
Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/11 11:21

These headlines grabbed my attention..

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20060911/ap_en_tv/anna_nicole_smith_son

Apparently she (Anna Nicole) gave birth to a baby girl and her son had gone to visit her. He was found dead in the same hospital... They haven't said why he died at this point...

I was surprised to hear she had given birth already. Seems like yesterday they had announced she was pregnant..

Sad... He was only 20. I can't help but think he has had a rough life with his mother's antics, reality show, instability, and bad publicity. Or so it seems... I just wasn't much of a Nicole Fan...
But to lose a child is still very devastating...

For once, I have some compassion for her.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Tara - 2006/09/11 11:27

Wow this is so sad.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Nadia - 2006/09/11 12:51

I heard... this is sad.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by DrStanFan - 2006/09/11 13:14

No matter what, he was the apple of her eye. I can't imagine what she's going through with joy on one hand and devastation on the other..:(

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by logic71 - 2006/09/11 13:38

I didn't know about that! I knew she was pregnant, but i didn't know she had a son. I like this quote you used. I do this all the time and no wonder my tomorrows are very emotional. Thanks for the helpful quote. God Bless!

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/09/11 14:41

I'm so sorry to hear that.....I simply cannot imagine losing a child! And to have such an agony of mixed emotions with giving birth and losing one at the same time? A tragedy indeed. I'm sure she had a lot of issues as a mother, but I do grieve for her.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by mazzy - 2006/09/11 19:37

It is very sad... it's just not natural for a mother to bury a child.

I did read somewhere, or maybe I saw something on TV a while back about the close relationship between her and her son. I think I remember something about her wanting a better life for her son... hence the relationship with the "older" man.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/11 23:38

I found an updated article. They are doing an autopsy.

But apparently he died in the room. She thought he was asleep in the chair and couldn't wake him. (This article says he arrived the night before and went straight to the hospital).

That makes his death all the more horrifying.. at least from a mother's standpoint.

I do hope they had some special time together before he passed. It sounds as though he must have died peacefully. If that is any consolation... (very little in my mind...but worth a thought anyway.)

I'm sure there will be many more details in the days to come.
I think the story didn't get much coverage because of the 9/11 anniversary. Probably as it should be...

here is a link to the updated article..

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20060911/ap_en_ce/anna_nicole_smith_son

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Hooters - 2006/09/12 01:55

I read about the death of Daniel Smith this morning and it's been on my mind all day. I just can't imagine what Anna Nicole is going through now. The devastation of losing her son..they practically grew up together, and the birth of her daughter....and what about Daniel's dad? I work with someone who grew up with him in Mexia, Texas, and we talked about this today. I hope he had a relationship with his son, this would be even more tragic if he didn't. My thoughts and prayers are with the entire family.....

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/15 11:11

The details seem to get stranger and stranger... Nassau sounds like there will be charges made.. and a new news article says that a secone autopsy will be done. Because of the 2nd autopsy headlines, I checked the article and found that 'the family' is having their own pathologist do the 2nd autopsy. They are saying to look for other things the original autopsy may have overlooked. But I think it strange that charges might be pending and a family pathologist will be doing work. Sounds more like building up a defense case. Details surrounding the event keep flip flopping.. He was in a chair, he was on the bed..

There also were reports that there was a third person in the room.. Another report was indicating that 3rd person was her lawyer.

Almost every article you look at has something different.

I'd hate to think that she had something to do with his death... But I think with her, anything is possible. If anyone saw the documentary about the original trial regarding her, her rich elderly husband and his death. (I think the initial trial had to do with the validity of his will and whether he was of sound mind or manipulated by her.)

I guess this will be another wait and see.... I think they won't release info about toxicology reports until after the inquest.

I just thought it highly unusual that the family would hire or have their own pathologist. But I guess if they have the money and means and aren't happy with the results of the first one..

I just think that with talk that the lawyer was in the room that morning...that something is up...

Getting stranger and stranger!

Forgot to post the link..

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20060915/ap_on_en_tv/anna_nicole_smith_son

Post edited by: KPW1956, at: 2006/09/15 11:11

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by 1putter - 2006/09/15 12:46

:unsure: I have a general mistrust of the corruptness of the system in those resort islands that operate pretty much like third world countries, (Aruba comes to mind).

God forbid anything happen to you while visiting those types of places, (and your poor family trying get a decent investigation).

We may never know the whole truth.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by DrStanFan - 2006/09/15 13:12

I would agree that the family might want their own pathologist out of mistrust of the competence of the one there. I think it would be best if everyone held judgement until all the facts are in but I realize that is impossible for many. And no matter what the cause, nothing will bring him back.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2006/09/15 14:18

I would also be skeptical of any report performed in a small resort country. I would be scared to give birth there on purpose, but, I read that she has a home there and that's why she gave birth there.

KPW, did you watch her show? When she was on her show, her lawyer was a guy, I think named Howard Stern. NOT THE Howard Stern of radio fame but a different one. He was also one of her personal best friends. He was camped out with her much of the time and I always thought there was a little romance between them. He took care of more than her legal needs. She would cry and throw a fit and he would move heaven and earth to please her.

But, anyway, I think I heard on the news that her lawyer had been asked for a statement but had not returned their calls. I found this odd, since he always seemed eager to be on camera when on that show.

I heard on tv about a month ago that the baby's father was thought to be an entertainment photographer. He met Anna on the job photographing her. This was not confirmed. They showed the guy's picture and he looked like a handsome man in his 30's.

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/15 16:47

I knew she had an attorney named Howard Stern too. He's been mentioned in many of the news reports. But they've also mentioned an attorney there in the Bahamas. I heard she was given citizenship last week and maybe he just handled those type things. One article said it was Howard Stern in the room... Imagine 2 Howard Sterns... (actually probably many more!)

I only saw snatches of her show... and she was beyond fearless and shameless. I am sure alot of that will be scrutinized with regard to how her son was raised.. especially those episodes where he was included in filming. Maybe they'll find he had some form of anomaly in his brain or something (anuerysm???) and it was just a freakish death.

We shall see...

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/09/15 19:07

1putter wrote:

:unsure: I have a general mistrust of the corruptness of the system in those resort islands that operate pretty much like third world countries, (Aruba comes to mind).

God forbid anything happen to you while visiting those types of places, (and your poor family trying get a decent investigation).

We may never know the whole truth.

That's EXACTLY what I thought of, putter!! I would totally hire my own everything for an investigation. Very sad that that's the way it has to be.....but if you want a thorough and trustworthy job done, it seems to be the only way. There is so much hatred and a dismissive attitude toward Americans in many of those places.

RE: Natalie Holloway.....I heard that there is supposedly a big break coming in this case. And it's so sad for her family that the local agencies did such a poor job. I know, I know.....we have injustice here too.....trust me.....I'll get my soapbox out for ANY injustice no matter where!!!! (I gave y'all fair warning!!! ;)

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Nadia - 2006/09/28 09:50

I found an update article on Daniel Smith.

<http://www.cnn.com/2006/SHOWBIZ/TV/09/27/smith.son.ap/index.html>

Daniel Smith had Methadone, Zoloft and Lexapro in his system when he died.

(Zoloft and Lexapro are antidepressants used by people with anxiety and panic disorders. Methadone is a pain-reliever, used by people recovering from drug addictions such as heroin and morphine).

I also found out and was confirmed that the third person in the room was Anna Nicole's lawyer Howard K. Stern also known as the baby's father (as he claims to be). - They had kept this hidden pretty well. :huh:

Anna Nicole Smith gave birth to a healthy baby 6 pounds, 9 ounce girl named Dannie Lynn Hope.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/28 10:51

Yeah, I saw that Stern was claiming to be the baby's father... I thought that was wierd.. I knew he had been in the room from earlier reports and thought that a strange coincidence..

I think the baby wasn't named at the time of her son's death. His name was Daniel and the baby must have been named as a tribute to her son.

Seems strange to hide such a thing (paternity and relationship)unless he is married or something (and I have no idea)... I mean Anna Nicole seems to be pretty open about everything else! But maybe now that she is getting older and a new child in her life... that she is ready to settle down and stop the wild life..

Thanks for the link to the article.

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/28 10:51

double post????:blush:

Post edited by: KPW1956, at: 2006/09/28 10:52

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2006/09/28 12:12

Debby wrote:

KPW, did you watch her show? When she was on her show, her lawyer was a guy, I think named Howard Stern. NOt THE Howard Stern of radio fame but a different one. He was also one of her personal best friends. He was camped out with her much of the time and I always thought there was a little romance between them. He took care of more than her legal needs. She would cry and throw a fit and he would move heaven and earth to please her.

But, anyway, I think I heard on the news that her lawyer had been asked for a statement but had not returned their calls. I found this odd, since he always seemed eager to be on camera when on that show.

I can only speculate about Howard Stern's silence up until now. I don't why he keeps calling himself Anna Nicole's attorney. In my state and I believe many more, it is a serious ethical violation for an attorney to have sex with a client. It's okay if you are already in the relationship and then represent that person, but, not the other way around. You would need to cease being their lawyer in order to have sex with them. In my state a violation is taken very seriously and you could be disbarred for it. Maybe California is slack on those kind of things.

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Nadia - 2007/03/13 00:28

Found this article regarding Daniel Smith -Taken from HiiFii Celebrity Entertainment website for March 12th 2007

Now this story that's posted on this website came from The National Enquirer.. Not sure if any or at all is true. Here is what it says...This is shocking - Daniel Smith Drug level was 10x more!

Here is the sites address:

<http://www.hiifii.com/14679/daniel-smith%e2%80%99s-autopsy-was-faked-actual-results-point-to-murder-or-suicide.html>

Hope it works, if not heres that article.

An explosive new story in The National Enquirer claims that the toxicology reports from the Bahamian government in the death of Anna Nicole Smith's 20 year-old son, Daniel, showed ten times the amount of the heroin substitute methadone in his body than was actually claimed. They say that someone conspired to fake the results in both the reports the Bahamian coroner's office. They say that the conclusion by the independent medical examiner hired by Anna, which was presumably based on those falsified toxicology studies, is not accurate.

If this is true, it means that Daniel did not die of a lethal drug combination as was determined, and was either murdered or committed suicide with a massive dose of methadone. It is expected that this shocking news will lead investigators to ask for both Daniel and Anna's bodies to be exhumed for further testing:

There is shocking new evidence showing that the postmortem test findings are a fraud, insiders say, as the official Bahamian inquest begins into the mysterious death of the tragedy-plagued 20-year-old.

Doctors will testify at the Bahamas inquest that the troubled young man had so much methadone in his body - up to 10 times the previous reported levels - that his death couldn't have been an accident, the Enquirer has learned exclusively.

But a private toxicology study done by forensic pathologist Dr. Cyril Wecht, who was hired by Anna Nicole, indicates Daniel died of a combination of methadone, Lexapro and Zoloft. The methadone levels alone were not deadly.

Because of the wild difference in test results, Bahamian insiders now believe that the island government's autopsy results have been faked - an act of sabotage by unknown entities behind the backs of Nassau pathologists to obscure the facts and create confusion.

And as a result, both Daniel's body and his mother's will likely be exhumed for further testing, say sources.

"Doctors who've learned about Bahamian toxicology testing on Daniel believe his death couldn't possibly have been an accident - the only possibilities are suicide or murder," a source close to the investigation told The Enquirer.

If Daniel was murdered, it would certainly explain why Anna was overheard yelling "You did this!" to Howard K Stern in her maternity room at the hospital before staff was summoned to her nonresponsive son.

The pathologist that Anna hired to do an "independent" examination of her son's body is the same guy that claimed right after she died that he was sure her death wasn't drug related, even though he had personally not examined her or reviewed the results of post mortem tests. I would not be surprised if he was caught lying about his findings, but if the Bahamian coroner's office was involved heads are going to roll.

Anna was screwing the immigration minister who fast-tracked her application for residency, and there was a story that she also greased the wheels with bribes to the government. Someone was probably open to some quick cash in exchange for fudging the numbers on Daniel's lab reports.

The National Enquirer is like a gossiping alcoholic chain-smoking great aunt. It's easy to dismiss what she's saying because she talks constantly and seems pretty wasted, but you realize later that the old bird's ramblings were spot on. The Enquirer built their tenuous reputation with scoops in the O.J. Simpson case that were well ahead of the mainstream media. I don't doubt this latest story that Daniel's autopsy results were faked, because it seems probable and there are more sensational angles to exploit in the Anna Nicole case.

The Bahamian inquest into Daniel's death is set to start on March 27, and authorities are more than interested in the fact that both Daniel and his mother died under similar circumstances within a few months.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/03/13 09:05

I don't hold alot of faith in the National Enquirer.. But they could take some basic truths and put strange spins on it..

I think it's obvious that there was some cahooting going on... but I thought that the medical examiner in the Bahamas was catching heat in the Bahamas for wanting to explore his death more fully. (seems I recall it was a woman)... I also remember one of Anna's bahamian attorneys quitting out of disgust with the pseudo wedding mere days after Daniel died and before Daniel had even been buried.

I knew the inquest is coming up later this month.. I did a quick search to find the date and stumbled on this article.. I had heard about the allegation that Stern had flushed some pills down the toilet in the hospital.. and that supposedly will be testified to in the inquest. I speculate that maybe Stern did give Daniel the recreation drugs/methadone.. Maybe not knowing that Daniel was taking other meds..and subsequently they had an inadverse reaction together maybe that is why the initial autopsy results showed such huge drug numbers.. Maybe someone was attributing all that to methadone. Cyril Wecht might have had access to more sophisticated toxicology reports..

In my suspicious mind, and since I wouldn't trust Howard any further than I could throw him... I suspect that maybe he did have something to do with her death.. I think it will all come out. I do believe Ford Shelley when he said that she told him, if something ever happened to her, to secure her personal stuff. I'm glad they got to them before Howard did.. and it sounded like they turned them over pretty quickly to the Myrtle Beach police dept. If Anna was half in her right mind at the upcoming inquest, and heard evidence that might have indicated that Stern did have some involvement in Daniel's death..than I think all heck would have broken lose!

I hope now that Mo came forward his wife will tell her version as well... I wonder why Mo waited though!

Oh, I forgot to paste the link to a January TMZ piece. I didn't know about TMZ when I heard that allegation about Stern flushing the pills..

<http://www.t TMZ.com/2007/01/16/inquest-into-death-of-anna-nicoles-son/2>

Post edited by: KPW1956, at: 2007/03/13 09:09

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/13 11:25

I wonder if Howard Stern would pass a drug test. Did he ever take any of the medications that were prescribed for him?

Last week Nancy Grace had as a guest on her show, one of Anna Nicole's attorneys. He is supposed to be zealously representing his client, which is now her estate. He was soooo pathetic. He seemd more like Howard's attorney than Anna's. At every turn he was taking up for Howard and giving any excuse he could. It was terrible. Many things he just didn't know or claimed he didn't know. He didn't know what if any reason Howard would be prescribed pain pills. He said Howard played sports in college and perhaps he was injured then but, he didn't know for sure. After all the stuff that has transpired, wouldn't you think Anna's own attorney would look into things a little more.

An Executor can hire or fire any attorney they want to represent the estate. I think Howard found him a good one.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/03/13 11:45

I think I saw the show you did... and I think it was Ron Rale. He is/was a friend of Stern's.. AND believe it or not the coexecutor named in the will. So he does have some conflict of interest. I'd like to find out how they explain the date on the will that was faxed to Stern. It was dated 4 days before Anna died.. They are claiming that it was misstamped.. That could be proved or disproved easily enough.. I think anyway.. Many of the things that were being said during the show, he was just possibly playing dumb.. That he'd never heard of many of the allegations. He also said that the new evidence was just a sensationalism ploy..

That was a bizarre will...and according to the hearings right after Anna died. Noone knows where the original is.. If Stern drafted it or Rale drafted it... It was still strange.

I just saw an article or newspiece yesterday about law schools using the Anna Nicole saga in their examples. Probably what NOT to do!

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith\'s son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/13 15:22

It certainly has it all...Family law (custody, paternity, child support), wills and estates, civil procedure(jurisdiction and service of process), Professional Code of Conduct for Attorneys, Real Property Law, and criminal law(fraud, illegal drug prescriptions, and who knows what else?) oh yeah, Bankruptcy Law, which is what Anna Nicole went to the US Supreme Court regarding the Marshall money. With the Trim Spa deal I guess Entertainment Law figures in too.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/13 15:23

It certainly has it all...Family law (custody, paternity, child support), wills and estates, civil procedure(jurisdiction and service of process), Professional Code of Conduct for Attorneys, Real Property Law, and criminal law(fraud, illegal drug prescriptions, and who knows what else?) oh yeah, Bankruptcy Law, which is what Anna Nicole went to the US Supreme Court regarding the Marshall money. With the Trim Spa deal I guess Entertainment Law figures in too.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/13 15:23

It certainly has it all...Family law (custody, paternity, child support), wills and estates, civil procedure(jurisdiction and service of process), Professional Code of Conduct for Attorneys, Real Property Law, and criminal law(fraud, illegal drug prescriptions, and who knows what else?) oh yeah, Bankruptcy Law, which is what Anna Nicole went to the US Supreme Court regarding the Marshall money. With the Trim Spa deal I guess Entertainment Law figures in too.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/16 16:50

Did anyone see this man on Nancy Grace last night? I caught just a short portion. I think he was a private investigator, but, not really sure. He says that Daniel told him prior to his death that he thought he was being watched. Daniel said something was going on with his mother's attorney Stern and that he was afraid of Stern. It seemed as if he had hired this man or some man to find out what was going on.

I thought this was pretty odd. Is this guy another nut case or does he have any credibility?

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by ceilidh - 2007/03/16 16:59

I saw that too, Debby. It was reported that his business card was found in Daniel's pocket. However...I have seen this PI a few times now. and he does seem to be "embellishing" his story as time goes on. Either way, the investigation was never started.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/03/16 17:23

I found him credible on the initial program I saw him on.. I did hear him later on another program also add minor components. Basically why Daniel was concerned... He supposedly said he dreamed that his mom was in a coffin.. Considering how his mom was spiraling downward, that may very well have been true.. I think he was just trying to convey how worried Daniel was and what prompted him to seek him out. I think that was after Anna had moved to the Bahamas.. Daniel didn't move there with them ...

I had heard this rumor about a PI sometime back. Didn't give it much credibility until I saw the piece this week.

It's like a big circus! Sadly though..

In this ring...you got A, in this ring you got b.... there is more than a 3 ring circus with this saga though..! Makes ya dizzy!

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by ceilidh - 2007/03/16 17:39

KPW1956 wrote:

I found him credible on the initial program I saw him on.. I did hear him later on another program also add minor components. Basically why Daniel was concerned... He supposedly said he dreamed that his mom was in a coffin.. Considering how his mom was spiraling downward, that may very well have been true.. I think he was just trying to convey how worried Daniel was and what prompted him to seek him out. I think that was after Anna had moved to the Bahamas.. Daniel didn't move there with them ...

I had heard this rumor about a PI sometime back. Didn't give it much credibility until I saw the piece this week.

It's like a big circus! Sadly though..

In this ring...you got A, in this ring you got b.... there is more than a 3 ring circus with this saga though..! Makes ya dizzy!

K...you brought up something I hadn't thought of before! Daniel not having moved to the Bahamas...has anything been reported about what he was doing, where he was living in California, etc? Not that it's particularly odd for a 20 yr old not to be living with his mother!! Just curious...

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/03/16 18:45

She apparently still had a house in L.A... somewhere.. Probably where she lived before taking off to the Bahamas. I thought he was living in L.A. still.

I hadn't heard what he was doing. It would be interesting to find that out.. It would be indicative as to whether he was following in his mom's footsteps with abusing drugs. I heard he'd had a stomach ailment prior to his death.. and also dealing with some depression about a failed relationship and that was why he was on anti depressants.. Maybe he was under stress with everything.. including his mother's issues.. I know it would be very hard to watch a parent or child self destruct..

I think he had helped with that last movie in some capacity. I remember seeing pictures of him and Anna and also Stern on the set.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by ceilidh - 2007/03/16 21:15

Yes, it would be interesting to hear something! Had not heard about the failed relationship...had wondered why he was on anti-depressants. Thought he might have stayed behind for school or something. Maybe he just didn't want to leave friends he had there, that being about the age when most have already "flown the nest."
Hadn't heard about a movie either!

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/03/16 21:18

Oh it's a crazy alien type movie starring Anna Nicole. He might have had a role in it too... It's going to be released straight to dvd in May I think. A lot of tongue in cheek humor from what I saw...

I saw clips on a couple shows... and it is bad.. Maybe the passing of Anna created new interest in her last project.. and they decided to jump on the bandwagon to make a buck..

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by ceiliidh - 2007/03/16 21:24

Oh, I'm sure! That bandwagon is getting pretty full!:P

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/19 12:19

It it gets any more crazy, they may come up with the "Anna Nicole Smith" station. 24 hours or nothing but Anna Nicole news.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/19 12:20

I saw that a friend of Anna's is supposed to be on Tyra sometime this week. I don't watch Tyra so I don't know what time it comes on.

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/03/19 13:48

Thanks for the info... I'll check out tyra's shows website.

I don't see anything slated between now and Thursday and Friday's show info isn't mentioned.

I think she had a few people on last week or the week before and .. I think I heard Kim Walther (Kimmie) and Bobby Trendy on.

I'll try to keep an eye for updates.. Maybe they'll replay the same show.... The recap of that show is at the website...

here is a link.

http://tyrashow.warnerbros.com/show_recaps/show_recap_mon79.html

=====

Re:Anna Nicole Smith's son dead...

Posted by Debby - 2007/03/19 14:12

Maybe they are just now showing those shows in my area, KPW, because I think it was the Kim girl. I am sure I saw previews of it this weekend.

I saw a snippet of Bobby Trendy on her show and Nancy Grace. LOL.

He was putting down all the UNREAL and fake people in Anna's life as he sat there with what looked like a Cher/Diana Ross/Flamingo dancer outfit on, in full makeup. LOL. I guess you had to have been there. How much more fake can you get? Oh well, as bizarre as he is, I guess he never caused Anna any harm.

=====