
Grey's Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/08/09 15:19

I hope I have this under the correct topic. I've only recently started watching the show and am not sure on a couple of background matters. I can't recall the characters names yet either, sorry, but... The female doctor who's last name is Grey I think, she is dating one of the surgeons at the hospital. That surgeon is married. Did the female doctor not know he was married or was he separated when they began the relationship? Can someone explain?

=====

Re:Grey's Anatomy

Posted by momof2gg24 - 2006/08/09 17:29

quick and simple answer is no she didn't know that he was married and I think it was at the end of season 1 that we all found out that he was married because his wife showed up in the hospital and tried to put Meredith in her place... I will catch you up more when I have the time right now I am headed out the door... Hope that helps
Heather

=====

Re:Grey's Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/08/09 18:19

Thanks alot. I may just rent the DVDs so I can figure all of the situations out. I wanted to watch it on tv though since it was one show I didn't watch when they originally aired, so they are not repeats to me.

=====

Re:Grey's Anatomy

Posted by 1putter - 2006/09/08 21:24

:P Oh, this is just the BEST show on (evening) TV right now. You are in for a treat catching up.

Also, may I suggest you check out a website called "Grey Matters" , (sorry, I didn't want to post the link in case it was/is against the rules but it is a discussion format/(blog?) from the writers of Grey's Anatomy where they explain the background motives of the characters, etc.

Oh, it's sooo good - you will love it! Enjoy!

=====

Re:Grey's Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/09/22 11:44

Did anyone else see Grey's Anatomy last night? I find that I am liking some of the characters more than I used to and liking others less.

I have had it with McDreamy. I pray that Meredith moves on and explores a relationship with the vet. I don't even find McDreamy attractive anymore. I like his wife's character better than him. I'm not sure what happened to me but I can barely stand to see the show continue with the Meredith/McDreamy storyline. It's old, move on.

=====

Re:Grey's Anatomy

Posted by mazzy - 2006/09/23 10:58

Debby wrote:

Did anyone else see Grey's Anatomy last night? I find that I am liking some of the characters more than I used to and liking others less.

I have had it with McDreamy. I pray that Meredith moves on and explores a relationship with the vet. I don't even find McDreamy attractive anymore. I like his wife's character better than him. I'm not sure what happened to me but I can barely stand to see the show continue with the Meredith/McDreamy storyline. It's old, move on.

I agree... McDreamy is over rated... he's missing character.

My guess is that although Meredith is extremely attracted to him... she does not want to be the other woman... nor does she want to be the woman to break up a marriage... because that's what happened to her parents. It's time for her to make a decision... McDreamy put the choice in her lap. I think her decision will be adios amigo... we can only hope. LOL

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by 1putter - 2006/09/23 20:58

:unsure: Just for the sake of discussion, only, and I am in no way excusing the behavior of our Dr. McDreamy, but if you look at the blog from the writer/creator of GA on "Grey Matters" she explains that one of the reasons she chose to go to flashbacks on the season opener was to REMIND folks that it was Addison who first cheated on DMD and with his BEST FRIEND, which he caught in the action! She wants to remind us that the situation almost destroyed him and by the time we are introduced to the character, (meeting Meredith in a bar, who also has her "issues") he is in a very sad, vulnerable place. It is later that Addison follows him to Seattle so I think she (the writer) wanted us to suspend judgement and try to understand where the character was coming from before all this confusion of Addison returning happened. Does that make sense?

If not, read it in her words on her blog - it's very interesting to hear all the symbolism and dimension of these characters!

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by mazy - 2006/09/24 09:27

1putter wrote:

:unsure: Just for the sake of discussion, only, and I am in no way excusing the behavior of our Dr. McDreamy, but if you look at the blog from the writer/creator of GA on "Grey Matters" she explains that one of the reasons she chose to go to flashbacks on the season opener was to REMIND folks that it was Addison who first cheated on DMD and with his BEST FRIEND, which he caught in the action! She wants to remind us that the situation almost destroyed him and by the time we are introduced to the character, (meeting Meredith in a bar, who also has her "issues") he is in a very sad, vulnerable place. It is later that Addison follows him to Seattle so I think she (the writer) wanted us to suspend judgement and try to understand where the character was coming from before all this confusion of Addison returning happened. Does that make sense?

If not, read it in her words on her blog - it's very interesting to hear all the symbolism and dimension of these characters!

That being said... why doesn't Dr. McDreamy just leave his wife, and put everyone out of their misery?

I'll answer my own question... sexual tension! What's a show without a little sexual tension? LOL Forget morals... sexual tension is needed for the ratings. LOL

Oh well... that show biz... not real life. LOL

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/09/25 12:18

I don't think it's morals that turn me off to McDreamy. Yes, he should have mentioned he was married, but separated to Meredith before his wife had the chance to announce it herself. That would tick me off, but, it's more than that. He doesn't seem to have any balls about him. He comes off as a whiny little boy. George has much more courage than he does.

As I stated before, I like his wife better than him. Yes, she screwed up, but, she's got some spunk about her and fights for what she wants. McDreamy just follows anyone around at the moment with no real direction. The tone of his voice turns me off too.

When he tells Meredith that she has a choice to make...that is so crazy. How does a single woman, choose yes for a married man who is living with his wife? That is not an option.

I think the show needs to move on for sexual chemistry. McDreamy is McOver for me.

=====

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by mazzy - 2006/09/25 19:02

Yeah... yeah... agreed, but I'm hooked so it's not McOver for me. LOL

=====

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by mazzy - 2006/11/10 02:50

Looks like McDreamy is back in Meredith's affections... LOL... held my breath at the end of the show... was afraid she was going to drop him... it would have served him right, but somehow I love the on screen chemistry they create... so I'm glad Meredith caved... LOL

=====

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/11/10 14:45

Meredith and McDreamy bore me to tears. Let them go off together and off the screen. The other characters storylines are much better IMO. Sorry I can't recall all the names but, I love Sandra Oh and her boyfriend's situation. I also like the one with George and his so called girlfriend. She's funny. I also like McDreamy's wife. She is a much better actor than Meredith IMO. She has taken the lead character role from Meredith I think. Meredith's character at first was portrayed as a bright promising surgeon. Now she always acts like an immature 12 year old.

I'm sick of the Izzy storyline. The fact they are allowing her to continue to work in that hospital is unbelievable. She annoys me to death. The entire story about the patient she fell for was ridiculous. I got so disturbed during the episode she had this large sum of money and wouldn't deposit it in the bank that I changed the channel. I don't know or care what happened to that crazy storyline. I just wish her character would go away.

I find the new plastic surgeon (McSteamy) to be more to my taste. He is hunky and sexy, much better than McDreamy to me.

Who is the child of the Chief Surgeon? Last night did you notice how odd he acted when that guy asked him if he had any kids? You can guess who I think it is. I'm not sure if I should post the name here since it could be considered a spoiler....not that I know this but it's just a suspicion. What do you think?

=====

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by mazzy - 2006/11/11 00:19

Debby wrote:

Meredith and McDreamy bore me to tears. Let them go off together and off the screen. The other characters storylines are much better IMO. Sorry I can't recall all the names but, I love Sandra Oh and her boyfriend's situation. I also like the one with George and his so called girlfriend. She's funny. I also like McDreamy's wife. She is a much better actor than Meredith IMO. She has taken the lead character role from Meredith I think. Meredith's character at first was portrayed as a bright promising surgeon. Now she always acts like an immature 12 year old.

I'm sick of the Izzy storyline. The fact they are allowing her to continue to work in that hospital is unbelievable. She annoys me to death. The entire story about the patient she fell for was ridiculous. I got so disturbed during the episode she had this large sum of money and wouldn't deposit it in the bank that I changed the channel. I don't know or care what happened to that crazy storyline. I just wish her character would go away.

I find the new plastic surgeon (McSteamy) to be more to my taste. He is hunky and sexy, much better than McDreamy to me.

Who is the child of the Chief Surgeon? Last night did you notice how odd he acted when that guy asked him if he had any kids? You can guess who I think it is. I'm not sure if I should post the name here since it could be considered a spoiler....not that I know this but it's just a suspicion. What do you think?

I don't think the chief surgeon has a child... I believe he had an on going relationship with Meredith's mother, but he is not Meredith's father.

I wonder why McSteamy and McDreamy's ex-wife are not together... what's the story there? LOL

McSteamy is a big flirt... he's cute, but sleeps around too much for my taste... LOL

Next to Desparate Housewives and Nip Tuck... Grey's Anatomy is pretty tame... LOL

=====

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/11/13 12:03

How do you know that the Chief Surgeon does not have a child? The way he acted when he said "NO" was odd to me. Why would he act so guilty looking? The show has consistently made a big deal of the fact that Meredith's mother never cared if Meredith had any contact with her alleged father. After Meredith's parents were divorced, Meredith had no real realationship with her father. I thought that was odd. Especially since Meredith's mother was working all the time. Why wouldn't her father cared for her while the mother was at the hospital? If they are going to make something out of it, I guess they should do it soon.

To my knowledge, McSteamy has slept with McDreamy's wife and George's girlfriend. That's two for him. McDreamy has slept with his wife and Meredith, both while he was married and once when he was living with his wife. Remember at the High School Prom at the hospital. That the the tactiest thing to me.....turned me off. I know his wife had been unfaithful previously, but, they had reconciled and he was at this formal event with his wife and then runs into a back room to get it on with his ex-lover. That pretty much did it for me.....towards both he and Meredith. At least McSteamy is not married.

=====

Re:Grey\'s Anatomy

Posted by mazy - 2006/11/13 19:39

Debby wrote:

How do you know that the Chief Surgeon does not have a child? The way he acted when he said "NO" was odd to me. Why would he act so guilty looking? The show has consistently made a big deal of the fact that Meredith's mother never cared if Meredith had any contact with her alleged father. After Meredith's parents were divorced, Meredith had no real realationship with her father. I thought that was odd. Especially since Meredith's mother was working all the time. Why wouldn't her father cared for her while the mother was at the hospital? If they are going to make something out of it, I guess they should do it soon.

To my knowledge, McSteamy has slept with McDreamy's wife and George's girlfriend. That's two for him. McDreamy has slept with his wife and Meredith, both while he was married and once when he was living with his wife. Remember at the High School Prom at the hospital. That the the tactiest thing to me.....turned me off. I know his wife had been unfaithful previously, but, they had reconciled and he was at this formal event with his wife and then runs into a back room to get it on with his ex-lover. That pretty much did it for me.....towards both he and Meredith. At least McSteamy is not married.

I don't know for sure that the Chief Surgeon doesn't have a child... I thought he said something this week that his wife did not want to raise a child alone because he was at work all the time.

I don't remember too much about Meredith's biological father, but I don't think it was the Chief Surgeon.

As far as McSteamy and McDreamy go... I hear what you are saying... McDreamy behaved very sleazy at the hospital/prom night... no question about it. LOL It's hard to keep up with all the bed hopping, buy between you and I... I'd say we're doing pretty well... this is not an easy thing to keep track of... LOL

=====

Re:Grey's Anatomy

Posted by Debby - 2006/11/19 14:35

Hey ladies. I just got back to the board after a week of court and depositions.... SOOOO busy and next week looks just as bad until Thursday that is. Happy Thanksgiving.

Anyway, you are right about the bed hopping. Oh my, it's unreal. Last week's episode was better I thought. Izzy has come back to earth and Meredith has settled on McDreamy apparently. The saying is "If someone will cheat with you, they will also cheat on you." I don't know if that is true, but I think it would always be in the back of my mind.

I guess I'll keep watching. I think I missed the last few minutes of the show. Who is actually performing George's father's surgery? If Sandra Oh let's her boyfriend do this knowing there may be a problem, she needs to be serverly reprimanded. Don't you think?

=====