
Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by honeyspur - 2006/05/27 09:34

I'm excited about Season 2 rerunning. I think it starts next week. When I started watching it the first time, I hadn't begun to tape it until Sinae graduated. (She is still one of my favorites)

I also started my own SO process with this season and can't wait to continue my process based on those assignments. I urge any one else out there to watch with a new agenda in mind - to take the plunge and begin STARTING OVER!! ;)

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/06/18 01:24

honeyspur wrote:

I'm excited about Season 2 rerunning. I think it starts next week. When I started watching it the first time, I hadn't begun to tape it until Sinae graduated. (She is still one of my favorites)

I also started my own SO process with this season and can't wait to continue my process based on those assignments. I urge any one else out there to watch with a new agenda in mind - to take the plunge and begin STARTING OVER!! ;)

Did not see this post before today!! I am sooo enjoying the SOH2 reruns...missed a few shows before , and I find myself more able to pay attention to each woman's story this time around. Find that the same is true on Season3, but I'm not sure I'm going to "eat that whole thing" again!! :laugh: Hard enough to take the first time around!!

I agree, Sinae was a sweetheart...and so mature for her age. Watching her today take the downtown bus reminded me that, once she got started, there was no stopping her!

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/08/06 19:49

Anybody else out there watching Season2 reruns????:huh:

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by Debby - 2006/08/07 12:16

I was watching but got out of it for a couple of weeks. If you and others are still watching, I will start back.

Which episode are they on right now?

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/08/07 18:22

The last one I watched was re Josie being told she'd be graduating, and they all had a night out to celebrate. Chloe was sick when they returned, and had to be taken to hospital....Josie was frantic! It turned out to be a virus, but it made me think that this event might have had something to do with Josie later being afraid to leave Chloe with sitters, as mentioned in her return visit.

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by Debby - 2006/08/08 11:58

Ceilidh, I guess you could be right, however, Josie also freaked out when she was sitting at the dining table beside of Chloe and she got a little piece of teething toast in her mouth that broke off. She wasn't even in any distress, she just fussed a little, and Josie got all upset and had a melt down with Rhonda. She said she felt like she had let Chloe down. I thought that was a little extreme, but, all first time mothers are overly protective in my opinion.

I have a good friend who had a baby as a single mom. She would never let anyone keep the child overnight. When the baby was about 14 months old, her mother wanted to sit for the baby for the weekend, 2 nights. My friend talked it over with me and broke into tears saying that she knew her son, wasn't ready. I couldn't believe it. I thought she was nuts, but, I tried to be sensitive. I new it was her that was not ready. I told her to do what she thought was best. About 2 months ago, she finally allowed her mom to keep the baby for the weekend. He is 2 and one-half years old!

From what they describe to me, it's as if they are convinced that the child will wake up, not see his mother, and freak out from fear and confusion. Is that it? They say they have no doubt the child will be safe and well cared for. I wonder if they just don't want anyone else to be able to comfort their child, even a grandparent.

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/08/08 20:12

Well, I think it's just the classic separation anxiety! Some have more than others...and I think Josie had a really strong desire to give Chloe what she herself did not have as a child. That can be a double edged sword....if you take it from one extreme to the other.

(That middle ground that I am always harping on about!)

Watched Josie's graduation today, and was tearing up along with all her house mates! Especially when they all had pictures taken holding Chloe...something about that child!! I could never take my eyes off her! Really enjoyed the clips from her first stay in the house too... especially those showing Rain trying to persuade her to stay. When Dr. Stan told Josie that he would be proud to have her as a daughter...well, that was surely a precious gift to her. Josie's was one of the best stories...to see her open up, and become who she really was, behind the protective "barbed wire fence" was truly heartwarming to me. So much had been hidden behind that! She had a lot of wisdom for such a young woman..."hard earned," I am sure.

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by piper - 2006/08/13 18:38

ceilidh wrote:

Anybody else out there watching Season2 reruns????:huh:

I am! And am enjoying getting to know the gals that I missed the first time around. :)
Love Jen, like Kim, T, Sommer (so far), can't figger out what happened to Cassie's voice, still....

.....and couldn't wait for Josie to graduate, or just leave. Those tank tops with her figure? OMG! I've got a fairly large 'busom', myself, and would NEVER think of wearing those things! And, just to show it's not just a prudish 'tude, what bout that HAT?!?!?!:sick: :sick: :sick:

I wrote to Kim today about that 'adoption', yeah right, that 'PURCHASE' of a terribly MISbred kitten, for that price? And the new 'boutique breed'????!?!?!?!?

<AACCKKKKK>

I told her she ought to spend a day/week down at the animal shelter, in the euthansia room, before shelling out those big bucks to REWARD those eejits for planning a breeding disaster. How many cats/kittens are put to sleep, all because ppl 'have to have' that "spreeeeeciaaaalllll" breed that no one else can afford?????

Well, at least she'll be able to pay all the vet bills, for those deformed miniature kittens!!! OMG

<shutting mouf and jumping away from soapbox>
pp

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by piper - 2006/08/13 18:44

ceilidh wrote:

...to see her open up, and become who she really was, behind the protective "barbed wire fence"

Thank you thank you thank you ceilidh, for typing 'barbed wire'!

It was a shock for me to hear them say on SO one time, about 'bob wire'. Then, recently, reading one of my fave authors, (very well read, exciting, imformative, and educated), he wrote about 'bob wire'!!!

<AAARRRRGGGGGHHHHH>

pet peeve of PP :P

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/08/13 19:44

PIPER...re Cassie's voice...there is a lot of regression in therapy, when you start "digging deep," into the past...there's a tendency to feel "wee"...know what I mean? When the protective shell is broken down. Her voice strengthened with her confidence. Just my take, for what it's worth.

=====

Re:Season 2 reruns on TVOne

Posted by ceilidh - 2006/08/13 19:46

Meant to add that I usually hear..'bard wire!!':blink:

=====