I wish I had learned about this site earlier!! I would have also been calling and writing to keep the show on the air!! Have you heard if there is a chance that any other networks may pick it up?

My name is Ginger, and I am married to charlie who is a single leg amputee. I am a double leg amp. But together, we have still have a leg to stand on !! I really miss the SO show with the life coaches and Dr. Stan. I have been praying that someday NBC will pick it up again. I am so happy to have found this site, keep up the good work B) B)
