I just wanted to thank everyone for their support over the last few years... I just finish my last class as of today (6/29) for my undergrad so I can FINALLY move into nursing school.... This has been really big for me start to finish because I have a special needs daughter who takes up most of my time... So thanks everyone
Heather

Congrats on finishing and moving on to nursing .I did the same thing with two teenage daughters in tow. Not easy but a rewarding career . Good Luck:)
