Meg\'s Myspace

I just looked at Meg's myspace site... and enjoyed reading it. She seems to be quite the character... and I would enjoy knowing her.

Seems she has a special beau in her life these days and also mentions that she trains horses, has 3 dogs and one of them is a specially trained dog that she flies with... I assume it helps combat panic attacks.

I think she has done a couple chats at the WCW site...and also is a regular poster over there. I may check the transcripts out and see what else is going on with her!

I always enjoyed her hearty laugh.. and quick and contagious smile.. at least when she wasn't in the midst of an attack or contemplating one!

Here's the link to her myspace site. Enjoy!

Thanks for the update, Tara. She didn't have that beau very long, just three weeks. Last Fall, on another website of hers, she mentioned another relationship that ended rather suddenly. I wonder why. Maybe she took things too far, too fast for these two men's comfort. Or, they were moving too far for her. I hope she finds a relationship that works.

Beautiful photo of her on her site! She looks so elegant and classy!

I really just get good vibes from her. I think she is generally a positive person or at least comes across that way.
