For all you Price is Right Fans... (I haven't really followed the show very much in several years..)

Bob Barker is retiring next June...

Looks like they want to continue the show! They've been looking for a replacement!

My goodness!! I heard that yesterday and I just can't believe it! Hubby and I always thought he'd be on the show until he died! He's outlived 2 of his announcers.

He's the only host we've known for the show, although I've seen a couple of the very first shows on GameShow Network a few years ago. They were in black and white and Bill somebody hosted I think. The guy that was also on What's My Line? YUP.....I LOVE all those old, old game shows.....they were so cool!!!!

Kelly Ripper has nominated Regis to fill Bob's shoes. She says they can move the show to New York and he can do it plus his own show. I personally think they should just retire the show. Besides, Regis will be as old as Bob before too long. I think Regis is 70 something, although, he does look darn good for his age.

Did you see him dressed up like Simon Cowell for Halloween? What a body on that guy. Wow. He is really built. I don't know what he is doing but his body is hot. I'm not kidding.

Regis is 75 years old. R.I.P. Bob Barker...how many times does an old man have to be sued for sexual harrassment? I'm glad he's retiring...should have happened years ago.

The show just won't be the same with out Bob Barker. I can't imagine anybody replacing him.

I remember him when he was on Truth or Consequences back in the 60's!

I was seeing an interview with him the other day but didn't get why he was being interviewed..

I don't know who was dressed like Simon Cowell.. Bob or Regis?

I think I read in the net piece or heard on the interview... that Bob has always worked with a trainer.. He used to train with Chuck Norris before Chuck Norris got popular..

Today on the radio.. they were talking about it.. and someone asked him what he was going to do when he retired.. (he'll be 83 in Dec.) and he told them he was going to take up bodybuilding and run for Governor of Calif! LOL!

Yes, I think it might be time to retire the show.. But it is probably most popular with the older population.. Game shows used to be quite popular some years ago... and were on primarily in the mornings... and early afternoon.

Yes, well, I don't watch the show in the first place. I have seen it in the past, but I for one, won't be missing Bob Barker. I might watch if Chuck Woolery were hosting, but probably not. Barker's retirement will be short...and so I'll say again...R.I.P.

If you don't watch the show the why are you commenting in this thread? Your RIP comment is really rude and uncalled for too.

I don't think my comment was rude or uncalled for. I personally do not like people such as Bob Barker who sexually harrass young women, and who BTW has been sued for this on many occasions. Anybody who has been on this planet for any length of time...has heard or seen this show. I personally don't watch shows like this, doesn't mean I am not aware of it. He's near his middle 80's...my R.I.P. comment was totally appropriate...because when he does pass, I don't intend to send my regrets.

Can't people agree to disagree here?

People can disagree but really need to have some tact.

Well, unless I missed the follow-ups, I only ever heard that there was an accusation by one of the girls and interviews showed that she had a big money stake in her accusations too. I never heard that there was ever a conviction of anything. But I may have missed that. IF he did harass the models, then it is horrible, but I always got that it was a he said/she said.

ANYway.....

Regis was great as Simon!!!! They were both funny on the Halloween show!!!! I don't think Reege should do Price Is Right and I think Kelly was totally ribbing him!

I'm not sure it'll ever feel like Price Is Right without Bob!!!

I remember reading about him and the sexual harrassment case, use to watch the show, honestly do not care if he retires.
