
Christine going for more face time

Posted by mejustme - 2006/10/29 07:28

Below is a link to a short recap of Christine's appearance on the Dr. Keith Ablow show. She was on Oct. 26th. She only got on for a short time but made it seem like she got herself off the street. Not a mention of SO at all. What an ingrate.
<http://drkeith.warnerbros.com/recaps/1/102606.html>

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by Tara - 2006/10/29 13:58

Christina was already off the streets when she entered the SO house. The reason SO wasn't mentioned could be out of Christina's control too.

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by mejustme - 2006/10/30 10:58

Christine had just quit less than 2 weeks before she came into the house. And she quit because she knew she was going to leave for California. Her last day dancing was the day she met her boyfriend. I remember there being conversation about her being so attached to him and she hardly knew him.

As for it being beyond her "control" to mention SO, I doubt it, but I am sure it is a much better story without saying she quit the biz to go on a reality show. She made it sound like her mother helped her get off the streets and that is definitely not true. They had her mom come to the SO house so that the coaches could help her break the news to her mom, who didn't have a clue.

Plus I don't know how intriguing they found her story for Ablow, since she was on the first five minutes and that was it. She even had on the outfit she was given for SO graduation. Thankfully she had a different hair cut, she looked quite lovely.

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by Tara - 2006/10/30 11:18

Being a stripper and being on the streets are not the same thing!

She could have mentioned SO and it could have been edited out for many different reasons. I'm sure Dr Ablow knows about the show SO.

Post edited by: Tara, at: 2006/10/30 11:20

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/10/30 11:31

Mejustme,

I think she hadn't been too far out of the business either. I recall her saying something about having met Paul (her then boyfriend) about a month before coming into the house. I thought she said she met him at a strip club too... and said that he didn't normally go to those type places except he had that night. I think she was just trying to win brownie points for him with Iyanla and the housemates..

I know there was alot of rumors about her stay in the house and a possible affair with one of the camera crew. Her initial myspace account after leaving the house showed a mixed up kid... I recall seeing an attempt at a regular post SO experience but alot of suggestive comments left by some guys... Then I recall some questionable shots (provocative) Soon after her myspace was closed.. Then a few months later it was revived.. much more tastefully. I think she may have backslid a bit... Just a guess... If there was some truth to the affair... and her staying in L.A. for a time.. I can see that it might have happened.. It was also RUMORED that when Iyanla found out about the affair (via Jessica) that that was the reason Christina wasn't invited back to the finale.

But she seems to have gotten back on track. Hopefully anyway. I guess she's realizing that Real Estate, crochet and lip gloss are not easy career options. (She was hawking crocheted caps and homemade lip gloss on Ebay for a time) I read the recap of the show and looks like now she is concentrating aesthetician(ing)... Skin care I think? I thought she was trying to pursue some modeling gigs too... Or at least she indicated that one time on her Myspace.

I always wondered if the SO crew didn't happen on Christina when they were in Las Vegas with the SO2 ladies near the end of their season. Which would have been in January there abouts of 2005.. SO3 started filming in July I think.. I don't know why I thought that... but it's just a hunch.. Maybe she was trying to give up the life style then and began to tie up loose ends and moved back to NC. It didn't sound like she had been back in NC very long.

I wish I had seen that Dr. Ablow piece.. I am sure they would have downplayed SO... as that would have thrown off the topic...
She didn't tell her mom about what she was doing until well into her stay at SO.

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by Debby - 2006/10/30 12:23

I just knew this would happen. The minute I stop watching Dr. Ablow, someone comes on that I want to see. Rats! After all of the boring, wierd stuff I didn't want to see and then this.

Oh well, if she didn't mention SO, I would have gone ballistic anyway. I guess it's for the best.

It seems odd though, don't you think to not mention SO and if she did talk about it and the show edited it out, then that is also really bizarre! I think it makes for a really great and interesting story to describe her experience.

Obviously there are not contracts that forbid discussion of the experience on SO as there are many other former hg that talk about it and have it on their blogs.

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by TigerRose - 2006/10/30 13:19

Debby wrote:

It seems odd though, don't you think to not mention SO and if she did talk about it and the show edited it out, then that is also really bizarre! I think it makes for a really great and interesting story to describe her experience.

Sometimes other stations don't want another station's show mentioned even when over- depends on producers sometimes.

Another thing might be the angle they are using. From what I read in the recap (which unfortunately isn't much of one) on each guest that day... they seemed to concentrate on the reasons why they kept the information from family, what happened when they revealed it, and where they are now.... They may have cut it out or told her not to mention the show in order to keep that angle... (this deep dark secret brought pain to themselves for keeping it but even though it may hurt those around them... it gets better)
Talk shows are known to do that on some degree.

Shrugs... not saying that's what happen but just speculating.

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by mejustme - 2006/10/31 02:19

KPW1956 wrote:
Mejustme,

But she seems to have gotten back on track. Hopefully anyway. I guess she's realizing that Real Estate, crochet and lip gloss are not easy career options. (She was hawking crocheted caps and homemade lip gloss on Ebay for a time) I read the recap of the show and looks like now she is concentrating aesthetician(ing)... Skin care I think? I thought she was trying to pursue some modeling gigs too... Or at least she indicated that one time on her Myspace.

And now in another thread they are talking about her wanting to be a life coach! Please, she is no more a life coach than she was an artist. I know she is young and trying to find her way, but she just needs to go to school and find her way. She wants an "instant career". She will give up on this too.

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/10/31 08:13

mejustme wrote:
KPW1956 wrote:
Mejustme,

But she seems to have gotten back on track. Hopefully anyway. I guess she's realizing that Real Estate, crochet and lip gloss are not easy career options. (She was hawking crocheted caps and homemade lip gloss on Ebay for a time) I read the recap of the show and looks like now she is concentrating aesthetician(ing)... Skin care I think? I thought she was trying to pursue some modeling gigs too... Or at least she indicated that one time on her Myspace.

And now in another thread they are talking about her wanting to be a life coach! Please, she is no more a life coach than she was an artist. I know she is young and trying to find her way, but she just needs to go to school and find her way. She wants an "instant career". She will give up on this too.

mjm, I think the other thread was about Christie... not Christina..

I think Tara has links to their blogs in the upper left part of the page. Most of the women's blogs haven't changed for some time. No change in Christies..

I know it's easy to get Christie and Christina mixed up...

Just wanted to point it out...

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by mejustme - 2006/11/01 03:51

OOPS!!!!!! me bad, thanks KPW.

.....uh, never mind.....:silly:

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by turtle - 2006/11/01 17:09

I only saw a few "snippets" of Dr Ablow's first show. I liked him. He seemed to be a "tell it like it is" sort. I wish I'd seen his show the day Christina was on. But, I doubt I would've learned anything new. She didn't mention SO? Unless it was Dr Ablow's policy, she wasn't restricted from doing so. At one time, I understand, former SOHG's signed a contract forbidding them from discussing their experiences for the first year after they were on the show. But, now that the show has been cancelled, I doubt any such restriction exists. Anyway, wasn't Jill posting blogs about her episodes right after they aired?

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by Ciera - 2006/11/01 17:17

Dang...I almost peed my pants...not another one...please no, not Christina too. Although, I guess it's to be expected. So we are talking about Christie...not Christina. I think Christina was an ok artist; I've seen artwork worse than hers. But this child needs to go back to school, get some skills and some education and again, get a real job. Of course, I doubt she will take that route. I think a another husband is in her immediate future, along with another child. People like this seem to repeat the pattern, and often times, they think marriage and children is an easy way out. An easy way of avoiding making the difficult choices in their own lives that would provide security and personal satisfaction. Happens all the time..to all kinds of young girls. Somehow I think it stems from just how they were raised. I'm glad I wasn't raised that way, nor did I raise my own kids this way.

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by wish - 2006/11/01 22:47

I agree Christina could repeat her past ways, she is good at manipulating her mom ,dang the woman let her daughter got married at 16.

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by LaurenB - 2006/11/02 02:20

Ciera wrote:

Dang...I almost peed my pants...not another one...please no, not Christina too. Although, I guess it's to be expected. So we are talking about Christie...not Christina. I think Christina was an ok artist; I've seen artwork worse than hers. But this child needs to go back to school, get some skills and some education and again, get a real job. Of course, I doubt she will take that route. I think a another husband is in her immediate future, along with another child. People like this seem to repeat the pattern, and often times, they think marriage and children is an easy way out. An easy way of avoiding making the difficult choices in their own lives that would provide security and personal satisfaction. Happens all the time..to all kinds of young girls. Somehow I think it stems from just how they were raised. I'm glad I wasn't raised that way, nor did I raise my own kids this way.

Well, put! SO changes lives....NOT! I am stunned that anyone can believe this crap!

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by dende - 2006/11/02 22:23

She didn't mention SO because she wasn't allowed to. As for education she is going to school for esthetics (it is apperantly some type of cosmetology), which she did mention on Dr. Ablow's show. As for being on her way to a second husband that is likely since she has moved in with James. As long as he treats Christina and Jackson well I fail to see how this is a bad thing.

=====

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by desireedreamer2005 - 2006/11/03 10:49

dende, you write as though you are a personal friend of hers? You say she was not allowed to and the only way you could know that is if either Christine or Ablow's people personally told you that.

Also you seem privy to her living arrangements?????

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by dende - 2006/11/03 16:35

You can find all this out from her myspace. One of her friends metioned that she didn't mention SO, Christina responded be saying she wanted to but wasn't legaly allowed to. As for her living arrangements, her move to Ohio with James was mentioned in her comment section by a few people.

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by desireedreamer2005 - 2006/11/05 01:58

thanks for the info.

I would think that by saying that she is not allowed to mention SO that they are less than honest on that show.....:unsure:

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by sheriamour - 2006/11/07 22:02

Just wanted to drop a line and mention, like you all, I am a fan of Starting Over.

Recently I had the privelege to have Christina on my tv show in Raleigh, NC. If you live near the area you can check it out on RTN-cable 10 Tue. 10pm, Sat. 11pm, and will replay all the way until Oct. during those times. She is a great person and was a fun interview. I asked her what she thought of Starting Over coming back or not, Her past, What she is up to now, What she thought of the episode where Rhonda got a little personal with everyone's sex life, and what she REALLY thought of some of the people in the house.

If you don't live in the area and want to check it out on dvd, contact me and I can get you a copy. Thanks alot, TV Host Tim E. D- check out my page for my email address.....www.myspace.com/timed

This was a post made August 28th in my Starting Over fan club group on myspace. I didn't see that show but it sounds good and interesting. Also sounds like Christina does enjoy talking about The Starting Over House in public appearances when she's allowed to. <http://groups.myspace.com/SOfanclub>

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by sheriamour - 2006/11/07 22:14

:blush: <http://www.myspace.com/timed>

<http://www.groups.myspace.com/Sofanclub>

and can anyone please tell me how to get rid of my dreaded Avon sig line?? I've tried and tried and it's still there! drat!!
(I don't sell Avon anymore)

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by sheriamour - 2006/11/07 22:39

Well my links are not working but the url addresses ARE good. You can copy and paste or type them into your address bar and they will take you there. SORRY :blush: :blush:

<http://groups.myspace.com/sofanclub>

<http://www.myspace.com/timed>

If you read what he posted in the group you can just click on his pic to go to his page. You will have to click on view all topics though because I think he is on the second or third page. :cheer:

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by Nadia - 2006/11/07 22:46

sheriamour wrote:

:blush: <http://www.myspace.com/timed>

<http://www.groups.myspace.com/Sofanclub>

and can anyone please tell me how to get rid of my dreaded Avon sig line?? I've tried and tried and it's still there! drat!! (I don't sell Avon anymore)

Hi sheriamour, try going into your profile and then click edit profile then update profile....should be there somewhere. I think this is right. If not Tara will be able to help you.

Post edited by: Nadia, at: 2006/11/07 22:48

Re:Christina going for more face time

Posted by turtle - 2006/11/09 18:56

dende wrote:

You can find all this out from her myspace. One of her friends metioned that she didn't mention SO, Christina responded be saying she wanted to but wasn't legaly allowed to...

I can't understand how anyone can be legally constrained from discussing their involvement in a cancelled TV show. I wonder if Christina was just using that as an excuse to evade people's questions. On her website, Bethany, from Season 2, was quite "vocal" with her displeasure over B/M's portrayal of her family. Yet, she didn't ruffle their feathers too badly. Since she was invited back, to "support" Allison, last season.