Are any of you paying attention to Hurricane Hurricane Dean? I guess it's a category 5 Hurricane now. I was looking to strike probability and there's a possibility it could hit part of Texas!

I have heard a little info on the news. I hope things are not too bad. I have dear friends in Houston.

Hurricane Fran hit mainland NC in Sept. 1996. It was only a category 3! It was devastating to our state. I felt like I was living in a war zone. Trees blocked almost every street in my neighborhood. Me and many others had no power for 10 days. Most days it was over 90 degrees. We were in a state of emergency for days. Thank God, somehow people came in with trucks of water and ice. People came from all across the country to help us.

I pray nothing like that happens to those people in that area.
