
And MORE interesting finds and news too!

Check out Jill's site Justaskjillonline.com

On the front page of this destination there is a News item...saying that Jill has a new full time job in the PR business. News dated 7/15. Not sure if she will still be doing the jazz show parttime.

The following is a link I got by clicking biography. There has been alot of changes to her site. Maybe she is trying to consolidate all of them. This item is new to me... Funny drawing of her!

I'm overwhelmed looking through her site and seeing how many different directions she is really attempting to go in...

Voiceovers, PR, Jazz, cupcake diaries, a blog, retail items, her online chat...(that require cover charges).. a newsletter or something.. TV.. I'm sure there are some that I haven't even stumbled on yet..

Thanks for the link, K!

Just wanted to give Jill applause for foregoing the popcorn and ringside seat during the conflama today!! Having said that,would have loved to hear her two cents worth!!;)

I LOVED that remark about pulling out the popcorn and watching the performance downstairs. And I wonder what the reaction would have been if she had done it! :cheer:

I had meant to mention about the new site layout... that there is a link to be able to listen to a sampling of her on air persona.

I just checked the site.. and links to it and any references to the Jazz station are gone now too. (I am sure they were on the front page of her site..)

There is info about that new reality show the Greg 'somebody' show. It's described on Jill's site as a light hearted.. So it clearly isn't going to be geared to be an SO replacement.

Check out that info ...

Seems she has updates to this site almost daily! And new ventures.

No Cocktails with Jill for a couple weeks while she is in training for her new job.

Jill has come such a long way and yet.. it's only the beginning for her! We're so proud of you Jill!!! Keep on keepin' on and stay REAL! You are more than enough, right now, just as you are :) And it shows. Wonderful to see that she's coming into her own and seeing for herself what others have seen in her all along.
