
cute one about friends

Posted by momof2gg24 - 2004/08/25 20:18

I sat under an oak tree in Wyoming on a summer day, drinking iced tea and visiting with my mother. "Don't forget your girlfriends", Mother advised, clinking the ice cubes in her glass. No matter how much you love your husband, you are still going to need girlfriends. Remember to go places with them now and then; and do things with them, even when you don't necessarily want to, And remember that girlfriends are not only friends, but sisters, daughters, mothers, grandmothers and other relatives too. Women supporting and relating to other women is our responsibility and our gift. "What a funny piece of advice," I thought. "Hadn't I just gotten married? Hadn't I just joined the couple-world? I was now a married woman, for goodness sake, not some young girl who needed friends!"

But I listened to my Mom. I kept in contact with my girlfriends and even found some new ones along the way. As the years tumbled by, one after another, I gradually came to understand that Mom really knew what she was talking about!

Here is what I know about girlfriends:

girlfriends bring casseroles and scrub your bathroom when you need help;

girlfriends keep your children and your secrets.

girlfriends give advice when you ask, sometimes you take it and sometimes you don't.

girlfriends don't always tell you you're right, but they usually tell the truth.

girlfriends still love you, even when they disagree with your choices.

girlfriends laugh with you and don't need canned jokes to start the laughter.

girlfriends pull you out of jams.

girlfriends don't keep a calendar of who hosted the other's last big party.

girlfriends will celebrate for your son or daughter when they get married or have a baby, in whichever order that happens.

girlfriends are there for you in an instant, and when the hard times come,

girlfriends listen when you lose a job or a friend.

girlfriends listen when your children break your heart.

girlfriends listen when your parents' minds and bodies fail.

My daughters, sisters, family, and friends bless my life! When we began this adventure, we had no idea of the incredible joys or sorrows that lay ahead. Nor did we know how much we would need each other..... Pass this on to your girlfriends/sisters/daughters.. I just did!

Read the next 2 lines very slowly and let it sink in...

If God brings you to it,

He will bring you through it

Hi :) :)

This is soooo true!

I have come across many of my friends by what I always thought was luck.

But when you think about all the dear friends that you have the true one I mean it was never just a meeting.

Some came into my life when my children were just starting sports. Today we still have this group of five couples who are together and we are all there to support each other. :) The original group was 15 :unsure: :unsure: :(

Of that group the ones closest to us are some of the few who are still married to our original partners :(

Of all the couple we could have gone with over the years these four other couples are the only ones who would have stayed true friend!

each chapter of my life I have met new friends some only stayed for a while in times of need then moved on, never returning. Others are still on the path of life with me but we do not talk or even write anymore :(But I know if I ever need them they will be there for me again!

It is Gods way of helping us cope with life lessons. He sends what you need to climb your mountain :)

Hugs

Thanks mom for that story, I thanked you, but not here:)

I believe in an all-knowing God, past, present, future. I believe He brought us all here for a reason, and He knows when and how our friendships will change and grow, and how long they will last.

I for one, hope we will be talking when our children are getting married and having their own kids!!

take care, and thanks for your kindness--

Mole, for sure, Hugs. We have them all over. Want to hear my hubby's solution? i will wait for your reply before I continue. I have never done this in practice, just know it in theory.

My brick walkway is being pushed up by those critters every night. I just poke the dirt back down until the next time.

moles

Posted by hsmom - 2004/09/15 23:03

Sorry,

Forgot where this post was. How we digress!!!

Do not read if you love all animals and would not hurt a fly

Okay, here you go. Mind you, I have not, or would not do this.

First, you go outside and wait patiently. No way could I do this step. Stand over a spot where the mole is sure to go. They follow the same tunnels nightly by me. When you see the ground start to move up, take your trusty pitch fork and wam, stab the ground. Carefully put your foot on the ground, and remove the pitchfork. You solved the problem, didn't have to see anything, and don't have to bury the dead animal.

Sorry, all. Momof2 made me say this. I don't know if this has ever been tested, just suggested to me by my hubby.

Re:moles

Posted by hsmom - 2004/09/16 13:19

Really, they do have poisons and live traps you can set. But then you have to empty them...

Regis was talking about moles some time ago. He and Kelly had quite a fun time discussing ways to get rid of the critters.

Hugs, live out in the country, and no pitch fork? Will need one if you have to clean up after horses. Or feed them hay.:))

about friends

Posted by dbmcmommy - 2005/02/10 23:51

After reading this whole goofy animal thread I wasn't sure if I should put this one here but what they hey!

A simple friend,when visiting, acts like a guest. A real friend opens your refrigerator and helps himself.

A simple friend has never seen you cry. A real friend has shoulders soggy from your tears.

A simple friend doesn't know your parents' first names. A real friend has their phone numbers in his address book.

A simple friend brings a bottle of wine to your party. A real friend comes early to help you cook and stays late to help you clean.

A simple friend hates it when you call after he has gone to bed. A real friend asks you why you took so long to call.

A simple friend seeks to talk with you about your problems. A real friend seeks to help you with your problems.

A simple friend wonders about your romantic history. A real friend could blackmail you with it.

A simple friend thinks the friendship is over when you have an argument.

A real friend calls you after you had a fight.

A simple friend expects you to always be there for them. A real friend expects to always be there for you!

And I wanted to share this with all of my friends! :laugh:

for my special friends in here!

What fun it is to have you
As my special online friend
Someone I tell my secrets to
All my thoughts to you I send.

It seems like you are always there
Whenever I need you
You always make me laugh
On those days I'm feeling blue.

Just in case you do not know
How much you mean to me
I'm sending you this little verse
So you'll have no doubt you see!

I thank you for your kindness
And the lovely words you say
And I'm hoping all the best things
Find their way to you today.
