Does anyone out there watch this show? If so, who is your favorite?

I think Lucas (the kid who looks like Marlon Brando) is really wierd. He definately is a deva.

I like the woman with the red dred locks and lip pearcings (she sang Time after Time)

The freaky chick in the blue pant suit should have gone home. But, I think she makes good television and is more interesting than the bobble head dork that did get sent home.

What do you think? :side:

I love the show. I agree with you. I like the girl with the red hair. She is a strong singer and good performer. She also has a good personality. At first I liked the Australian guy, but, he has lost it.

I like the girl who stood up to SuperNova about the grinding on stage. Those guys act and look anyway they want and are always addressing the women with sexual comments, however, when a girl does something, then the guys act repulsed. I don't think she did anything wrong. What about other artists who girate on stage.....
Elvis, Madonna, Prince, Mick Jagguar, just to name a few.

I think they want to toy with the girls then kick them off one by one and select a guy, even though the women are better performers as a whole.

I also think SuperNova is confused about their band. The instrumental music they played for the contestants the other night, was old style rockin roll. They said that was the type of music they were going to be playing. So, why do they criticize performances that have they same flavor?

A lead singer for an old style Rockin Roll band would not perform with the style of a heavy metal performer. It's like having Ozzy Osborne singing volcals for a chamber music quartet. It doesn't match, IMO.

i really like lukas and dilana (sp?) too. i don't know how i felt the situation with jill the other night - on the one hand, you are right debby that there is a double standard for men and women on sexuality on stage. but, i thought that the way she did it looked really forced and like she was chasing gilby all over the stage. also, apparently this was cut but she hit him with the mike stand while she was going around - he mentioned it to her and she said 'oh i didn't notice' and he replied 'that's exactly my point'. i checked out the mssg boards the other night and there were ppl who had attended the taping and gave the scoop on what was cut.

and i know what you mean debby about their intentions with picking a guy. i'd like nothing more than to see them pick dilana cos i think she's one of the most awesome performers i've ever seen, every song she does, but i can see it going the way of last year when it seemed like they loved suzie and had nothing bad to say about her but in the end picked annoying JD, to me, cos he was a guy.

re: phil (was that his name..?) being cut instead of zayira (sp?), that was something else which apparently was cut out of the show - one of the guys produced a recent newspaper interview with the dude in which he was quoted as saying he didn't care about supernova but was more interested in getting publicity for his current band; one of the guys was apparently really hurt by this cos he had really wanted to keep phil around, and they addressed the entire group warning that no one else had better be there for similar reasons. so while i did not like zayira's performance, i can see why she was kept instead of phil..

who knew that 'what we don't see' could be as much of a factor as in SO! :side:

Not to sound insensitive, but, if SuperNova wants wild surprising antics on stage, then they have to be prepared for the possibility of a little danger on stage. All they talk about is "shock us so we never know what to expect." In order to do this, a fair amount of activity by the performer must be expected. I'm so glad that Jill wasn't even in the bottom 3 this week. It may be a good move to antagonize the band. A smart mouth that invites controversy is a ratings getter. They may keep them around for the verbal banter.

I think Gilby and Dave Navarro (sp?) need a reality check on themselves. I think Tommy Lee is the most real... can you believe that?

I also heard that one of the guys ran into a guy from Supernova on stage the other week. This was shown during the show. I missed it, must have ran to the bathroom or something. My friend said it was funny. Apparently nobody got hurt. Don't they practice before the show?

Yeah, after all, those contestants are not professionals.

Correction: I may not have quoted the name of the girl who danced to Brown Sugar correctly. I said Jill but, now I'm not sure if it was Jill or not. I think Jill was one of the bottom three. She had performed a Black Crows Song.

I simply must write their names down so I can keep them straight.

i think you were right...the bottom three were phil, zayra, and patrice...btw i absolutely loved patrice's cover of my iron lung by radiohead, they are my favourite band and i thought she totally rocked it out!

SCW23, I agree. That was a great performance! I haven't voted yet, if you can believe it. I think the show comes on again tonight.

I wish the song choices were better. I don't think it's right for SuperNova to present them with low tempo, down beat songs and then when they perform them, put them down for not being more dramatic.

I think they like the bald guy (from Iceland) with the baby. I think he's kind of blah...but her has a good contemporary look.

I love Tommy Lee...he is very charasmatic and quite charming (did you see Tommy Lee goes to college) I wouldn't want to date him, marry him or have my daughter involved with him...but he is definately fun to watch!

Dave Navarro is creepy! He acts like a girly man....I heard he is separated from his wonderful wife Carmen Electra!

My husband LOVES brooke and we BOTH love the house band...I think that's why we watch it week after week.

Thank goodness for Tivo...we watch Last comic standing tooo...but we watch Supernova live on the HD tv with surround sound...awesome...we save Last Comic to watch on the regular tv.

Sistene, I think they like the Iceland guy too. He started out weak but is doing much better. He is not as strong than some of the women, IMO. I think SuperNova don't take the women seriously as competitors. I hope they prove me wrong.

Why do you think that the girl, I can't recall her name, who sang with Tommy Lee, last week was in the bottom 3? I thought she did a good job. Even if you didn't particularly like her, to put her in the bottom with Tommy Lee on drums is an insult to him, IMO.

Any bets on who goes home next?

I have really come around to love LUCAS! Storm is really good, but I t think she's a bit too pretty for SuperNova...but that's why I LOVED her song last night. I can imagine that her mother probably told her to act like a lady...so her song was a direct response to that!

I still think Magni is going to win because I think they like him the best. He has a good voice, and I think is age is such that he won't make the dudes in SuperNova look so old.

Toby is ok, but he's merely ok.

I think Dilana will be going home tonight. She has worn out her welcome.

Hey Sistine, I soooo disagree with you. Tell me what you like about Lucas. I must be missing something. I don't think he has a good voice, his looks are a turn off, and his personna is negative. I get a bad vibe when he comes on the stage and have from day one, however, I think his talent may be more in line with the talent in SuperNova.

The contestants' original songs are much better than those written by SuperNova. IMO SuperNova needs a good song writer. Gilby picking on Delana's (sp?) original song was CRAZY. His stuff is not nearly as good.

From what I hear Storm is already very successful in some parts of the country. She is too good for SuperNova IMO and so is Delana.

Magni is ok, but never does much for me. I guess Toby is my favorite.

I think Tommy Lee didn't want to send Storm home last night and that is why he didn't do the axe himself.

This band's over inflated egos on this show has turned me off. I also have not been impressed with their music writing. The show's blatant slant against some of the contestants has also been ridiculous. The house band member calling Delana ignorant right before she goes on stage to perform is just cruel. What a jack ass that thought up that idea?

When it comes to this show, maybe the winners are those that don't have to hang around anymore.

Debby,

Thanks for sharing your opinions.

What do you think now that Lucas won! It seemed that he already knew and they taped his winning performances at another time. (his clothes and glasses were different).

I teach High School and teenagers these days are into HARDCORE and SCREAMO music. I'm not sure what that really means, but I think Lucas presents that kind of style and emotion.

Oh well....I totally agree with you about SuperNovas egos. To me, they look like a bunch of old has beens....Gilby needs an updated haircut and the other guy looks like a nerd straight out of the Anthony Micheal Hall Pretty in Pink era.

Just my opinion....

Sistine, I agree with your analogy. I read in a thread somewhere that Jason, who used to play with Metallica, looks like little Johnny Whitaker from Family Affair. You may be too young to remember that show. But, I swear he does resemble him, which is sooo funny considering what a tough ass he thinks he is.

I think Lucas may be in line with the abilities of that group. I think Delayna was too good for them and so was Toby. Ryan was a great writer and performer, so I thought them crazy for getting rid of him, but, you don't want someone who is soooo much better than you down front. They don't have to worry about that with Lucas. Their level of talent is more matched.

I can't explain it, but, I always get bad vibes from Lucas. I never enjoyed anything he sang. Most of the others I enjoyed something they performed but not him. The music SuperNova wrote was pretty bad. I would hate to have to perform to it. SuperNova needed some of those people for their writing skills. One of Storm's original songs was awesome. She was too good for them too.

I heard today that they have been sued to prevent them from using the name SuperNova, as another band has it. They must use Rock Star, SuperNova from now on.

I forgot to mention that on the final vote night, Tommy Lee said that Lucas received the highest number of votes from the night before. I was surprised. I didn't think it was his best night, but, what do I know?

I know you liked Lucas, but, the day after the finale, one of our local rock channels was discussing the outcome and moaning about their choice. All the caller ins were saying it was crazy that he won the thing. I guess Lucas' fans called in their support where it counted.

I also heard the show had terrible ratings, which surprised me. I went to the official website and there were soooo many posts that I didn't bother posting. I mean there were thousands of post per day!!!! I was shocked. The website was really wild. I'm not sure if it is still up or not.

The website is still up. www.rockstar.msn.com

Check it out if you get the chance. I think you can download some of the performances and check out the message board.
