
Jessie Davis Murder

It's really sad that they found the body of Jessie Davis in Ohio. It's been on the news non-stop since last night. Not only has her boyfriend been arrested for the murder but I guess there may be a female accomplice too. From the interviews they are doing on the news it's doesn't sound like it's Bobby Cutts wife though.

This story keep getting stranger and stranger.

I just saw this on the news. This is so sad. What I don't understand is how these men and many like them (Scott Peterson for one) can kill the woman they love and they are carrying their babies. Now her son will not have a mother and the father will be locked up if founded guilty. Luckily she has parents that seem to be loving and are willing to do just about anything for her son. God Rest Jessie and her baby.

I found it horrifying that something happened to the mother in the presence of her son... Since he was able to tell the authorities that Mommy was crying, mommy broke the table and mommy was in the rug.. If that boyfriend and the supposed father of that little boy and the baby she was carrying did that...then he really deserves the death penalty. I hope Ohio has the death penalty.

Isn't it especially disturbing that this guy was a police officer?

The murdering of the pregnant woman is terrible enough but what really stands out to me is that the toddler was left alone at home after they removed his mother. With a pool of bleach on the kitchen floor!

If his father is the killer.... It was all simply cold-hearted to do such a thing- I mean killing someone can be done out of anger, fear, etc etc... but to leave the child, fending for himself with known dangers already there..... speaks in volumes that he's more cold-hearted and apathetic.

Ohio still has the death penalty matter of fact it's the second to Texas.

I feel so bad for that kid. I also heard that the 2nd person arrested has an 11 year old daughter.

I'm just hearing this morning that there may be a second accomplice who is perhaps also a former classmate..

They are also mentioning that a family member of the alleged murderer may have helped authorities locate the body..

Heartless! Absolutely heartless this guy...

I didn't mean to imply earlier that I'm pro death penalty... but if ever there was a case...This may be it...if the facts as they are being suggested are true..

Apparently he has several children by different women. Maybe the stress of living such a complex life and obviously being pressured to shell out child support for all of them made him do what he did.. (if it is true)...

I know someone is innocent until proven guilty, but, did you see Cutts' former girlfriend on The Today this morning? She has a little girl with him and they have been fighting for custody for 2 years.

She said he stalked her, threatened her, and assaulted her to the point she had to get a restraining order and move out of state to escape him. She said he was a liar and most capable of harming a woman. She said she was involved with him for only 4 months before she broke it off and he would not let her walk away. Of course, it could be he wanted visitation and she was not open to that. That kind of thing sends some unstable people in to violent rages.

I wonder if Jesse knew this about Cutts when she became involved with him. Did he have a split personality? Has anyone seen a photo of his estranged wife? The girlfriend with the daughter looks like a model. How did he get such high caliber women?

Jesse's father was also on The Today Show. It was quite an odd interview. It's hard to describe. He and Jesse's mother were divorced and Jesse had not spoken to him in a year due to the divorce battle. He regretted that.

There are so many unanswered questions about this case.

I was watching the Mike and Juliette in the morning show..(I think on Fox at 9 a.m.) That is where I got the info about a possible second accomplice. They were also reporting info about Cutts who had advertised on some online dating service.. They were reporting excerpts of some of his answers (sounded like a romantic).. but also showed numerous pictures that were posted on the site to presumedly attract women.

I know they showed one shot where he was bare chested and with a towel wrapped around his waist, another in uniform, another with an elderly man that the show speculated might have been a grandfather and they mentioned that there was another picture of him with a child.. But maybe for obvious reasons didn't show that one..

I think he was putting himself out there to be a babe magnet..

I'm sure we'll be hearing more about this aspect of the case. It should serve as a warning to young vulnerable women everywhere!

During my life, I have been involved with 1 man that I consider dangerous in a violent way. I am a smart lady, but, I convinced myself that he would not really hurt me. He never struck me, but would just throw and broke things, shouted, threatened, etc. The kind of behavior you tolerate only once before you head for the door and never return. I didn't do the smart thing right away.

I was lucky that I didn't get hurt or killed by my ex-boyfriend. Ever since I left, I call him Psycho. I'm serious. If I had actually married him, he would have killed me, himself or both of us.

The funny thing is that he was a great person with no violence in him for the first year we were together. I was so happy to find such a wonderful and kind man. His family had been church friends with my family since we were children. I adored his parents. They were good to him growing up. He had loads of friends from college and his job whom thought he was a great person too. The only warning I got was from an ex-girlfriend he had before me. She tried to tell me he was violent and crazy and even put a gun to her head once. I thought she was the crazy one. Now I believe everything she told me.

I'm not sure how someone can seem so genuinely kind and yet be full of hate and evil inside. Whenever I hear people say that a person is too nice to have committed such an act, I cringe. I know that people can wear a mask and behave very differently behind closed doors.
