
Lisa=Antonia

Does anyone else thing that Lisa is a lot like Antonia without the debt?

I think Lisa's high and mighty attitude is a defense against most things. Whenever she gets cornered she puts on that "I don't need this" attitude...

Since she and Antonia are from different generations, they just express it with different words. Antonia reacts the same way Lisa would when they go shopping in the thrift shop. Only Antonia doesn't have a mommy and daddy to pay for everything.

Otherwise, their stories (IMO) are pretty close!

they are similar I think in having an attitude of entitlement, that they deserve to have the best without working for it. however, they differ in that Antonia hasnt turned nasty and mean like I feel Llsa has. Lisa has a lot of anger inside that she seems to feel she can take out on eveyrone around her. I didnt sense that with Antonia.

That is true Antonia was not mean or had a nasty attitude, Lisa is like a teenager.
