Hey you guys, who's Candy? My memory is fading more every day apparently. That name rings no bell at all - not even a little ding!

the woman who was a prison guard I believe.... her goal was to find her feminine womanly side (again I think that is what it was)... she did spend a lot of time softening her insides and her make over was a drastic softening of her outsides...

thinking back to it... Candy's makeover was a very dramatic for the better one.... her hair looked great... it softened her hard outer shell from the pulled back tight hair... and had the same effect as Kelly's did... to make her look much younger and softer and just more 'womanly'....

and Candy is the one in the opening shots that jumps off the light pole platform thing.... I remember that exercise because I would have spent a few nights up on the pole before I would have jumped off.... lol

:P I havent been here for a while, but I was wondering along with everyone else about Candy. She seemed very down to earth and such a nice person

She was on the finale show yesterday and looked terrific. Looks like she kept up her new feminine side. I wonder if she and Robert got married?

Her hair was really great... Gave her a much softer appearance and she seemed to radiate confidence. I'm really glad she was there.

There were other's I wish had come...

Rachael, Layne, Vanessa... and Bethany especially...

I agree.....Candy looked wonderful and so happy too!!

It was great to see (most!! lol) of the ladies!!!!

No matter where any of them are in life.....I wish them well and to really and truly take the experience at the SOH and change their lives and all those around them!!!

Yes, there were many others I would have loved to see. Candy did look great...she's someone I'd like to know. Since she is from my state I think I might even run into her sometime. Blessings to all of you SO fans. Looks like the show is over.
