
Site slow? Help Tara!

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/01/19 17:55

It seems like the site has been extremely slow this week. Am I the only one who is noticing it? And I don't mean posting slow... Just the page is taking for or 5 times longer to load...

I don't seem to be having trouble with any other sites..

I am sure the slowness of the pages loading could discourage forum participants.. Is there anyway to fix this Tara?

Maybe it is the server having problems..

You are absolutely not the only one noticing this, and yes, I know it has discouraged me. I have left more than once due to the time and my own impatience.....Can this be fixed ?

I'm still experiencing the long lags I just clicked on CHIT CHAT and it was taking forever. So, I'm not sure if this problem is fixed or is it me not being patient enough or am I clicking to many times cause I find that it doesn't load fast enough I click click click.

No, I don't think it me cause I just tried clicking on message board to get to here and The page cannot be displayed showed.

Sometimes it's quick and other times it takes forever

Nadia, I have had the same problem. But, mine is slow on other sites too, so, I'm not sure if it's just me or not.

Other than 'you know what' the site has been acting fine today. It was definitely this site acting up..so can only surmise that it might have been server problems. Otherwise I think Tara would have mentioned it.

I would bet that the spam bot attack had something to do with the server being slow over the couple of past weeks.
