

---

Lack of Experience

Posted by WillfullWendy - 2004/05/31 19:17

---

Speaking not from experience but, from pearls of wisdom I have learned in my 51 years of life, I feel Josie, just like like everyone else has to feel her way to her future. We all have made choices and they have not benefited us only making us the wiser the next time. Well, most of us. lol She does have a huge responsibility however, and she needs to put that little girl first before her feelings of someone that may not be capable of nurturing Chloe. That does stem from a lack of self esteem. I do feel however, that her love for her child will eventually rise above her need for that loser. I can see Josie raising Chloe on her own and doing quite well with it. She is already feeling some negative feelings toward Jonathon. That comes from the love she has for her child. The first few months of that childs life will be somewhat stressful for Josey. She has not had to contend with anyone else's life but her own in the past. Now, she has that precious bundle of joy to bond with and love. That love is so much different then she will ever feel for any man. That love is constant and forever. She could and probably would divorce herself from Jonathon early in her life. She does seem too bright at times for his tricks. She is evolving from a girl of low self esteem who wants a boy to love her and validate her life to a young woman with a new baby to love and be the responsible adult she is meant to be. Lets hope for Choe's sake that I am right... She doesnt need to know someone like Jonathon as her father. (Whether he is or not; hence him not be willing to find out for himself) I find this a control issue.... which should in itself, scare Josie away. :unsure: :(

Post edited by: WillfullWendy, at: 2004/05/31 22:28

---

Re:Lack of Experience

Posted by ccbloom - 2004/06/20 13:32

---

Willful Hello

JMO...with being there once, when you give that control away in exchange for an "oh he loves me, oh he cares," as bright as a person may be it seems their sense goes out the window.

It is very sad but it is true.

I have my PHD, I was stuck in that for many years, with being emabarrassed, I don't think I will share how many.

I do hope that with help of those who LOVE Josie and Chloe that she will see the light.

Thank you

---

Re:Lack of Experience

Posted by SofanSan - 2004/06/20 14:54

---

Willfull

I totally agree with you. I have not been in Josie's situation, but I have done a lot of stupid things to feel secure with a man. Luckily I have always been treated with respect and given lots of love unlike Josie. But I totally understand why Josie tries to cling so tight to Jonathan. I just hope that Cloes' love can be stronger and break whatever feelings Josie has toward Jonathan. He is so irresponsible and doesn't deserve either of them. I hope Josie comes to her senses and gets rid of him.

---

Re:Lack of Experience

Posted by ccbloom - 2004/06/20 21:38

---

I agree with both of you.

I do not want them to continue to go through that.

That is what I was saying.

I hope she will realize she is so much better than Johnathon and his love, is not love.

---

Sorry if what I wrote came across wrong.
ccbloom

=====

Re:Lack of Experience

Posted by HUGS4U2 - 2004/06/21 08:56

---

Hi ccbloom

Don't worry about coming across wrong we all get our thoughts mixed up and they come out not quite how we wanted them.

Do you think they will bring Josie back in the new season?

If they do not I do hope they will share with the views on how she is doing.

At this point I really do not care if J is the father, I just hope the show did not leave her at this point in her healing.

She is young and needs the help of "outside friends" to help her become a good and responsible mother to her precious little girl.

Welcome to SOT :)

=====

Re:Lack of Experience

Posted by momof2gg24 - 2004/06/21 19:02

---

Hi Everyone,

i just wanted to express my thoughts about Josie. I am a single parent who left my ex when I was 5 months pregnant with our second child. My children will tell you it has been a bumpy road. Then again parenting is a bumpy road. I feel blessed that I have been able to go back and ask my parents for help after I made some mistakes. They have helped out more than I realize at times. I feel if josie had a stronger support system in place then she wouldn't. Everyone in her life except maybe her grandparents have let her down and not been there. I was truly amazed when her mom showed up. I think in time Josie will trust herself more and things will get better. It doesn't happen over nite and it does happen. I know i have been there.

Heather B)

=====

Re:Lack of Experience

Posted by hsmom - 2004/06/22 08:20

---

HI

I hope Josie can develop a strong support system. I have had troubles after the birth of both my boys, and without my husband, mother-in-law ( who is gone now) and my family I don't know if I would have recovered as I did.

I did read somewhere that Josie is in the new house in LA in the new season of SO. Many board members think Johnathon is not the father of her baby. I hope she finds a supportive man to be a husband and father to Chloe.

=====