
Strange screen

Posted by Debby - 2006/08/04 15:05

Recently I have pressed submit on a post and just for a couple of seconds, a strange screen comes up that says improper message. There are several repeated lines that say the same thing. Just when I'm ready to try to go back or clear it, it clears itself and the post is completed successfully.

I have never seen anything on the screen that way before. It has happened about 3-4 times over the last 2 weeks. I know that the content of what I had in the post was not prohibited or even controversial, so I know it wasn't related to that.

Anyone else have this happen to you?

It happened to me last night..and created a double post.. So even though an error message was coming up it did post. I had hit the back button and resubmitted since the info appeared to be there ... Once I noticed the latest forum posts, I was able to figure out that it had posted... Otherwise I might have done it a third or 4th time.. It just looked like it wasn't submitting.

First and only time that happened...(Knock on wood... !) Although I've occasionally had the double posts occur to me too.

Is it possible to give us an edit button?

I've had this several times over the last few days! Makes you feel that you are doing something wrong, doesn't it?:ohmy: As if you are being warned that your post is unacceptable or something! Can't recall the exact wording.....unsure:

It happened again and it says inappropriate post. I know that what I said was not inappropriate, so, I'm going to ignore it since my post went through okay and didn't double.

It could be that several people are trying to post all at once Just keep an eye on it if it continues we can look further... Heather

It has nothing to do with the post content it is a programming error.

I've gotten it for some posts and not others. If I just do nothing, my computer automatically goes to the page that shows the post and does nothing else. So, I just ignore it!!!

I just had it happen again twice this morning... I kept your post in mind and you are right..it will continue on after a brief pause...

Voila..

Funny how it seems to come and go... There appears only 4 people logged on...so it can't be high demand...

I've been getting these warning strange screen thingies too... I'll have to copy and paste for you so that you know what I'm talking about... I'm sure it doesn't really mean much thinking that it might be a glitch or something.

Too early in the morning to be typing I better go back and lay down or wash the angel poop out of my eyes so that I can see what I'm typing.
