Christine (1) - OH MY LORD WHAT A FLOOZYYY

Posted by HUGS4U2 - 2004/07/26 09:29

I can not believe what a wanton lady she is :mad:

She acts like a hooker trying to up the amount when she was at dinner with her date :ohmy:

I would be so embarrassed by how I looked and behaved I sure as h--- would not be sitting there talking about it as a host. :x

Can you imagine when her 16 year old daughter saw this show. I feel sorry for her. Her friend could call her mom any name in the book and she did act like that.

Then in the Jazz club!! HELLLLLLOOOO you had cameras on you girl. And you still behaved like that.

You said the cameras inhibited you and made it hard for you and Charlie...

Good thing maybe it stopped her from becoming the east lady ever in the Starting Over House

:mad: :mad: :x

I am sorry if I am being hard on the old girl but she just turned my stomach today in her behaviour :x

Hugs

HUGS: Oh my, what happened?? I didn't watch the first time around & since I don't care for this bunch of women, didn't watch reruns. But what happened?

When she came into the house and carried on the way she did, sometimes childish (whispering w/Cassie, drawing her in) & being so FORWARD w/Hailey & others, I knew she wasn't my cup of tea!

But what happened with the Floos Bucket?? :ohmy: :unsure:

Hi Halfdollar

All I can say is she sure had no right to question Nyanza about her men or how many she had on a string at one time :x
She was all over Charlie like a baaadddd suit :P

Imagine this! They are in a public Jazz club granted she said they were in a back corner that had couches in it :ohmy:

Hello my reaction on a first day would have being to first slap the mans face for assuming I would want to sit on a couch with him and %%& you get the drift because if it were not for the camera I would almost bet they would have gone a loootttt farther then they did on national tv. :x

They were all over each other and not caring that anyone could see them he took off her shoe and was admiring her foot. Ya and I have a barn to sell ya :blink: :blink:

Oh first they were at some restaurant and while they are eating drinking and making as she put it "Good Eye contact" Heck if it were any better contact they would have had to bleep out all the words and sounds these two were making at each other. :x

Man I had better stop before I am kicked off this board.. :P

Your impression of her actions for her revisit were right on.. I did not remember her being so bossy and out right rude from the first shows. BUT I still found her to be over the top on so many things.

I am surprised Lynell did not cuff her one the way she spoke down to her daughter.

I would have crossed the floor in two seconds and bin in her face till she apologized.

I think even Cassie was surprised by her actions. Remember when they were leaving and Cassie asked her why she had packed so much stuff for only a few days?

She said she had hoped the stay would be longer. You could see from her reaction that she truly thought they would be asking her to stay. Maybe she thought she could be a life couch to the other ladies in the home :laugh: :laugh:

Not in this lifetime. The way she was all over the dance instructor: ohmy:

She sure picked up some really good lessons on flirting, but I do not think that is the way her couch expected her to act.. :mad:

Hope I answered your question
Have a great day
Hugs ;)

You react to Christine1 like I do with Nyanza!!! She (Ny) drives me CRAZY! I am OUTRAGED! :x :mad: :unsure: :mad:
:x I wonder if those girls at the agency told him she was hot to trot! He was very forward and assuming! :ohmy:
I think you mean Life Coach....not Life Couch ! maybe not ! :P

FLOOZY---this is about that FLOOZY again...the second date she is 'pushing' herself some more into him! And laying (& you know there was some rubbing, too, didja' see him rubbing her big arse???) Then for all the Houseguests to see it all--how corny, covering up their heads. That's ust BS for the Starting Over Show to even show that that is what they're teaching (!!!) at the House!!!, that it's OKAY!!

You know they teach them where, how, when to find a Man---but then ALLOW then to bring the Dude home & Lay him in the Hammock! I know, she's a big girl & supposedly knows right from wrong but it ust seems the House should be teaching 'Good' things not condoning this type of behavior. She's just DISGUSTING!!! :ohmy: :mad:

I agree with most of you. I don't think that it was very lady like for Christine to have acted the way she did on her first date. I don't know if there is a proper time or a set number of dates before you kiss, but I sure as h--- wouldn't be rubbing somebody on my second date. I thought that she was caught up in the moment but she should've controlled herself. She knows all of this is being taped and that sooner or later her daughter would see it. That was not very responsible of her. The hammock scene didn't seem to bad at least what they showed. I think it was too early to be spending the night together but I guess she didn't think so. I thought it was very mean of Christine to not take part in the raffle selection. I thought it was mean how she came out and just said "no". She just slept while everyone in the house supported Cassie in the raffle selection. Oh and did you notice Christine hosting the show, and when Nyanza asked something about Charlie Christine started acting like he was right there :x and Nyanza said "wow". I guess she hasn't changed.

But what I don't agree is that the house allowed those types of behaviours. We don't know that. Rhonda and Rana could've seen the tape later and said something to her and they never showed that. And I think they were more calm on the hammock then they were in the restaurant. Well that's just my opinion. :P

I agree! That hammock scene was way too much!! Did she think her daughter would be proud of her for dating again, and carrying on that way on TV? Then again, I don't know her daughter.

If she was my mom... YUCK!! I am ready to see Josie and Chloe!

I KNOW IT! Bring on Josie & the other Girls so we can judge every move they make!!! :laugh:

But for real now: is this Show not intended to bring Women in to Help them START OVER knowing they'll be on TV??? Are they not learning POSITIVE ways to change their lives??? Whether the Coaches knew she was laying out there or not, there is always editing. The Show disappoints me some times in TEACHING, yet ALLOWING negatives!! :mad: Does Anyone get what I mean? Shouldn't Women (Christine!!) set an EXAMPLE in this type of Format???

halfdollar,

I hear what you are saying! The positive should be taught and improved upon. This is TV, and there is editing done for ratings, maybe to keep up with the day soaps! I don't have time now, but I remember when I was home over the summer, the soaps would put on the cutest, hottest young people, and they would have some pretty hot scenes! It's a wonder what they get away with on television. Give me Sesame Street and Mister Rogers any day!

Her goal is to build a romance, so in a way, this is reaching her goal, even though we don't want to see it! She could be more discreet, I think. Hiding under the blanket, come on! Last season on Big Brother they showed a bit too much of some bedroom scenes too. There's cable for that stuff...:blink:

Hi all

Well I do agree with being disappointed with the directors of this show on more then one occasion. There was no lesson to be learnt from seeing someone make out with a man she has only met TWICE. What message did that give to Cassie? She may be twenty years older then her but heck she said in many times she thinks of Cassie as a daughter :x Some lesson there mom :mad:

And for her to say NO to coming in for the draw :ohmy: She can no longer give her opinion on anything that goes on in Cassie's stay or even after. She proved then and there where her loyalties lie.

When it suited her she was all advice and support. But put a man beside her and "Oh mommy dearest" came to life.

The worst part for me was in the morning sessions Cassie stated that she has always had only herself to rely on. And Ronda said she had to trust the other roommates there to be there for her through out her struggles.

And then she gets the brush off and leave me be, from one of those oh so supportive roomies!

What I cannot understand is how can Christine sit there, and laugh about what she has just watch!! :unsure: Has she no shame at all?? :blink:

Glad I do not have any teens or even younger daughters, who might see her behavior and think well if it is okay for her to do it on the second date, and she has couches telling her she has to go out and date. Well I guess it must be OKAY for them to try also. :mad:

Oh my word that was so hard to try and get a message through to both you and clicker :blink:
I have never entered a chat room before :ohmy: but snail mail works faster I think.
And how come clicker could not see us :unsure:
I really do not like this dial up network :mad: :x
I MISS MY OLD HIGH SPEED :(
Well off to watch reruns of todays show then at 2:06 AM I get to see the new show :laugh: :laugh:
Talk about not missing a beat aye girls

Wow, some times just my name was up, then mine and Hugs, then mine and Clicker's, then all three of us, then only me!
But I could see all of the conversation. I guess that's the reason the other board didn't have chat. We can't make it work smoothly! I'm speaking only for myself, ladies!!

The show comes on at 8 am in Wisconsin. Do you really watch TV this late?:laugh:
Look who's on the computer this late, me! take care all

Okay I know that was my first attempt at a chat room :mad: but really girl does it always show up like that :ohmy:
I was never really sure who I wa talking with. First it was you hsmom then I only saw clicker then you so I signed off because I was not sure any of my messages were showing up or not. :blink:

I know we are not suppose to chat this way but heck whats an old girl from the great white north suppose to do :unsure:
:blink: :P :(

Ya I really do watch tv this late the two am show is on in ten minutes and I love to see ahead of time what the show latter on in the day will be. That way if I want to do something else I do not miss to much...

Well bye till I can figure out the chat thing.
