My Fair Brady

My Fair Brady –
Adrienne Marie Curry and Christopher Knight

I'm new to watching this show and I'm amazed that she finds him attractive for the reason that he has anger issues, alcohol issues, married and divorced twice.. And in his late 40's!!!!???

I'm not saying that Adrienne is better than Chris cuz I think NOT!!Her potty mouth is unbelievable disgusting and she does sound like she's talking from her nasal... She's freakish I think.

What's your opinion about the show?
:blink:

I think the bits and pieces I've seen have been ridiculous..

Wasn't this essentially a spin off from another reality show that he did. I think his popularity from the Brady bunch gave him a following... but I think he's overdone it.

Actually I think less of him... He was a cutie back in the Brady Bunch days... but he's seems like he's been overindulged and a cocky jerk now. But that's just my impression.. I didn't really watch him on either reality show... except for catching maybe commercial ads for the show..or flipping through the channels.

Amen. I think I know what you mean Tara and it's true.

Adrienne is a spoiled insecure brat who has no manners and little if any respect for anyone including herself, IMO. I think she is impressed with the Brady celebrity status, even though she says she was too young to ever watch the show. When she first took Chris home, she paraded him around her home town like a show pony...very unclassy.

Chris seems to enjoy having a women that he can dominate. His ego is so big that he puts having a model on his arm as a badge of macho, regardless of how immature she is and how there is no respect in the relationship. Chris does seem to have some nice friends, including former Bradys, who admire him. That says something about his character in a positive way. It' too bad that he didn't listen to Florence Henderson's advice that an early marriage between the two would be a disaster. She also refused to attend the wedding. Chris said he understood and respected her decision!

I do pray that the fights they had on camera were staged. If not, I really pity that couple. One would think it would be humiliating to have to beg a man to marry you. Not this girl, she loved it.

One would also think it odd that if you are engaged to the love of your life, you would cry yourself to sleep so many times. Go figure.

Debby,

I had wondered if some of his behavior was for the benefit of the cameras too.. and I guess that would mean the fights as well..

Heck, who would watch if there weren't drama and conflict involved..? Isn't that what kept alot of watching SO to one degree or another?

I wonder if Florence Henderson thinks that getting married just to fulfill a plotline for a reality show is wrong and that might be why she doesn't want to be a part of it. Sort of being part of a big staged event.. Which is in essence what it will wind up being!

When is the wedding by the way?

He has in the reunion shows always come across as a nice guy... but the Surreal Life and now this spin off...just is either one big acting gig... or just a way to line his coffers or supplement the royalties he might already get from his Brady Bunch years. !

I was feeling a bit bad that I referred to him as a cocky jerk...when I really don't know him.. or if it's just a facade for the reality audience. I take it back. :blush: .. but admit I definitely don't have a warm fuzzy spot for him like I used to!

I think that he is kind of cocky, but, he is now aging and getting a belly. His face is showing some age and he is just not the jock he used to be. He knows this and even makes fun of himself about it. I think that is hard on men who were once a heartthrob. I was never crazy about him, although I loved the show.

He says that after The Brady Bunch he couldn't get work in acting so he went into the then new computer field and hit it big. He did quite well and owns his business and enough investments that he doesn't have to actually work a regular job.

He was married and divorced twice. He went on The Sureal Life for who knows why. There he met Adrienne, who sole fame was from winning America's Next Top Model. She seemed nice enough on that show. On the Sureal Life, Adrienne went hog wild over Chris. He tried to resist her until the last couple of episodes of the show, then they hit it off and left the house together and she moved in with him.

When Florence Henderson first met Adrienne for lunch at Chris' condo, she was cordial, but she asked some tough questions of Adrienne, like "What are your career goals?" Adrienne sat puzzle faced. She looked as if why should I have any career goal other than to marry Chris.

Chris' father unintentionally insulted Adrienne a day before the wedding, by pointing out that avoiding authority is a mistake. Just like Adrienne quitting high school was a mistake. I didn't know until then that Adrienne had dropped out of high school and apparently never obtained her GED.

She does a little modeling here and there, but, as she says about herself. SHE's too fat to model right now. With no education, once her looks go, she has no skills to fall back on if this marriage doesn't work.

The couple got married a few months ago and the taped show of them getting married and all the pre-wedding festivities was aired about 3 weeks ago. I'm sure it will be repeated soon.

Chris' father is also an actor I believe. Something about him looked so familiar. Does anyone remember what he used to play on?

Adrienne can't understand why Chris' sister frowned on Adrienne for posing in Playboy magazine. His mother and sister don't agree with the nudity and vulgarity that Adrienne has shown on tv either. Greg, Cindy and Peter Brady were present at the wedding.

Wasn't HE Peter Brady????

Well, I guess it's history now...that they are wed. I guess it will be interesting to see how long if or how long the marriage lasts.

Now what are they going to do for an encore??

Found this in trying to find out who is dad was. I think it says his father did mostly stage acting. But it looks like he had bit parts in some Hogan Heroes episodes and at least one Brady Bunch episode.

Interesting read...

It doesn't mention whether or not he has any children.

His new bride is young enough to be his daughter! Quite an age gap!

I laughed when you described her reaction about the career comments..... Couldn't help but think of Lisa...!

You're right. Greg, Cindy and Bobby Brady were present at the wedding. Chris played PETER.

Thanks for the sites. I'll try to check them out later.

Chris does not have children, but, Adrienne wants them very badly.

Chris even went for a visectomey consult on one of the episodes. I thought Adrienne was going to have a melt down. If he does not give her a baby really soon, I don't think he will live to tell about it.

When I see them together, I honestly don't think of the age difference, but just the fights and insults. It's not becoming. I don't know if I could talk so disrespectfully to my lover, even if it were pretend for tv.

I think it is ironic that after my post yesterday about Chris Knight, I saw something quite odd. Rember that I said that Chris was finanically secure from his computer business and investments and that he had developed a belly. I just saw Chris doing a commercial for a piece of exercise equipment that works on your abdominal muscles! They only show him in the commercial for a second, then they go on to show other well built models. His arms are well built but not his stomach.

Maybe he is not doing as well off financially as we thought. I bet Adrienne is pushing for that big family she wants. They will definitely need a larger condo if they have even one child. His condo, while it is nice and right on the beach, is small.

I wonder how much money those people get paid to do those reality shows, such as Dog the Bounty Hunter, Hulk Hogan, etc.,
