
Without a Trace

Posted by Debby - 2007/01/22 15:46

I have a question about Without a Trace and hope someone can help me if they watch it.

I watch the show quite a bit, but, lost track of a storyline from last season. The head FBI investigator, I can't recall his name, he became involved with a woman who was also working at the FBI, not the blonde, but the older brunette. Her husband was also an FBI agent who was killed years ago. Anyway, the head agent got this woman pregnant. I saw a small clip that showed her in the hospital and it looked like she had a miscarriage. She and the agent were talking and crying and it was sad.

What has happend since then? Are they still a couple? Did she miscarry? I can't figure it out from the most recent shows.

=====

Re:Without a Trace

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2007/01/22 21:12

Hey Debby,

Yeah, they are still a couple. For now.....who knows where the storyline will go now that she did miscarry.

The blonde he was talking with had an affair with him years ago when he was still married to his ex-wife and his daughters were little. I guess he felt he owed her an explanation.....don't know why though.....they both moved on!

=====

Re:Without a Trace

Posted by Debby - 2007/01/23 17:09

Okay, thanks for the info. I guess I just missed the brunette being on lately. I remember the affair with the blonde. That kinda surprised me when it came out. I like her. I think she is a good actress and I like her character.

What about the agent who was addicted to pain pills? Is he still addicted or has he been found out?

Also, recently the African American agent and a male agent made up a false story to cover the guy's butt. Did they stick with it in the end or come clean? I missed that part somehow.

=====

Re:Without a Trace

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2007/01/24 02:52

The one addicted to the pain pills finally went to an AA type of meeting with support from the other guy who also showed up!! They really haven't gone back to that lately, unless I missed something too!

=====

Re:Without a Trace

Posted by Debby - 2007/01/24 12:42

Really? That's a surprise. I hope to catch up pretty soon. I really like the show.

=====