Complete Episode Guide - All Seasons?

Hi Starting Over Fans,

I am trying to synchronize my recorded tapes of Starting Over Seasons 1, 2, 3 (since Starting Over has repeatedly announced that they will not release on DVD), and I have looked everywhere for a complete episode guide (summary) of all 3 seasons.

I am looking for just a brief summary of each episode, similar to what is contained at the SO site on a weekly basis, or what is provided in a TV guide. I'm not needing a compilation of show recaps.

Just something like "Lisa returns to the house to see if she graduates today; Jill frets over a cupcake" etc.

The episode guide at TV.com is incomplete, and I have searched many other places for this.

Can anyone help me out?

Thanks very much,

Randall

Go to Startingover.betaparticle.com

The site has a blog.. It's detailed, but each day has a separate title.. That might help break it down briefly.

The SO website used to have an archive recap.. but I don't think I've seen it this season.

The blog site had been the most consistant backup resource I saw all season... if for some reason I didn't get to see the show, I knew I could go there. There was only 1 or 2 times that the person providing them wasn't able to... Both times I think the show got preempted.

Did you see the first part of the season?

It was the exercise when they had to build a volleyball net together. And TJ dissed Christina (inadverdantly) by making a comment about her not graduating high school.

Then came the board of review.. The whole house was put on probation!

I'll try to find the blog entry that corresponds...

Somewhere in October I think...at the blog site...

I was just at the blog site... I think the episodes surrounding the events we saw last fall are the tail end of November and top of December.

Today's was when Allison went to the Magic Johnson Foundation and when Lisa had her wierd assignment that required her to make and sell flower arrangements.. (the backbone emphasis session with Dr. Stan was about perseverance..) She had alot of time constraints and various tasks... After she sold the flowers (and supposedly she made a profit..) she had to go to a russian store to buy something she'd never heard of.. She called Rhonda and was proud of herself and did the hoochie dance when she was told she was off probation and back in the house... (instead of the guestroom)..

I'm pretty sure the blog entry is the last day of November or 1 st of Dec. The next 2 days will be good I think.. The Habitat project where Lisa really acted outrageous.. ( I thought she didn't act very professional in selling the flowers today... but that's another topic for the boards...and I'm sure a matter of opinion.)

I think one of the next couple shows indicate a new tiff involving TJ and Lisa... (probably stemming from the Habitat Project).. I think Lisa's true colors show in these episodes...

Stay tuned...

Would you be willing to make duplicates of your library? I have fallen in love with the show and would love to have it on tape. You name the price!
