
Bethany\'s site.. - new cache of pics from SO2

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/11/02 20:00

I was looking around to see which of the older SO gals sites were gone. I knew Bethany's site existed and it didn't appear to have had any recent changes. I was looking at her pics though..and many of the starting over ones...I don't recall having seen before.. (could just be a faulty memory or she added them later).

Was nice to see the ladies together. Made me try to recall who was there first or when... The show always made it seem that Rachael and Renee didn't get along. They both appear very happy in some of these pics.. You can also see some of Allison's early pics..complete with grey hair when she first came to SO shortly after her chemo finished..

There is a couple people I didn't recognize.. I thought I saw Tess in one picture but it could have been one of Rachael or Renee's friends that came for one of their graduations.

fun to take a trip down memory lane with SO2...

I really like Bethany too! I hope she and Allison are staying in touch. (both live in N.C.)

click on pictures and choose the starting over ones.. Or the others if you prefer! :D

Wow, that does take me down memory lane. Unreal!
I don't think that is Tess that you pointed out. It's really hard to tell though.

How about Allison? Man, she really did come along way. Think of how different she looked when she left the second time. She really looked like a different person.

I get the feeling that Bethany really liked those guys around her kissing her. LOL. Check out the multiples photos. They were cuties.

Can you imagine walking out to that view every morning? That would be just heaven.

Oh, I had almost forgotten about Denise. What a wild one she was. She was quite funny at times.

Bethany is at UNC at Greensboro. That's a couple of hours from me. I have a few friends who attended there but no one that I know right now is attending the school. I'm glad she's out on her own. She did seem to be one over protected young girl. I adored her but that immaturity did grind my nerves at times. She's a good girl I think.
