, then turn around and Jodi gets a week vacation with whomever she chooses? Not so fair. TJ was ripped too. Some just got way more as grad gifts than others and I believe they should all be of equal or close to equal value.

I thought the same thing when Jodi got her gift. And I don't begrudge her the seven day vacation at all because she deserves at least that. But yeah, Kim, three days, and with Melinda! They can spend the whole three days NOT looking at each other, if they even go at all.

I recall thinking some gifts in the past were more thoughtful and future-oriented, like Jessica getting photography lessons or something like that since she had so much skill as a photographer and an interest in that area. Myst, you mentioned TJ's gift, and while I do not recall what it was (CRS syndrome), I specifically remember thinking she might feel it was a rejection of some sort if she compared it to gifts others had received, since it was a lesser gift and she had felt so isolated and different in the first place.

It would be interesting to reconstruct the gifts each one got, for comparison's sake, even though they are different people with different needs and goals. It seems to me too that roughly equivalent value should be a factor, and isn't. But I am having a very hard time recalling too many other gifts ... :unsure: I did have a strong sense though that the worst gift so far, IMO, was Kim's.

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by valtina - 2006/05/13 23:49

---

Kim got 3 days with her mom because SO received a special excursion rate that included liability insurance for NBC in case Kim did bodily harm to her mom.

Jodi gets a week to 10 days at a singles' vacation spot to meet the man of her dreams -- now let's face it Jodi may need more than the allotted 10 days.

Yeah Mazzy, but what about the bodily harm Jodi could do in ten days to the man of her dreams .... ? :blush: ;)

=====

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by piper - 2006/05/13 23:52

---

Mystique wrote:

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

What about Kelly's whole family?

They were all *invited*!

:P:P:P:P:P

LSD

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by mazzy - 2006/05/14 09:47

---

valtina wrote:

Kim got 3 days with her mom because SO received a special excursion rate that included liability insurance for NBC in case Kim did bodily harm to her mom.

Jodi gets a week to 10 days at a singles' vacation spot to meet the man of her dreams -- now let's face it Jodi may need more than the allotted 10 days.

Yeah Mazzy, but what about the bodily harm Jodi could do in ten days to the man of her dreams .... ? :blush: ;)

LOL Valtina, now explain ... double blush.

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by jhal - 2006/05/14 10:53

---

CoralRiver 5 wrote:

...The way the women get excited, when they announce her, when she comes to do a makeover, as if she is the "end all, and be all," of style and fashion, is disturbing.~CR5~

Don't forget that these women are virtually secluded in this house with a small group to socialize with for the time being. Once they are out in the real world they will have more choices. Perhaps they are excited because they like Andy, and not her style choices (which, I agree, are pretty bad. I hope she doesn't rely on that to make a living.)

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by jhal - 2006/05/14 10:57

---

Mystique wrote:

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

Didn't Lisa's daughter attend her graduation? Didn't Kelly's husband and sons attend her graduation?

=====

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by Mercredi - 2006/05/14 12:02

---

jhal wrote:

---

Mystique wrote:

yea Maz but other hg's families have been there when graduates go through the ceremony.. like Jessica for instance.. yet no family member yet has been invited, until now.

Didn't Lisa's daughter attend her graduation? Didn't Kelly's husband and sons attend her graduation?

Christina's mother her son attended her graduation also.

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by Mystique - 2006/05/14 13:37

---

Thanks for adding those ladies, I couldn't remember any families being allowed to actually attend.. I thought Christina's mom and son were present after the ceremonies were over when she got the GED, and couldn't remember if Lisa's family were at the ceremony or not.. I was trying to recall any others but none came to mind! lol I need to have all the episodes on tape in an SO library for myself so I can go back and see things, can't rely always on these fading memory cells :laugh:

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by Mercredi - 2006/05/15 00:53

---

Mystique wrote:

I need to have all the episodes on tape in an SO library for myself so I can go back and see things, can't rely always on these fading memory cells :laugh:

:laugh: :laugh: :laugh:

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by Serena - 2006/05/15 02:45

---

valtina wrote:

Kim got 3 days with her mom because SO received a special excursion rate that included liability insurance for NBC in case Kim did bodily harm to her mom.

Jodi gets a week to 10 days at a singles' vacation spot to meet the man of her dreams -- now let's face it Jodi may need more than the allotted 10 days.

Yeah Mazzy, but what about the bodily harm Jodi could do in ten days to the man of her dreams .... ? :blush: ;)

Based on what she said to the "sex therapist" - who may or may not have written a book or have a little homegrown website somewhere - it was not entirely clear which part(s) of the bodily harm Jodi enjoys. She always says she's a "giver", so you can decide for yourself what that means, to...ummmmm...put it as delicately as possible. :huh: ;)

You never know. Jodi lives in a hub city, and maybe they hooked up a really great deal on the cruise to Turks and Caicos. Commuter flights to FL ports where the cruises depart are often dead cheap. The idea of spending my vacation stuck at sea with several hundred horny people I don't know would have me selling a ticket on ebay, but who knows? Jodi just might totally dig it. And, it gives her a full week to either work out her dating skills, or create a whole new level of unfortunate drama in her life. Either way. I get their point, but this city is just crawling with men. The trick is more in finding the right one than in simply finding one. You can do that at most any gas station in town.

---

Re:Jodi's mom attending grad

Posted by valtina - 2006/05/15 02:54

---

She always says she's a "giver", so you can decide for yourself what that means, to...ummmmm...put it as delicately as possible.

And that's my favorite of your qualities Serena, your delicacy! It was so subtle I almost missed it. :laugh:

I agree that she can find a man anyplace. Maybe the trip it is like the Dork-A-Thon, practicing those flirtation and dating skills in a venue in which it really doesn't matter, getting her feet wet, as it were.

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by mliza - 2006/05/17 13:57

---

fabkroert wrote:

Jodi is as sweet as the ice cream I had earlier today, but the honest truth of the matter is....no amount of makeup, hair styling, outfits, and weight loss could ever make that woman physically attractive to the masses.

Hmm-- you know, I thought Jodi looked amazing. She shined, and not from that shiny little-girl top. She had an amazing glow that came from within. She has a dazzling smile, and she just looked so happy. And to me, THAT is true beauty. Not eyebrows, not makeup, not body size, not features, etc. I think she's a beautiful woman because she's confident, empowered, honest, and committed to making herself and her life better and better. I'm really happy for her, and I think she looked wonderful. Way to go, Jodi !!

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by patacake - 2006/05/17 14:16

---

It didn't last long. Toadie was back at Sommer's grad.:lol: :lol:

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by Lizz726 - 2006/05/19 13:18

---

Yep, in fact Lisa's daughter spoke at her graduation. There have been several family members in attendance at graduations.

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by memyself - 2006/05/25 11:09

---

honeyspur wrote:

Me too - I thought she looked great.

or at least better. How come every time they tried to change her hairstyle, the next time you would see her she would be back to those ringlets?

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by pinupgirl7 - 2006/06/21 23:16

---

CoralRiver 5 wrote:

:laugh: @ the posts...lol. Too, too, funny.

---

Yanno, I think they really need to explore other stylists. I know she's Rhonda's friend and all, but there are times where she just doesn't cut it.

The way the women get excited, when they announce her, when she comes to do a makeover, as if she is the "end all, and be all," of style and fashion, is disturbing.

At times, not always, it seems as though she's become a legend in her own mind.

~CR5~

:laugh: So right girl.... I'm about to put in my application to take over any paige's job. Good lord, SHE'S NOT THAT GOOD!
She's like the trading spaces of makeover specialists.

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by fijififi - 2006/06/24 02:32

you know you are absolutely right about the bad make over....andy is getting sloppier i think....and some of the hair cuts....yuck....later fijififi:P

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by turtle - 2006/06/26 18:27

patacake wrote:

It didn't last long. Toadie was back at Sommer's grad.:lol: :lol:

She wasn't back. She never left. The LC's asked her to stay and "help" Christie with the 5K.

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by startovernut - 2006/07/25 07:18

I agree..she looked awesome without the curls...why did she not keep it that way, and what was the hairstyle she got for graduation? I do not remember.

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by happygirl - 2006/07/25 10:06

have to go back and watch the tape.

---

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/07/25 13:03

It was straightened with a slight flip on the bottom if I recall correctly.

Since her hair is naturally curly... Keeping it straightened would wind up being very time consuming for her. I suppose she could have it professionally straightened / relaxed... But that too costs money and 'time' to maintain.. She seems to be a busy career person and her hair may not be a priority for her. It was good that she was able to try on some other hairstyles. Maybe later she'll try something else.

---

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by Debby - 2006/07/25 15:36

---

I'm one of the few people around who really like curly hair. I like the long ringlets like Jodi and Josie have. It has a sort of Bohemian look that appeals to me. Of course, my hair is completely straight. I used to get perms a long time ago. I paid big bucks to get curls like Jodi and Josie. When I went straight, people would stop me and ask, how I got my hair so straight. They couldn't believe that I didn't do much of anything. It is toooooo much work to fight the natural wave or lack thereof in your hair.

---

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/07/25 18:13

---

Count me in, Debby! Looove the curls! My hair is as straight as it comes and I too used to pay big bucks for perms...mostly for the body. At a "certain age":whistle: ...chose color over body, and can't do a darn thing with it now!! I'm not even sure that it's really hair now!:P And my eyebrows are picking up CNN too (to steal a line from Joy Behar)! :laugh:

---

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by Debby - 2006/07/26 11:33

---

Me too Ceildh! I adore being blonde. I have to pick that over the curls. I can get a little flip on the ends but it won't stay long, especially in these humid, hot, hot, NC summer days. I just went to my car to get something out and spent a minute or two looking for it, when I walked back into my office, I looked like I had walked through the rain forest. It's not even noon yet.

---

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/07/26 17:21

---

LOL! Debby, were we twins in a former life?:P
I too can get the flip-on-the-ends-that-doesn't-last!! My hair used to take curl well, can't figure out what happened!
Now, I just beg it to "do something"...but it's not listening!!:laugh:
Sometimes I can't even get out of the bathroom before it droops!!

---

=====

Re:Another bad makeover

Posted by Debby - 2006/07/26 17:56

---

With this summer humidity, which is also bad in the winter in the south, hairstyles are difficult. We can have a humid day of 75 degrees in the middle of December here.

I have found the best hair products by Catwalk. Their shampoo and conditioner called Sexed Up is the best. It is good for color treated, thin and straight hair. Their hairspray is good too. Some hold, but you can still comb through it and it doesn't look stiff.

The right cut on the ends helps with the flip too. I get long layers and that seems to help.

---

=====

