
Rushed graduations????

Posted by Wendy K - 2006/05/27 19:44

Is it just me or did it seem like the last bunch of graduations were rushed along because the season was ending?

Jodi seemed to really grab back her controlling side when the home repairs were done, received her mask back and then suddenly she's graduating. I suppose that may be due to editing problems but then they suddenly graduated Antonia who had just refused help from others on the hill climb??

I just don't get it. I know the show is a show and ratings dictate whether the show comes back or not and scheduling dictates editing but people didn't use to graduate unless they were ready. which leads me to Niambi. Even Lisa from Florida was given 30 days to get her act together, but poor Niambi is just sent on her merry way.

If the show continued, I was considering applying for the house. Now that I know peoples lives are really only important to the show, I think I'll leave the application alone.

This whole entire "last" season was "rushed" graduations, "Lisa" and all. It wasn't as good as the first two seasons, with careful working with the women. It seemed the filming was done for "shock/awe" factor. Sad.:

they have rushed people out the last 2 weeks of the season for all 3 seasons, whether people were ready or not. or they say come back "next season" and we will take another stab at it.

I do not agree that Niambi was "sent on her merry way".....there was the inference that she would be returning when she was ready, and to me that sounded like next season. I do think Antonia's graduation was rushed, however. I am glad someone agrees with me. Another thing...did Chistina and Allison graduate? For the life of me I do not rmember their graduations. So, I am glad the show is in reruns now, because, if I did miss something I will be able to catch up. I really hope the show is not cancelled.

I noticed that too.

Yet, I too would love the opportunity to go into that house.

BUT, I would want to go in at the beginning of the season so there would be time enough to get me thru with out a rushed grad.

I wonder how many women would love this chance to expose thier worst problems for the world to see?
